Modern Poetry

WEIRD WINDS BLOW

As farm hand lanterns swing an arc
Into the face of grotesque dark,
When winds in tailspins whistle by
As marsh pond ghosts begin to sigh,
Late lazy schoolboy's legs work fast
And faster, till the graveyard's past;
And although he is six feet tall,
He vaults the fences and stone wall
Like lightning, not afoot . . . mid-air
Till certain the graveyard isn't there!

And then he and his weary feet agree
To cease walking aeronautically!

George Town's Orchestra Excels All Others In Radio Broadcasting Time

Hilltop Resident Is Talk of The Town

Since 1941, George Town and his orchestra have been the talk of towns all over the country.

It is no coincidence that George Town has the same name as the University from which he graduated with a B.B.S. degree in law. During his college days at Georgetown, he was an up-and-coming band leader.

Upon graduation from Georgetown University in 1941, he was selected to play on the Fitch Band Wagon.

George Town's orchestra, which has more air time from coast to coast than any other orchestra today (15 hours a week), has kept his same style of music, since he began his professional work in 1941. He also has played two and a half years in promotion of Savings Bonds.

His orchestra consists of fourteen men and one male vocalist, who has been with him for two years, Sonny Hayes. Some of Sonny's most popular recordings are: "Cruel, Cruel World," "Blue Bird on Your Windowsill," and "Chattanooga Shoe Shine Boy."

George Town's real name is Sam Castagaline. When he is not traveling, he makes his home right here on the Hilltop with his wife and three children: Susie, 5; Carti, 3; and Sandy, 6 months.

Ernest Kidd New Sales Mgr. Of Homecraft Constr. Co.

Homecraft Construction Co., Inc., 464 N. Highland-av, announces the appointment of Ernest B. Kidd, formerly the outside sales representative of Montgomery Ward building division, as their sales manager.

Homecraft is engaged in home improvements, roofing, siding, garages, attics, etc., using Celotex and other quality products.

Kidd has lived on the Hilltop for several years and graduated from West High School in 1938. He entered the service in Mar 1942, becoming a B-17 pilot in May, 1943. Kidd flew his own bomber across the Atlantic on a soupy December night in 1943 to his base in England. While returning from his sixth bombing mission over Germany and only 30 minutes from the Belgian coast four Focke-Wulf fighters surprised and shot down the bomber. All ten men parachuted and were captured by the Germans. Two of the crew-men later lost their lives, probably attempting escape. Kidd suffered a broken hip and back. He spent over 14 months as a prisoner, three months of it in a German hospital in Brussels. He was in two forced evacuation marches and was finally liberated by General Patton's forces at Moosberg, Apr. 29, 1945.

Since leaving the service, Kidd has been engaged in hardware, lumber and building materials business. With this experience Homecraft feels he can give their customers individual service to meet their needs.

Mr. and Mrs. Kidd live at 1950 Hunt-av with their two children Lanny 6, and Nancy Ellen 3.

Final Figures Released On Child Survey

Final tabulation of the survey recently conducted by 54 mothers and one father in the Westgate area in their plea for a new Westgate school were made public late Wednesday by Mrs. Robert Smith, 3285 Parkside-dr

The survey, which lasted for a period of nearly one month, covered 1870 homes in the immediate Westgate area and revealed a total of 1711 children ranging in age from babies to youths of 18 years still in school.

Other survey figures released by Mrs. Smith revealed that of children up to and including five years of age, out of a total of 612, parents planned to send 439 to the public schools and 173 to parochial schools.

A breakdown of children by age groups shows that a huge influx is to be expected in a few years. There are, according to the survey, 85 children under one year old; 95 at age one; 144 aged two; 158 aged three; 123 aged four; 94 aged five and 120 at the age of six years

West High Alumni To Meet Tonight

The West High Alumni Association will meet tonight at 7:30 in room 101 at West High School. Extensive plans have been made in preparation for the alumni picnic which will be held at 1 p. m. Sunday, June 18 at Maple Shades.

This picnic is open to former graduates of West High School and their families.

Kiwanis Ball Game June 8 To Aid Underprivileged Children

Hilltop Kiwanians are going all out in their efforts to boost personal sales of tickets to the second annual Kiwanian baseball game at Redbird Stadium June 8. In the photo above Kiwanian Noble L. Allen buys a ticket from Jack Sensenbrenner to sponsor a West High Band member to the game. Anyone else wishing to sponsor a band member can still obtain tickets from any Kiwanian.

Hilltop Kiwanians are lining up solidly behind efforts now being made for the Kiwanis Ball Game to be played June 8 in Red Bird Stadium. All proceeds of the game will go toward the benefit of underprivileged children. 140 of whom will go to two sessions of two week camping periods at the Big Brother Camp in the Hocking Hills.

With more than 3000 tickets already sold in the city by Kiwanians the local group, in addition to their personal effort of selling tickets (which are still available from any Kiwanian) have gone a step further in planning a huge parade preceding the game, in which thousands of girls and boys from various youth organizations will march. Boy Scouts, Girl Scouts, Blue Birds, Cub Scouts and other organizations will march to the musical leadership of the West High School marching band.

The united efforts of all Kiwanis Clubs in Columbus are expected to fill the huge stadium with more than 14,000 fans. Phillip Stout of the local club, in charge of tickets for this area, says there are still many tickets available and is urging the entire Hilltop community to participate in this worthy project. M. E. Sensenbrenner of the local club is the program chairman for the affair.

The Kiwanis Camps will be from July 7 to 21 and from July 26 to Aug. 9. Estimated cost for each boy is $35. This year the United Kiwanis Clubs expect to send nearly 140 (70 to each camp). Situated southwest of Logan, in a 165-acre tract of woods and hills, the Big Brothers Camp presents a perfect setting for the camping experience of a city boy. It is manned by a complete staff of directors, counselors, cooks, nurse and lifeguard. Its facilities include a large swimming pool, recreation barn, a mess hall and 10 campers' cabins, eight of which are Kiwanis sponsored

A full program of sports, nature study, crafts classes, treasure hunts, swimming and worship services provides each camper ample opportunity for developing friendships, good health, sportsmanship and Christian character

Memorial Day Hears Sad Notes Again

Hilltopper Serves His Country Well -- "Sounding Taps"

By Myron T. Seifert

Fifty-five-year-old John J. Kelley of 926 S. Hague-av is a patriot of the old school and for the last 30 years he has been expressing his love for his country and the heroes who have died for it in a singular way.

Mr. Kelley is a bugler. And on Memorial Day—as he has thousands of times in the past—he sounded taps for those who have died in the service of their country.

His physician will allow him only one and one-half minutes to blow taps lest his eye condition for which he was hospitalized, be aggravated. "I still have to be careful of building up pressure behind my eyes," Kelley advised.

The last few years have been busy and sad ones for Mr. Kelley. Often at his own expense, he has stood at the graves of hundreds of young men who have made the supreme sacrifice.

His spine-tingling notes of taps, symbolic of a nation's final tribute to its departed hero, add dignity and beauty to the final rites; his contribution means much to the survivors and friends of the boy being laid to rest—a final leaf in their book of golden memories.

Formerly a member of Camp Chase Post 98 of the American Legion, he now is identified with the Navy Marine Post No. 276 at Memorial Hall, he serves when called upon; he also serves with the VFW, Disabled Veterans and the Spanish American War vets.

Coming to the local Veterans' Administration office from Washington four years ago, John chose the Hilltop as his home, and proceeded to carry on his bugling duties here.

Civilian organizations likewise call upon him to blow taps in memory of their dead. Patriotic, loyal Kelley has refused financial remuneration for his services, his philosophy follows the pattern which he has expressed in his own words, "I think the least we can do is to honor our dead in our own small way—whatever it is," and this is Kelley's contribution, blowing taps.

The 26 days' leave granted federal employes was usually occupied by Kelley in these services to his country.

His trumpet, which he acquired more than 30 years ago, cost only $15. He treats it "like a baby." It glitters like gold—and to him it is more valuable, from association, than any precious metal. His original trumpet is becoming thin from use, however he is now using a new one furnished by Postway Post No. 3441 VFW. Sounding taps thousands of times has caused Kelley to reflect. When his "time comes" it is his desire that he be buried in his military uniform, and that the bugle, which knew so much service, be deposited next to him in his casket.

During his military career, the trumpet was played by him before thousands of spectators. He and his trumpet were inseparable then, as now.

"In the first World War," Mr. Kelley recalls, "I was with the Fifth Marines of the Second Division. I was in every action participated in by the division. I was in the Marines before the war and played in the band. I played for Presidents Taft, Hoover and Coolidge.

"After the war, I organized and trained drum corps in Washington, D.C., and Alexandria, Va. There were 75 in this drum outfit and we won many prizes. The Costello Post in Washington was one of the best.

"Ever since I was a drummer in the Fifth Regiment band I have been perfecting my blowing of taps. All nations have a good-night call. Ours, of course, is "Taps," blown when all are asleep. The British have "Last Post" but "Taps" to me is the most beautiful of all. It is very hard to blow perfectly, especially in cold weather."

Mr. Kelley's son, John Calvin is a South Pacific veteran, having served in a submarine unit. He has a stepdaughter, Mrs. Ralph Gentile, and lives with Mrs. Kelley and his mother-in-law, now 85, at the Guernsey-av address.

So on this Memorial Day, and every day in the year, we are grateful to John J. Kelley for the part he plays in making the occasion beautiful and significant.

New Banking Service Will Open Today

Central Ohio will be officially introduced to auto banking on June 1, 2 and 3 by the City National Bank & Trust Co., at the formal opening of its new Olentangy office at 1245 Olentangy River-rd, between Third and Fifth-avs. Visiting hours will be from 9 a. m. to 9 p. m. on Thursday and Friday, June 1 and 2, and from 9 a. m. to 4 p. m. on Saturday, June 3.

The Olentangy office features "drive-in" tellers' windows where routine banking business can be transacted without the driver leaving his auto. Another unique feature is the 24-hour depository service located on the northeast corner of the main building next to the drive-in lane. Inside the main building all the regular banking services available in the City National downtown offices will also be provided.

The Olentangy office will be open for business on Monday, June 5. Banking hours will be the same as the two downtown offices, 9 a. m. until 2 p. m., Monday through Friday, and from 9 a. m. to 12 noon on Saturday.

New Arvin TV Model Announced

Introduction of a new Arvin table model television set with 12½-inch screen at a new low price is announced by the McCleery-Carpenter Electric Co., 301 N. Third-st, Arvin distributor in central Ohio.

According to Ira Monroe, vice-president of McCleery-Carpenter, this new Arvin set, designated as model 2122TM, features a no-glare black tube for greater contrast in blacks and whites on the picture screen. Total picture area is 92 square inches.

Other features of the new Arvin model are a phonojack for playing records through the loudspeaker of the set, a built-in antenna, an electromagnetic type circuit designed to minimize servicing, and straight AC operation that results in longer tube life.

Like all Arvin sets, model 2122TM is tuned easily and quickly from just two principal groups of controls conveniently located on the front of the cabinet. The cabinet is of selected hardwood in luxury mahogany finish with a beautiful satin-finish gold-color frame. A matching table is available at slight additional cost.

Arvin television and radio sets are products of Noblitt-Sparks Industries, Inc., Columbus, Ind., and are available on the Hilltop and West Side from these Arvin dealers: Wolfe Electric Service, 2427 W. Broad-st; Fast Electric Co., 1284 W. Broad-st, and Danziger's Department Store, 971-79 W. Broad-st.

IN MEMORIAM

In loving memory of our daughter-in-law, MRS. PAUL ODONNELL, who passed away May 30, 1945.
They say time heals all sorrow
And helps to forget
But time so far has only proved
How much we miss you yet.
God gave us strength to forget
And courage to bear the blow,
What it means to lose you
No one will ever know.
Sadly missed by Mrs. Thomas O'Donnell and family

Hilliards Boy Joins Navy

Clarence William Miller, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. Henry Miller of 4900 Reed-rd, Columbus, was sworn into the US Navy May 28, 1950 at the Old Post Office, downtown Columbus. Bill will be sent to the Naval Training Center, Great Lakes, Ill., for his recruit training.

Bill attended Hilliards high school where he was active with the track and football teams. During the summer months Bill was employed on his father's farm.

Bill enlisted in the Regular Navy to learn a trade and says he intends to make a career of the navy if he likes navy life as well he thinks he will.

JOE BRIGGS Says:

Some men wish they were as wise as they think their wives think they are!

Are you penny wise and protection foolish? Take an inventory of every piece of furniture and home equipment you own and make an estimate at today's prices of how much money it would take to replace them. You'll be amazed, for replacement costs today are up 50% or more from pre-war prices. Check these figures against your fire and windstorm insurance. 'Nuff said! Builder of Churches and Character To Be West Baccalaureate Speaker

By Myron T. Seifert

When 233 West High graduating seniors hear this baccalaureate sermon at 3:30 Sunday, June 4, they will give their undivided attention to a Hilltop miniater who has helped build churches and character — particularly of young people in this community.

Rev. James F. Lorenz

Practicing what he preaches, Rev. James F. Lorenz, pastor of the Community Christian Church, Powell-av, has actually helped to plan and build two church edifices in this community. He personally supervised and exerted great physical and mental effort in building these structures, both still in the process of being completed.

Undaunted by obstacles that would have discouraged a lesser man, Rev. Lorenz launched his church building programs at different periods in this community. Concurrent with his church-building ability is his Christian training program, at which he is a past-master.

A graduate of McKinley High School, Canton, O., his collegiate work includes the following laurels:

A. B. degree from Ohio State University; B. D. degree, Gordon College of Theology, Boston, Mass.; post graduate work in theology, Hamma Divinity School, Springfield, O; post graduate work in psychology, Ohio State University.

He was ordained by the Christian Church in 1930 at Newton, N. H.; and by the Methodist Church in 1939, Columbus, O.

He returned from New England in 1936 and came to the Riverside Church, Columbus, in 1938 and rebuilt the church. He also built the present Westgate Methodist Church and is now building the Community Christian Church on Powell-av.

He is married to the former Ruth M. Blenkner, a graduate of North High School and Ohio State University. She was a high school Latin teacher before marriage.

His four children are Katherine Jane, West High graduate and now at Ohio State; Jim, West High; Ruth, West Junior High; and Joan, West Broad Street School student.

Ex-Football Star Dies In Arkansas

Robert A. (Bob) Kern, 66, former Texas A & M College and East High School football star, died last Wednesday in Little Rock, Ark. He was president of the Kern-Limerick contracting firm there.

The brother of Blanche Kern, 1176 Westwood-av, vice-principal at West High School, he was captain of East High's football team during his senior year in 1903. Shortly afterward he enrolled at the Texas college and starred on its football teams in 1909-10-11.

Although weighing only 155 pounds, Kern was an excellent ball carrier and was noted especially for his play selection as the Aggies' quarterback.

He had lived in Little Rock more than 25 years and was a member of Christ Episcopal Church, the Masons, and various civic and engineers' clubs there.

Also surviving are his wife, Mrs. Cleo Kern; three daughters, Mrs. H. D. Cox and Betty Kern of Little Rock and Mrs. Stanley Price of Rome, Italy; another sister, Mrs. Frank Griesinger of Hudson, O., and four grandchildren.

Funeral services and burial were in Little Rock.

On May 17, from 3:30 to 4 p. m. the 9A home economics class entertained at a tea in the dining room of the cooking room. Each member of the 9A class invited a guest, either a 9A girl graduate or a teacher.

Presiding at the tea table were Rose Reed, Kathleen Murrey, Carol Maxson and Audrey Large. The hostesses were Jean Moccabee and Leona Humble. The delicious refreshments were prepard by the 9A cooking class. Featured were attractive sandwiches rolled in the shape of tiny diplomas and tied with Starling's colors, blue and white ribbon.

HOME ECONOMICS CLASS
By Bonnie Allis

On May 19, from 11:30 until 1:30 a. m. the second group of the 9A home economics class entertained at a tea in the dining room. Each member of the 9A class invited a guest, either a 9A girl graduate or a teacher. Presiding at the tea table were Evelyn Foster, Shirley Fitch, Shirley Hummel and Janet Kidwell. TEAM WINS TWO
By Mary Blake

Starling Junior High's baseball team last week won over Champion, 10 to 4, and bowled over Barrett, last year's Junior High champions, by a score of 4 to 0.

PUPILS' INTERESTS

In an effort to assist boys and girls at Starling, the pupils were asked to answer an anonymous questionnaire that would show their interests and worries. In all grades pupils showed a real interest in school work, a desire to pass all subjects, a desire for perfect attendance, a wish to be on the honor roll, a worry about grades, a hating to fail subjects, and a desire to go through high school. A large number said math was their hardest subject. A large majority said they had a wonderful time at home and admired their parents most of all people.

Seventh graders were worried about headaches, eighth graders began to be interested in hobbies, and ninth graders were becoming concerned with the kind of persons they would be and began to have a desire to please other people.

Unique Club Observes Fifth Anniversary

We've all heard of card clubs, church clubs, tea clubs and about every kind of club imaginable, but here's one of an unusual kind and origin. Five years ago it was known as the First Graders club, today it's known as the Fifth Graders Club and next September it will be known as the Sixth Graders Club.

But let's start at the beginning which was five years ago last September. Seven young mothers accompanied their children to the St. Aloysius school for the first time. All were perfect strangers. However, it wasn't long before they were asking each other about her child and before they left the school one mother suggested they get together for a luncheon some day. They did and since that time have met once each month. Sometimes the meetings have been in the form of a birthday party and anniversary, a stork shower or just a plain get together. The seven mothers, Mrs. Thomas O'Brien, Mrs. Louis Nobile, Mrs. Carl Capretta, Mrs. Joseph Borawitz, Mrs. Harry Krick, Mrs. Elbridge Ferguson and Mrs. Edwin Flanagan agree that their club has been successful although none had any idea at the beginning that it would continue through the years.

The main subject of conversation is, of course, "Our Children." Mrs. Nobile has a double subject, however, her twins Paul and Louis. The other six children are Patty O'Brien, Carl Capretta, Rosalind Borawitz, Ronald Krick, Paul Ferguson and Richard Flanagan.

Two Hilltoppers Take High Honors With OSU Awards

Some 1,800 student leaders in scholarship and campus honorary groups at the Ohio State University were recognized Thursday evening, May 25, at the annual Honors Day Convocation in the University Hall Chapel. Attorney Charles P. Taft of Cincinnati, noted church and civic leader, delivered the principal address.

Included among the students present were 45 individual award and prize winners, whose names were announced by Dean of Women Christine Y. Conaway. Presiding at the event was Dean of Men Joseph A. Park. The individual award and prize winners from the Hilltop and groups sponsoring the awards were:

Injuries To Baby Basis For Lawsuit

Injuries caused an unborn child which resulted in the child's death shortly after birth, can be the basis for a damage suit, the Ohio Supreme Court has ruled.

The decision was made in an appeal from the Franklin County Common Pleas Court in a suit by Alan Jansinsky, 1272 Highland-av, against Herschel Potts, 3167 Indianola-av.

Mrs. Mary Louise Jansinsky, mother of the baby, was hurt Aug. 23, 1945, when the auto in which she was riding was in collision on Summit-st with one driven by Potts. It was charged that the mother's injuries caused premature birth of the baby and such direct injuries to the infant that it died three months after birth.

The annual meeting of the church will be held on June 7 to make definite plans to finish the new church. There will be a pot-luck dinner at 6:30 p. m. with annual meeting to follow. Rev James F. Lorenz is the pastor and this is his third building program within the past ten years.

The Low Down On High Ridgers

By One of Them

"Baa-baa" bleat the little white lambs at MRS. ALWOOD'S house; well, not in the house, but in the garage. They even have leashes for them. The Missus had a scare when a policeman happened to be around and asked her if she had a permit. He was just kidding, of course.

THELMA CAMPBELL had her mother here over the week-end. Grandma enjoys watching their nifty television set.

MRS OYER! tch-tch. We saw you trying out PATSY'S skates. A little more practice and you can join in the Roller Derby.

LEE MASTBAUM had a wonderful time on her trip to and from Missouri where she spent ten days with her father and relatives. She's the most "travelest" person. (Have to look up Webster for that word.

We must put up a WELCOME SIGN on our street for VIRGIL and EDNA HUNTSBERGER who moved into HERBERT'S house.

BILL SANDS' Pontiac is a nifty transportation. Wish I had one. Me with my new wheelbarrow I just bought—it can't compart with a four-wheel carriage.

"Been working like slaves" say MR. and MRS. BILL HARPER who moved into SINACOLA'S house last Saturday. Since both are working during the day — they are busy nights in still straightening up.

HUGHES is a good man to have around the home on his vacation. He helped with the cleaning, then took his family on a little trip.

Who's pulling tricks on whom? ELLA MARIE ALLEN was frightened by a strawberry stem. You know — one of those hulls. Well, Larry, her husband threw one on her dress, and she shrieked, thinking it was a spider. But she got back at him, and later put coffee grounds in his tobacco can.

Guess who got the last egg in SCHMITT'S refrigerator? BILL expected to, but the odds were against him when he dropped it on the floor, and Blackie licked it up.

A Grain of Sand

Is anything less important?

A speck lost in the lonesome thunder of the surf . . . a billionth part of a desert dune . . . an irritant to the oyster . . . a trifle in the path of the snail.

Such is a grain of sand.

Yet this same grain becomes strikingly significant and important when combined with other grains and made to stick to them. A skyscraper rises; highways and bridges link a state and a nation; a tunnel bores its useful way under a river bed; and products of glass make our everyday living immeasurably easier—all because sand sticks together.

Almost all of us want a better world for ourselves and our children — a world of freedom, peace, and opportunity to live full and useful lives. But there are forces working against this realization. Ruthless men and ruthless nations have stated that freedom and opportunity are privileges of the state to dispense or withhold, not a right of the individual to obtain for himself.

Any one person of the two and a quarter billion people on earth may be likened to a grain of sand in so far as his individual efforts to build a better world are concerned. It is when men join together that their combined efforts count for something.

Join a church and become an active part of a mighty force for good! Your Church will always be against any dictator or clique that denies men the right to a just, peaceful life. Your church needs men and women who will worship together and work together, under a guidance greater than mortal man's, to achieve true freedom.

Men have wrought miracles of sand
Your church achieves miracles—with men.

And we know that all things work together for good to them that love God, to them who are called according to his purpose.

'Think This Over'

By William "Doc" Campbell

OUR NATIONAL EMBLEM . . . Where Is It?

Symbols are the key to the revered idea. Many peoples have used them in the past. Our American Indian for instance. Then the Nazis, with the borrowed (from Mexico) swastika. And HOW they used it to arouse high pitch enthusiasm in the masses—for their military cause. You see, a symbol opens the door to the ideal it represents, and the more thrilling, the more intense is that devotion to that ideal.

The greatest symbol in all Christendom is the cross. Catholic and Protestant revere its dignity and effect. "The Rosary", by Nevin (sung by all creeds) is intense in its impelling ascension, as the song intones "A cross is at the end" . . . THE SPIRIT OF CHRIST.

Our vast cathedrals abroad and here are designed on the "cross plan." The altar is situated at the focal point, where the word of God is delivered. Symbols are wonderfully beautiful too . . . the Episcopal cross is not too severe in design—a circle ties the cross in lovely rhythm—but to me the plain cross is the highest indication of the imaginative spirit and from the cross I go in deep reverence to "the Fatherhood of God and the Brotherhood of man." Let us depart from religion to a practical application of this symbolic pattern. All nations have flags—battle flags in olden times. If you ever visit our West Point Chapel on the Hudson the highest building on that military campus, you will see hanging out on poles, from the side walls of that beautiful church edifice, flags of "memory interest" to all America.

But, to go on to my point—Our American flag, so beautiful in the breeze, is neglected fearfully! I look in vain to see it—and where is it? Only on public school staffs and commercial filling stations. How tragic to leave it to commerce to glorify our flag. How lacking in true reverence. I perceive many flag poles all over the city, but NO FLAGS, except on gala occasions, and Memorial Day.

My old "Civil War" Dad was so patriotic (He was captured by the rebels in 1863 and languished in famous Libby and Andersonville prisons.) that he kept his flag on a pole out from our Brooklyn home, ALL through the Spanish War. He would not take his pension—said his country needed it more—until at 70 we had to have it to assist in his care. He volunteered in the "Army of the Potomac" for his country's sake.

Yes, our beloved National Emblem is rarely seen by the people. Let's wake up this lack of symbolism and fly the Star Spangled Banner in all its brilliant beauty—fly it in peace, not alone in war. I feel very strongly on this point. The flag should be seen in the sunlight and blow its thrilling stripes in the breeze, from sun-up to sun-down, on poles outside our homes. Come on, people, let "Old Glory" symbolize our great country and its freedom. Let it awaken reverence and respect in young and old, for "your land and my land."

THINK THIS OVER.

What Is Just Cause?

This past week we received notice from the Bureau of Unemployment Compensation that a former employee had been granted a claim of maximum of $650 in unemployment benefits.

We protested payment of this benefit from our insurance fund because we had not reduced our employment and because this individual was discharged because he was not doing a satisfactory job.

In turn the UCCO comes back and says the claim will be allowed because "this claimant was discharged without just cause in connection with his work."

I ask, just how can someone sit in an office on Cleveland Avenue and make a decision without at least investigating the situation?

Such instances as this are common practice with the UCCO and I feel it is entirely outside the spirit of the UCCO law which was meant to provide a fund to take care of unemployment due to economic conditions.

This man left our employ one day and made his application the next for compensation and the UCCO allowed it from that day. He has apparently made no effort to secure employment and the state is encouraging his idleness.

The $650 maximum benefits this man may receive will come from our firm's reserve insurance fund and will mean we will pay a higher rate to this fund hereafter. If this job had been eliminated or if this man had been laid off, then according to the spirit of the law, he should be entitled to compensation. But allowance of this claim in the face of increased employment by our firm is a direct penalty to us.

I ask, if a man doesn't produce are you supposed to keep him on the payroll forever? This may be the way of the state and federal government but certainly isn't true where business is not subsidized by taxes.

Youthful Shut-In Needs Wheel Chair

Is there available anywhere on the Hilltop a wheel chair for a little girl nine years old who has been bedfast since last November.

If there is little Susan Wade and her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Curtis Wade of 185 N. Ogden-av, would be grateful for the use of a child's wheel chair for a short period of time.

Susan a third grade pupil at W. Broad Street School, was stricken last November by a brain tumor which resulted in two operations upon her brain and a four month-stay in the hospital before she could be returned to her home.

Now at her home, she is making slow recovery but still is quite helpless and must on advice of doctors remain as rested as possible.

But, it's now summer time, and she'd like to be able to get out into the sunshine and yard with her mother and daddy. The child size wheel chair is necessary for this little shut-in to enjoy that pleasure.

Susan's mother said they they have a large adult size wheel chair that has been loaned to them but that it is too unwieldy and not comfortable for the little tot.

If there is a child's size wheel chair available anywhere that is not in use, a call to the Hilltop Record at Ra. 1125 will bring sunshine to a little girl who is just now slowly regaining use of speech and limbs.

Hilltop Playgrounds To Open Monday

Hilltop youngsters just beginning their vacations this week-end will be headed for the different playgrounds of the community on Monday, June 12, which has been designated as the opening day for the playgrounds. The Hilltop Community Council in cooperation with the City Recreation Department has for this opening day planned a series of programs for the children heralding the opening of the parks and playgrounds. Programs scheduled are to start at 1:30 p. m. Monday.

The building fund on the other hand is gradually assuming the proportions that were originally estimated by showing a total of $1173 thus far subscribed.

Cleanup work is still being done in many sections of the Hilltop where residents were not at home during the initiation of the 1950 membership drive on Sunday, May 28. Many of those not originally contacted are now being solicited by volunteer workers, in an effort to achieve the $2600 membership goal.

Hilltop Bean Dinner Plans Gain Impetus

"This year's presentation of the Hilltop Bean Dinner by the Hilltop Business Association is to be the biggest and best ever," was the statement of Russell Carter, chairman of the Bean Dinner Committee, early this week following a special meeting of the committee and the Business Association board.

At the special meeting called to iron out the plans for the seventh annual Hilltop affair final approval of the dates of July 19 and 20 was given and progress reports from various operating committees heard.

It was decided in the meeting that more than $1000 in merchandise prizes in addition to numerous other individual prizes by various merchants would be awarded at the two-day festival in Westgate Park this year. Tickets for the merchandise prizes will be made available in many places of business beginning this week.

Already the grounds at the park have been laid out in such a manner that the huge crowds expected will be able to move about freely and see all the various displays without the least bit of congestion. More than 800 feet of display space is being set up to provide a midway that has been the largest in years.

In an effort to eliminate the long lines at the various spots where the beans are dispensed, plans call for several spots along the midway. In past years there have been but two such spots at the affair and the present set-up of four or more places will aid greatly in cutting down the long waiting lines.

Heralding the opening of the annual affair is to be a gigantic parade, details of which are now being formulated. This opening feature of the bean dinner will include groups from various civic associations, Boy Scouts, Girl Scouts, floats, riding horses and bands. Complete details on the parade and its line of march are expected to be released within the next two weeks.

Display space by the various merchants is now being sold by the committee in charge of Bill Coon. Merchants and business firms desiring to display their wares are urged to make early reservations in order that further plans for amusements and other concessions be planned.

Carter stressed the fact that this annual affair sponsored by the business association was the one method by which the Hilltop merchants were able to show their appreciation for the past patronage of Hilltoppers and urged that anyone with suggestions on further improvement of the annual affair contact him at once so that complete study and consideration be given all suggestions.

Handicaps Are No Bar To West High Graduate

By Myrna T. Seifert

A graduate of the West High 1950 class, Roland Sunker, Townsend-av, crippled since birth, received his high school diploma, along with 232 fellow students, Tuesday, June 6.

His handicap would have dwarfed the average student in his ambition, but resourceful Roland achieved many citations during his high school years.

He attended the Open Air School for Crippled Children through the first eight grades, and in September, 1946, matriculated at West Senior High School.

Top spot as editor of the school's official yearbook (distributed this week) was accorded Sunker.

Photography, a hobby which he began seven years ago, borders on the professional. When he began this work he was acclaimed one of the youngest photographers in Columbus.

As a shutter-bug enthusiast his productions have merited many top ratings in numerous exhibits. Last year, at the state fair, he won premier awards for his pictures.

His repertoire of subjects includes auto accidents, weddings, banquets, funerals, etc. He has also provided art work for local newspapers.

A "natural" in showmanship, much of his public entertainment activities stem from his rope-twirling maneuvers learned on Magly Field at football games.

Television and radio shows have taken much of his time recently. About every week he has had a show to produce on Teen Canteen, with talented teen agers from central Ohio, for WLW-C; he has been on "John Doe Jr.", WBNS, and on Hi-Jinx Show almost every week from Lazarus on WCOL; he has also been guest on other shows on TV and radio.

"Right now I am looking for a sponsor for a half hour talent show or an unusual 15-minute show about photography on TV," the youthful Sunker says.

Three Hilltoppers Are Honored By Farm Bureau

Three Hilltop residents were honored Tuesday evening (June 6) at the annual service award banquet of the Farm Bureau Insurance Companies.

A. G. Hermann, 1915 Fairmont-av received a watch in recognition of his 25 years of service with the firms. He was the only 25-year award winner in this year's group of honored employees.

Awarded a pin for his 20 years with the companies was O. L. Weir, 804 S. Eureka-av, manager of the New England Division. His family includes his wife, a son and daughter.

Another 20-year award winner was Mrs. Helen Galle, 223 Columbia-av, who attributed her years of service to the fact that "I always got along with everybody." Mrs. Galle, works in the legal section of the claims department.

Principal speaker at the banquet was Murray D. Lincoln, president of the firms, and Herbert E. Evans, vice president-personnel, acted as toastmaster. Harold Beckett, a West High graduate, sang for the group.

Early June Notes:

Comes word that Gordon Hayslip is graduating from the Bowman Gray School of Medicine of Wake Forest College, N. C. . . . A kiddie kar belonging to some youngster was left in front of the Wolfe Electric, Eureka at Broad, last week and is still awaiting the owner . . . It is now Kent's Super Market. Charley advises us, and he is planning some big things for the near future for the store . . . In my recent comments on a chicken in every Hilltop pot I am reminded that the Souths worth boys, Bill and Marvin, are still in there supplying good-quality meat, and, to you top folks . . . Ray Maxwell, 63, is in University Hospital for observation . . . Moss Williams should know by now that even those new Studebakers won't run without gas . . . That blue in the bottom of the Hilltop Swimming Pool is about the bluest blue we've seen . . . last week marked 25th anniversary of the Dell Restaurant, owned by Mr. and Mrs. Carl Tracht . . . Al Theado will take up duties in advertising department of the Hilltop Record comes June 12 . . . A. A. Furnace and Appliances are new members of the Columbus Chamber of Commerce . . . Columbus is now the 29th largest city in the United States . . . It cost Jean Worrell 90c to take his grandson to the circus last week but it cost $5.20 to get him out.

Speaking Of Isms

IDEALISM: If you have two cows, you milk them both, use all the milk you need and have enough left for everyone else.

SOCIALISM: If you have two cows, you keep one and give the other to your neighbor.

COMMUNISM: If you have two cows you give both to the government; then the government gives you back some milk.

IMPERIALISM: If you have two cows, you steal somebody's bull.

SOFT-PINK COMMUNISM: If you have two cows, you are a capitalist.

CAPITALISM: If you have two cows, you sell one cow and buy a bull.

NEW DEALISM: If you have two cows, the government shoots one cow; you milk the other cow, then throw part of the milk down the sink.

ANARCHISM: If you have two cows, your neighbor shoots one and takes the other.

NAZISM: If you have two cows, the government shoots you and takes both cows.

REALISM: If you have two cows, they are both dry.—Princeton Alumni Weekly.

Hilltop YMCA

clude this area in the original canvas.

Hilltop YMCA officials urged that many who had been contacted have not as yet made their subscriptions by mail as indicated and asked that these memberships be sent in as soon as possible in order that the original goal be reached. It was also pointed out that anyone not yet contacted could also send in their membership subscriptions to the local YMCA office or to the Hilltop Record directed to attention of the YMCA.

After a long course of treatments had failed, the masseuse sighed to her plump patient: "We can't fight fate. After all, there is a destiny which shapes our ends."

'Think This Over'

By William "Doc" Campbell

Great People I Have Met and Seen

I wonder if you really have met or seen truly great people. If you have, it must have been an uplifting experience in your life . . . that is . . . if you are not too self centered. A great poet, musician, business man, minister, doctor, etc., surely offers much to live up to. You may have to go placed to "see them" or, it may be on an accidental basis that they cross your "VOYAGE OF LIFE."

So here again, I submit four more great people and how I had the thrill (and to me, it was a thrill) of seeing them!

WILLIAM McKINLEY—When about 15 years of age, in Troy, N. Y., I saw a man destined to be a "Great"! . . . William McKinley. My uncle had a jewelry store in the, then "Troy House" and I had a vantage point to see and "snap" a picture of him. All I recall was, that I did get a quick snapshot of the, then, Governor of Ohio, on a political campaign. I never saw McKinley again, but was in Wilkesbarre, Pa., when he was assassinated in Buffalo . . . and the crowds around a huge bulletin screen . . . were very hushed and reverent.

ELSIE JANIS—A woman who was a GENIUS IN FELLOWSHIP. Her home "El-Jan," a smallish cottage type, as I think, North High and 16th-av, was enclosed with a wire fence, with name on the gate . . . very unpretentious!

One night (we lived on 14th-av almost on High-st) I heard a terrific crash of trolley cars on High-st and I immediately rushed and phoned some hospital for ambulance service. O, the awful mess . . . It was the day of trolley cars speeding back and forth from Olentangy Park . . . Well . . . one car stopped to let a woman off at 14th-av, and the other rammed it . . . and severed her legs at the knees . . . I rushed up and found a crowd . . . then up comes ELSIE JANIS . . . and with her usual aplomb she helped direct this awful situation . . . however, I believe the woman did survive and uses artificial legs . . . Elsie Janis, how she uplifted the hearts of the boys of World War One, with her engaging personality, fun and hilarity. I think she now resides near New York City.

FRITZE REINER—Today, one of the Metropolitan Opera conductors of German opera. I saw him in Memorial Hall as conductor of the Cincinnati Orchestra about 1915. So tremendous in his hold on his men . . . dynamic in his interpretation of his programs. A fierce looking countenance at times, but always so intense in conducting. You felt that he was a "great" musician and positively knew his stuff. Today, he is at the pinnacle of his career.

PERCY GRAINGER — Famous Australian composer and conductor. His famous "Shepherds Hey" and "Country Dance" are entrancing. I watched him conduct an orchestra rehearsal (probably the Chicago Symphony) in Evanston, Ill., years ago . . . great mop of golden hair . . . shirt sleeves . . . and extremely amiable and affable with his men. To me, Percy Grainger (still living) is one of the most colorful composers of inspiring melodies. They have a lilt and swing that will always find a place on good programs.

Well . . . to see these "big shots" in LIFE is a wonderful event. We, ordinary mortals are on earth aplenty . . . and as LINCOLN said so succinctly, "God must have loved the common people, for he made so many of them" . . . but I must emphasize the fact, that to be in contact with "IMMORTALS" . . . in person (at least to see them) is something that molds your life from coarser clay to a finer porcelain, and brings to you a priceless heritage!

Yes, a proper dose of SELECTED EDUCATION is not to be overlooked in this marvelous melee and stupendous opportunity of 1950. Do you agree?

THINK THIS OVER.

CLASS STUDIES TRAVEL
By Connie Sonner

The 9A's in Miss Ethel Cherrington's General Business class in the ninth period have been planning imaginary trips. Each pupil chooses a different state or city in the United States in which he or she is interested. He finds information from magazines, encyclopedias, and pamphlets, and then plans the trip as if really going. Each pupil then reports to the class. Some of the imaginary trips have been to Florida, California, New York, Los Angeles, Mexico, Washington, D. C., Texas, and Atlantic City. The trips were planned by bus, auto, railway and airplane.

Two More Win Selection To The Buckeye Boys State

Dick Wray and Roy Martin

There are two more West High School boys who are mighty happy today. They have just received notification that they, too, have been selected to attend the Buckeye Boys State, sponsored by the American Legion at Camp Perry, O., June 10, to 19 inclusive.

Dick Wray, 16, 238 N. Warren-av, and Roy Martin 16, 337 S. Burgess-av, were the fortunate youths who were informed by Chet Wagner, chairman of the Boys State Committee of Camp Chase Post 98 of the American Legion that they too had been selected to attend the confab.

The selection of the two additional West High Youths was made by the Camp Chase Post with the cooperation of the Broad-High Post of the Legion. Two vacancies existed in the latter post's quota and they in turn requested the Hilltop unit to make a selection of two youths for them.

The naming of the additional two boys by the local post brings the total of youths sponsored locally to seven. Six of the total are representatives from West High School with the seventh from Holy Family High School.

Others from West who had been previously selected to attend the mythical 49th state are; Chuck Leibensperger, 309 S. Burgess-av, Howard Merriman, 44 S. Sylvan-av, Ted Biddison, 188 S. Westgate-av, and Dick Briggs, 34 Algonquin-av. The representative from Holy Family High School is George Bubalo, 207 Norwich-av.

Buckeye Boys State is created by 1,044 boys from all portions of the state of Ohio. They will elect their own governor and a boy for every elective office of the state, county and city. The objective of Boys State is to teach objectively more about the form of government under which we live and to give these youth an insight into the present-day political operations.

Pop Bottle Downs West Side Grocer In Robbery Try

Edward G. Murphy, 26, grocery clerk of 34 N. Guilford-av, is a bit wary of pop bottles today, especially the thrown variety.

Murphy was released from Mt. Carmel Hospital last Thursday after being treated for head bruises as a result of being struck on the head with a pop bottle hurled at him by a would-be bandit during a robbery attempt Thursday afternoon at Murphy's Grocery Store, 159 N. Guilford-av.

According to police reports two men entered the store shortly after 1 p. m. Thursday and ordered bottles of pop. After drinking the pop they threatened Murphy saying, "This is a stick-up."

When Murphy reached for a nearby revolver to halt the pair they threw the bottles at him. One bottle he ducked but the other scored a direct hit and the hold-up men fled without any loot.

Hilltop Woman Sacrifices Musical Career; Becomes 'Mommie' To Retarded Children

Compassion for the unfortunate and in some cases unwanted children with retarded mental and physical conditions changed a career for Mrs. Helen A. Copeland of 4914 W. Broad-st.

Today her profession is but a remote resemblance to her training in earlier years when she studied to become a concert pianist and then after an extensive college training for such a career, cast aside her aspirations to become a "mother" to children who were unwanted in their own homes because of some disfigurement or mental condition.

Mrs. Copeland's first contact and first intimation that she might change her chosen avocation came about while she was associated with the Virginia School for Deaf and Blind as a teacher of music. It was here, according to Mrs. Copeland, that she became keenly cognizant of the need of understanding for those less fortunate than herself. The blind, she says are sorry for the deaf and the deaf also sorry for the blind, while she herself was sorry for both.

At this juncture, Mrs. Copeland observed, "You have often heard the expression 'deaf and dumb or mute.' That is something that is not true. The deaf are not all necessarily mutes. As a general rule their affliction is generally the cause of their being unable to speak. How could they, when they have not the power of hearing the spoken word to know what it even sounds like."

A Brown Training School in Texas was the next stop for Mrs. Copeland where she again came in contact with the mentally retarded youngsters as a music teacher. By this time she had definitely given up hope to become a concert pianist and instead devoted the majority of her time to the study of these children who had been sent by parents to the school in order that they be kept away from the family and that it not be known publicly that they even existed.

'A decision was made. Study of psychology as graduate work and working with these various types of youngsters to try and pin down the causes of their illness. Working with them daily to train them gradually to a more normal existence and to teach them how to perform simple tasks with their hands that would also act as a medium to train their minds. That was the goal set for herself by Mrs. Copeland.

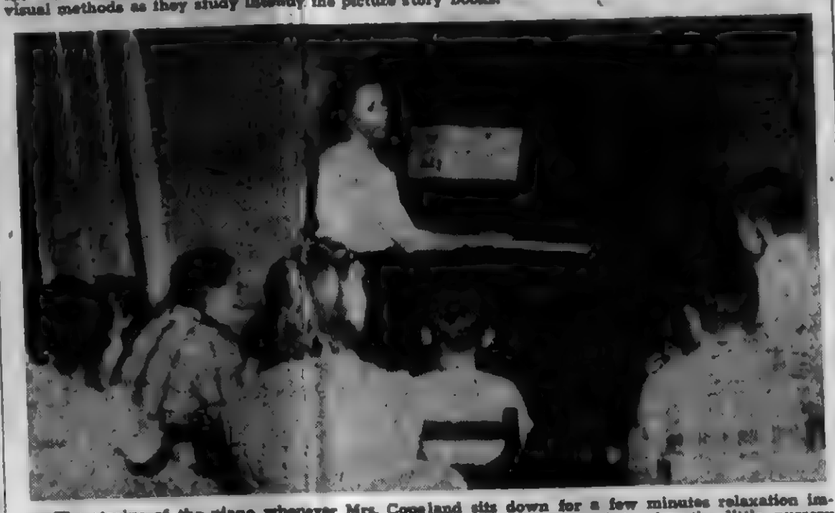
Accordingly in January of 1949, Mrs. Copeland opened her first training school in Columbus at 940 Neil-av. Children whom parents wanted sheilded from the public were brought to her. Children who had defects of speech, eyes, hearing, or physical handicaps that had affected their mentality were brought to her for guidance, care and training. Soon the Neil Training School as it was then and still is known, had grown to a proportion that necessitated a move away from the city where the children could have the facilities to play away from the prying eyes of a curious and oft time rude public.

Today at 4914 W. Broad-st an old homestead has been converted to a school and haven for these unfortunate children by Mrs. Copeland. She pointed out that when she first took over the building that she had to spend quite a sum of money to make it into the type of place she wanted. Rooms for the children, class rooms, sun porch, and dormitory space for boys and girls. Questioned as to the initial expense of such a home she said that it would probably take her the next twenty-five years to pay for the home but that it would be worth it to know that she was doing something for children who needed a little understanding, sympathy and love that they had been denied previously.

Oddly enough Mrs. Copeland's previous training in music has been a distinct asset to her in the training of the 12 children now at the school. They love music and the movies. Whenever Mrs. Copeland opens the piano to play the children gather round and as the strains of music pour from the piano they sing the little tunes. Some of them you cannot understand because of speech defects, but you know that they understand and that the music is in their hearts. One little girl though blind joins the others in these little songfests and as the music permeates the room she unconsciously moves her hands in rhythm to the music as though she could see before her sightless eyes, the music itself.

As to the movies, Mrs. Copeland says that frequently she takes them out to see them and that the children enjoy them immensely. Television, too, is a magnet to them. Several of the boys when she takes them with her shopping frequently sight the TV sets in store windows and then she has a problem of getting them back to the car. They want to see the television performances and it is her hope that she can someday install a television set in the home for the enetertainment of the children.

Mrs. Copeland's work with these children who are unwanted by parents has not been unnoted for she is today accredited by the American Medical Society and the State Welfare Department has granted her license to operate this type of training for the 12 mentally retarded.



Mrs. Copeland is aided in her work at the Neil Training school by Mrs. Fannie Francis who has been the regular school teacher with her for a number of years teaching corrective speech, reading and writing. Dr. Homer Anderson is the regular attending pediatrician.

In summing up the profits and losses accrued by reason of the change of her profession, Mrs. Copeland simply states, "It's worth it." And you realize why she makes that statement when as she is surrounded by a group of these unfortunate children they cling to her and say 'Mommie.'

She's the only real "Mommie" to many of these youngsters. The only one to give them help, understanding and love.

Classroom work plays an important part in the training program of these retarded children at the Neil Training School, 4914 W. Broad-st. Here Mrs. Copeland assists the children in learning by visual methods as they study intently the picture story books.

The strains of the piano whenever Mrs. Copeland sits down for a few minutes relaxation immediately bring a group of the children clustering about to listen and to sing the little nursery rhymes and folk songs dear to the hearts of children. Whenever Mrs. Copeland plays there is no playing or talking among the children and they devote their entire attention to her.

At this old homestead converted to a school for the training of retarded and at times unwanted children Mrs. Copeland carries on the work of caring for them and giving to them the love and affection they are really starved for in their own homes. Located at 4914 W. Broad-st, the old dwelling has been modernized and renovated to meet state and national standards necessary for the operation of such a school.

The Rea-Bow Association News

By Dorothy Fowler

The Ice Cream Social and dance, held in Rea-Bow Hall, Saturday night, for the benefit of the Rainbow Base-Ball Club, was very successful. The music was furnished by Everett Gallagher and Johnny Worlen, with Alice Brokamp as vocalist. Norman Brokamp and George Wolfe did the calling for the square dancing. Howard Hoffman and Jack Young were M.C. Enough money was raised to purchase much needed Base-Ball equipment for the team. The boys on the team have already expressed their thanks to the Association and all others who helped make this social and benefit a success.

The Association is sponsoring a group of Boys and Girls for an eleven day campaing trip the last of July.

Plans are being made for a celebration at the July meeting of the Association. The ground was broken for the present Hall July 4, 1949.

This Saturday, June 10, the Association will hold a "Box Social" at the Hall. Auction of the lunch boxes will begin at 8 p. m. The evening will be rounded out with ice cream, round and square dancing until 12 midnight.

These Socials are open, no admission is charged, and no intoxicating drinks are allowed on the grounds. It is hoped that some of the play ground equipment will be up for the Box Social. A five foot Graves fence has been installed around the playground, and entrance can only be gained by passing through the Hall, as there are no gates, which insure the safety of the youngsters who are at play, while mother and dad are inside, or on the outside platform, dancing. The founder of the Association, and now its "Life Time" president, will speak before the Sharon Township Civic Association, Friday, June 9, 1950.

West High School Students Create 'The School Beautiful'

By Myron T. Seifert

Students at West High School take great pride in making the Powell-av location, "The School Beautiful."

Throughout the school year many students lead their efforts to preparing the soil for flowers, cultivating the good earth, and enjoying the fruits of their efforts.

This work is done, sometimes as a supplement to their school subjects, and other times during free periods.

Engaged now in a flower-planting program, many are performing duties preparatory to transplanting the flowers at strategic points around the school ground.

West High School, which has had a part in helping to make the Hilltop, "Mum Center of the Country," is continuing to propagate the variegated specimens of chrysanthemums. Leo McCombs, florist, has assisted in this enterprise.

Students are now busy planting mum "slips" in boxes, preparatory to transplanting outdoors, under the direction of teachers E. C. Reed and Clarence Bateman. Many other flowers are planted by the students at seasonable times.

Students working on the project include Barbara Bradfute, Joe Wallace, Fred Batteiger, Dick Burnett, Jane Hogabaum, Don Dolder, Jerry Shaw, Bob Harris, Bill Wallace, Don Binns, Ed Whitsell, Dick Cooley, Earl Dye, Ray Stevenson, Gloria Hensley, Betty Jaycox, Jack Love, Clarence Golden, Bob Ryder, Dave Caton, Larry McNulty, Myrtle Sawers, Don Trimmer, Herb Beidel, Adeline Jennings, Walter Gibson, Earl Cline, Bob Ramsey and Tommy Kappel.

The Hilltop community will provide several members of the official staff, as well as scores of campers, when the annual outdoor season of the Franklin County Camp Fire Council opens on June 18 at scenic Camp Wyandot, located south of Lancaster in the Hocking County hills.

Starting with a two weeks' camping period for the younger Blue Birds, the season will continue with six additional weeks of outdoor living for the Camp Fire Girls and the older Horizon Club girls, coming to a close on Aug. 12.

According to the bulletin issued this week by the Camp Fire office, plenty of activity awaits the girls at Wyandot, including daily swims in the new pool just completed at a cost of more than $25,000. Registrations already are arriving in near-record numbers, it is reported.

The camp staff, under the direction of Mrs. L. P. Pick, 276 E. Moler-st, and Norma R. Dusi, 251 Taylor Station-rd, will include Marian Brant, 117 W. Death Rides The Highway

Thursday's daily newspapers of June 1 carried a story date lined Harlan, Iowa, by the Associated Press in which was related the tragic incident of five high school youths meeting untimely deaths as a result of post-commencement parties following graduation exercises.

The tragic incident is a parallel to a similar one which in 1948 shocked this community and Central Ohio. On June 4, 1948, in the early morning hours three West High School students lost their lives when the car in which they rode to an early morning breakfast plunged into the backwaters of the Scioto River two miles north of the Columbus Zoo on State Route 257. This saddening incident in our own community is closely akin to that of the Harlan, Iowa, incident in that it too followed a pre-commencement party.

Saddening and heart-rending though these incidents may be, there is in each one we read the ever present jubilance of youth uncurbed and to an extent unheedful of the dangers that are prevalent on today's ever busy highways.

It may seem harsh in a sense of the word to reopen old wounds and memories to those who have lost loved ones. But on the other hands is it not better that some of these things be repeated now and then in order that some will take heed, some will be a bit more mindful of the swiftness with which death can strike, some will be a little more considerate of parents and friends who can be left grieving and that some will use just a bit more common sense on the highways?

This is not intended to be a censure of the youth of today nor an argument that they should be denied the privilege of parties and good times at commencement time . . . a time they will think of in years to come . . . a time that marks a milestone in their lives.

On the other hand, it is intended to be a word of caution not only to them, but to those older as well . . . it is a plea to use more care and judgment in driving the highways . . . the automobile is but an inanimate bit of machinery given the power of motion by the driver who sits at the wheel and controls its speed and direction . . . it relies upon the mind, the eyes and the physical control of the driver.

BE CAREFUL . . . Lest the car you drive become a Frankenstein and claim your life or the life of innocent others.

The Low Down On High Ridgers

By One of Them

I was down at the trade-in-store where A. H. BUTLER sells odds 'n ends and I bought myself a crystal ball. So this week let's look into the future say about 25 years.

Ah—I see here where BONNIE ALWOOD is in the sheep-raising business. Those two lambs she sheltered back in 1950 pulled the wool over their eyes and begged to stay and see the world of tomorrow. So the ALWOODS gave in and sold their lawn mower, because they needed it no longer. They've changed their names to ALL WOOL.

Yes! We see here MIRIAM SHEA harboring the harborless. A sign is over her door reading "Welcome to lost tots, stray dogs, etc. Ever since CHARLOTTE CALLIF'S little "dotter" apparently "lost" was found next door in the SHEA nursery, MRS. SHEA has kept her doors unlocked.

She was not at all surprised when TOM BAIR built an extra compartment onto her backyard tree for wingless birds; proving TOM has come "UP" in the world in his building career.

We see his wife discussing and comparing her flowers with the beauties that won top praise over at the HIGHFILLS.

Of course, way back in '50 we never heard that FLORENCE SEEDS was working on an atom fertilizer. Now "MADAM ATOM SEEDS" fertilizer raises daisies as large as sunflowers and green onions the size of light bulbs. Yet, these onions are as sweet as the ones way back in the old days.

Remember when Ross Burgess was glad when they finally ran the busses down her way and how they widened and improved Mound-st? Little did she know that it would be part of the six-lane speedway that stretches through Ohio.

This bowling alley down by the "OVERHEAD" at Central and Mound, is owned by JOE ROBINE on Butler-av. He's so fond of bowling, he "STRIKES" his head every time he turns around; has "FOWL" in his backyard; has a fenced-in "POODLE" and smokes his pipe in his "SPARE TIME"

Interior decorator RITA JOHNSON is doing well for herself. Remember the contrasting beauty of her walls a couple of decades ago? She is now in New York doing "INSIDE STUDIO WORK." At first she was the one you heard doing the screams on "Inner Sanctum," but as the years gained on her vocal chords, she is now the squeaky door.

Television came out about then and when everyone was watching wrestling and PAUL G. BLAKELY got a hammerlock on RICHARD ANDREWS in showing him how it was done—it was then that R. F. McCrea made up his mind to start a new video act which we all know that when we turn to Channel 5 it takes us to the moon.

In next Sunday's Hilltop Record, which is now also a daily paper) you'll see where the RUMFIELD twins, now both 25 years old, are having a double wedding with GRANDSON HERBIE carrying the ring, MOMMIE SHARON is matron of honor.

Can't see who the grooms are for my crystal ball is getting cloudy. Every now and then we'll have some predictions, and in the meantime, I'll try to get a bigger glimpse into the future.

So hang on to your teeth, wigs, beards, and crutches, folks. We'll get around to every one of you—as long as my crystal ball holds out.

A G. I. asking for a loan was asked what his business was and gave the startling answer that he was a psychiatrist in a pottery factory. Further questioning drew out the information that he took care of the cracked pots.

A current gag in Yugoslavia reports that 95 per cent of the people of that nation are for Marshall Tito—five per cent for Tito and 90 for Marshall.

G. Frank Clover, 89, Succumbs in Hospital

G. Frank Clover, 89, of 35 S. Warren-av, died Thursday, June 1, in Mt. Carmel Hospital.

A retired coal broker, he is survived by two daughters, Mrs. Marie Deison of the residence and Mrs. James A. Albright of Clarksburg, W. Va.; a brother, Chrome Clover of Lancaster; two grandchildren and three great-grandchildren.

Services were held Saturday, June 3, from the Jerry Spears Funeral Home, with burial in Forest Rose Cemetery, Lancaster, O.

IN MEMORIAM

In loving memory of our dear son and brother, Pfc. Robert D. Worthen, who gave his life for our country, June, 7, 1944, in France.

The years go by—yet I can see
My boy of yesteryear.
Indelibly upon my heart,
Engraved so plain and clear.
Each day I think of you dear boy,
With yearning, longing still:
The place made vacant when you left,
No one can ever fill.

Ethel Titus Worthen

Sadly missed by mother, sisters and brothers.

SPRING

By Yvonne Everett

As I sit here listening to spring winds
And looking at the sun so bright,
It makes me want to run and sing
'Til the stars come out at night.
And even then, if the wind still blows,
I'd like to follow it still,
Even if it were in valleys deep
Or over the rolling hill.
All the world is making merry
And the robins sing.
Hail! Hail! Hail!
It's spring It's spring!

Bedtime FOR YOUNG AMERICA...

Now I lay me down to sleep
I pray the Lord my soul to keep;
And if I die before I wake
I pray the Lord my soul to take.

Every night when darkness falls over the land, hundreds of thousands of young Americans conduct their own vesper services with this little prayer.

Does this happen in your home?

"Oh," you might say, "There will be plenty of time for church when they grow up. Why should they bother with evening prayers now?"

Perhaps . . . But why bother with school, either? Knowledge comes easier later on. Why not send them to school then?

The plain fact of the matter is—you can't!

To live a full, useful life in America today requires thorough preparation. If a child is ever to fulfill the dreams of his parents, his schooling must begin early. If he is to have the spiritual assurance upon which he must build his life, he must build the foundation early.

That foundation is laid with prayer—in his home, and in his Sunday School.

Ruskin said that when you give just a little love to a child, a great deal more comes back. That holds good for prayers. Give your children the chance to pray. . . .

. . . God's love always comes back. . . .

That our sons may be as plants grown up in their youth; that our daughters be as corner stones . . .

West Jr. High Athletes Rated As Very Promising

By Dave Miller

When West Junior High holds its commencement exercises next Tuesday there will be a group of athletes who will get their sheepskins, and within a year or two those boys will without a doubt be starring in senior high sports.

Hail to the champs! The West Junior basketball squad, under the able direction of O. D. (Red) Lehman, turned in a successful won-8, lost-2 season over the past year, but that wasn't all. The junior high athletes tied for the championship in both baseball and track.

Coach Lehman agrees that the athletes coming through this season were probably the best junior high sportsmen ever to trod the halls. Now the cry is to move forward into senior high and do just as well.

Such athletes as Bob Thornton, Douglas Clark, Bill Haire, Dick Hutchison, Jim Kimball and Jimmy Vincent will be hard to replace. Although Kimball and Vincent return for another year, both are probably fit and able enough for senior high sports. Kimball with his stocky-built frame, will be counted on mainly for football and baseball, whereas Vincent, a cool customer in the pinch, is a "natural" in the diamond sport at shortstop.

All this praise is not bestowed upon these athletes just because they are graduating, but because those athletes in the two seasons they played all-around sports showed a clean-cut attitude in taking championships that West Junior hasn't had bestowed upon them for quite a while.

Let's start with basketball. The Broncos won their initial two games, and then after the December vacation the boys returned to action to meet the ultimate champions of the loop, Barrett, always a tough customer for West, in fact a team that West Junior hadn't beaten since 1940. So with a senior high attendance looking on the little basketballers engaged battle with fate itself (It may be told here that Barrett lost three of those players who participated against West by graduation in February, and all three were promoted to the varsity team at South.).

At it resulted, Barrett won a heart-breaker, and when we say a heart-breaker we mean just that. With three seconds to go, Barrett led 27-26 with Bill Haire attempting two free throws. He missed the first one, and with the pressure really on he sank the second to knot the count. West took the ball out of bounds and Haire drove in for the basket, and made an attempted shot. The referee called a foul, but it was against Haire for charging while it looked obvious that it happened the other way.

Well, West lost it, 28-27, but that's not the real point of the story. The moral was when Referee Bob Hixon called the foul the West players didn't lose their heads, none of them, nor did the crowd. They watched Center Charles Scurlock sink a free toss to beat them, and took it like real sportsmen.

West Junior won their next two frays, and lost another real athlete at mid-year in Jerry Trabue, who went up to senior high and after playing in three reserve games was promoted to the varsity crew. After Trabue's loss, they dropped a 35-27 decision to Champion, and then finished strong to win their final four games and end the season with a highly respectable 8-2 mark, and had they beaten Barrett it would have been a three-way tie for first place.

In the City Junior High track meet held last Thursday at West, the same athletes were involved in aiding the local junior high school to another trophy, as they tied Champion for top honors, each having 47 points. Doug Clark, a natural truckster paced the juniors with firsts in the broad jump, high jump and a third spot in the 120 yard low hurdles to be top point-maker of the entire meet with 15 tallies.

All-around athlete Bob Thornton was second in the high jump to Clark, while winning the 120 lows. This year's West relays team have also done an excellent job and should be well-commended. The team includes Bill Martin, Elva Cunningham, Tommy Ongaro and Doug Clark.

This season's West Junior baseball squadron has been highly successful, tying for the City Junior High League baseball crown with Franklin, both having five wins in as many outings.

The team took wins over: West, 15, Mound, 8; West, 8, Starling, 4; West, 2, Crestview, 1; West, 4, Everett 1; West 4, Roosevelt, 3.

Although the scores don't show a great amount of hitting, the junior baseballers had seven hitters that had a .300 percentage or better, which is highly remarkable. Big Bob Thornton, a great guy and a grand competitor, of course led the hitters with a .667 mark of 12 hits in 18 trips. Incidentially, Thornton was top scorer of the basketball team, being third highest scorer in the league and being named to the all-city squad.

The local juniors tightest squeeze was the Crestview game; a school that always had a good team. The North Siders' pitcher, Ray Snyder, is the boy who is expected to shine in a few years for North, and while pitching against West, he granted only four hits, but the juniors made that good enough for the needed runs.

Thornton, in addition to being the hitting leader of the team, got credit for all the junior Cowboys' wins on the hill with the exception of one, that being the aforementioned Starling fray in which Kenny Smothers started, pitched four innings, and was relieved by Thornton, who finished the game, but Smothers received credit for the victory because he had pitched a sufficient amount of innings.

Hats off to two fine coaches who have made the 1949-50 West Junior High athletic season such a successful one. "Red" Lehman, who mentored the basketball and baseball squad and Rufe Glass who coached the junior high track squad in addition to coaching three other teams in senior high.

Ask Water Main Extension For Joan Heights Area

Residents of the Joan Heights addition Monday presented to Elmer Keller, director of the department of Public Service at City Hall a petition requesting extension of the water main on N. Sylvan-av to the corporation limits.

Extension of the line it was pointed out would alleviate a situation that exists where present water supplies are drawn from wells, creating a hazardous health condition.

The areas affected in the petition are; N. Sylvan-av, N Southampton, N. Algonquin and Albert-st.

Mrs. Don Neal, 367 N. Sylvan-av. made the presentation of the petition to the city water division, Monday.

Mrs. Neal pointed out that the county petetion has already been given the approval of county commissioners and that the only remaining action to be taken is by Columbus City Council in providing extension of the water main. A previous petition, according to Mrs. Neal was lost at City Hall necessitating the circulation of the present petition.

Bean Dinner Display Space At Premium

"With the start we've made already, there is no doubt about the success of the 1950 edition of the Hilltop Bean Dinner," said Chairman Russell Carter of the Hilltop Business Association Bean Dinner Committee. "Our plans are working out smoothly and every evidence of a bigger and better show is apparent."

As evidence of the progress being made in shaping up all details of the annual affair it was pointed out that WLW-C Television is lining up a talent show and other celebrities to make an appearance on the two evenings of the Bean Dinner, July 19-20. The TV station will have on hand its $100,000 portable television unit which will be demonstrated and explained to those in attendance at the Bean Dinner.

Thus far twenty merchants have evidenced desire for display space at this annual Hilltop merchant and patron get-together. This number of merchants who have reserved space now greatly exceeds the total number who displayed their wares in last year's show.

A partial list of the merchants participating in this year's affair who have prize coupons is on page 1B of today's Record. Additional names of merchants who will have prize coupons available will be made known as soon as workers have been able to cover the entire field, and contact the various merchants who desire to participate.

A galaxy of merchandise prizes is to be awarded totaling more than $1000 plus various other awards which will be made by several participating merchants and dealers.

Bill Coon in charge of reservations for display space at the dinner says that he is being swamped by merchants desiring space and that any firms desiring to obtain space should contact him at once at the Hilltop Record offices.

Guests at the meeting which is held the second Tuesday of each month were Paul Pugh, Charles Wilson, J. H. Weaver, William C. Hall, Norma Kimes and Ray Hughfield.

Sherick Show Boosts Funds Of Local 'Y'

The Hilltop YMCA Building Fund will gain more than $100 when entire net proceeds are received some time during this next week from the Jack Sherick "Youth on Parade Show" which was staged last week at West High School auditorium.

Many novelty acts featuring local talent participated in the two hour dance revue, witnessed by four to five hundred persons in the audience.

Mr. Sherick an ardent supporter of YMCA activities staged the production for the sole purpose of giving aid to the Hilltop Y building fund. The entire net proceeds resulting from the revue are being turned over to the local YMCA officials as soon as collections are made from students who have not as yet made their reports.

Quick Action By Cub Scout Johnny Sears Prevents Playmate's Bleeding To Death

Paul Dawson, 10, rests at his home, 480 N. Hague-av and expresses his thanks to fellow Cub Scout Johnny Sears for his quick action in stopping flow of blood from an artery, severed during play at Westgate Evangelical Church, early Tuesday. Johnny's action saved the life of Dawson, according to emergency squadmen who were called to the scene.

There's a young 10-year-old hero on the Hilltop today. Johnny Paul Sears quick action and clear headed thinking saved the life of one of his playmates at the Westgate Evangelical Bible School, as his small, sturdy hands pressed against a severed artery in the right arm of Paul Dawson, aged 10, to stem the flow of blood from a gaping wound.

The accident occurred early Tuesday morning as the youths following their Bible School lessons scampered about the church playing football. Johnny Sears carried the ball and young Dawson attempted a tackle, missed and crashed through a basement window of the church, cutting a deep gash into his right arm and severing an artery.

Although many of the other children also playing at the time became panic stricken and some of them sick at the sight of the gushing blood, Johnny Sears quickly grasped his playmate's arm above and below the cut and pressed grubby thumbs deeply into the arm to halt the blood flow until the Fire Department Emergency Squad arrived.

Squadmen said that the quick action of the Sears lad in all probability had saved a life and commended him on the spot for such prompt and clear headed action.

Young Johnny though thought nothing more of the accident and instead left for his Grandmother Sears' home at 29 N. Harris-av to play again with other children and to comment only to his grandmother about one of the boys cutting his arm and the girls fainting at the sight of the blood. He did not relate to his grandmother the role he had enacted in saving a life.

Modestly enough Johnny related the story to a Hilltop Record newsman and said, "Shucks, I don't see what the fuss is all about. I just did what my daddy did to me one time when I cut my hand. They taught us the same things in the Cub Scouts, too."

Johnny is the son of City Policeman Larry Sears who lives at 381 S. Warren-av, and Johnny said further that he plans to be just like his dad and join the police force when he's old enough. Patrolman Sears is assigned to duty with the Police Mercy Squad as Johnny termed it and is a member of the team that daily mans Cruiser No 4 on the Hilltop and West Side.

Young Sears is a student at John Burroughs School in the fifth grade, and has lived on the Hilltop all his life.

The Dawson Youth was treated at Mt. Carmel Hospital where he was taken by the emergency squadmen. More than 10 stitches were required to close the wound in his arm. He is the

Blast Wrecks Home; Eight Persons Hurt

The Hilltop home of Earl E. Schoonover at 435 S. Powell-av was ripped apart last Thursday by a terrific blast resulting from a leaking gas conversion burner just being installed. Damage estimates resulting from the explosion were placed at $18,000 early this week as investigations were concluded.

The explosion occurred, according to police and fire department reports when a match was lit in the area near the location of the new installation.

Force of the explosion caused shingles, glass and other debris to be thrown more than fifty feet from the premises. The entire house was moved from its foundation and the interior of the home completely demolished with plaster ankle-deep along with wallpaper, drapes and torn bits of furniture.

Eight persons were reported injured by the blast. Their hurts were of a varied nature and all were eventually released from Mt. Carmel Hospital where they were taken by police and fire emergency squads. All the injured suffered shock and minor bruises.

Those injured were: Earl Schoonover, 62, and his wife, Mrs. Clara Schoonover; Jack Kimball, 44, and his wife, Mrs. Wanda Kimball, 40, and a niece, Ann Pence, aged 12. William Griffith, 42, of Delaware, O., and W. F. Watts, 45, of 208 Demorest-rd, workers installing the conversion unit, and Dennis Thompson, 6, of 344 Chase-av, struck by flying glass as he walked on the sidewalk in front of the Schoonover home.

Battallion Fire Chief Thomas R. Phillips, said the gas heating unit was being installed by the Piping Contractors Co., of 58 N. Washington-av.

Mr. Kimball said seven of the eight persons injured by the blast were all in the kitchen of the home when the blast occurred. He said that the force of the explosion whirled him through the kitchen door and into the middle of the back yard. He said that it all happened so quickly that he could not for a few minutes understand why he was suddenly in the yard.

Thomas Hicks, 22, of 2500 Maplewood-dr, another workman with the firm installing the furnace, said that he was just returning in his car to aid in the installation of the gas conversion unit when the house just suddenly changed shape.

Other homes in the immediate vicinity of the Schoonover residence also incurred slight damage such as broken window panes as a result of the explosion.

New Law Suit Filed To Oust Henry Koontz

Renewed efforts to oust Hilltopper Henry A. Koontz from City Council for alleged violation of the city charter were under way again on Wednesday. County Prosecutor Ralph J. Bartlett filed new action in the Second District Court of Appeals to remove Koontz from office.

The first action against Koontz was filed shortly before the May 2 primary. It charged that he held his post illegally becuase he also operated a state sales tax agency. City Charter prohibits councilmen from being on two public payrolls.

Koontz resigned the agency job and on May 15 was appointed by Council to fill any City Council post that might be vacant. This move was designed to legalize Koontz's status as a councilman.

Barelett claims that such a procedure is "a cunning device" which "invites the practice, you scratch my back, and I will scratch yours."

Koontz sales tax agency which was given up was later awarded to the Hilltop Business Association.

The bequest contained in a mere two lines of the will specified the amount of the bequest to the association to be used at their descretion for those who can qualify as worthy. A further stipulation specified that not over $2500 was to be given to any one person.

The rest of the estate was granted to his wife, Rosetta who resides at the W. Broad-st address.

Other charities who received grants under the terms of Mr. Claggett's will totaled $11,000. They are: Columbus Aladdin Temple program for crippled children, $2000; Grandview Community Church, $2000; Westgate Methodist Church, $2000; Columbus Charity Newsies, $1,000; Hilltop Business Association, $1000; Newark Cedar Hill Cemetery Association, $1000; Columbus Scottish Rite, $500; Newark Masonic Lodge, $500; Newark K of P Lodge, $500, and Newark Elks, $500.

Terms of the will likewise provided that Emmitt Fickel, attorney of 44 East Broad-st, be named as executor of the estate. The will has been probated in the Franklin County Probate Court but as yet no inventory has been filed as to the total value of the estate.

Hague-av, and John Maxwell of 484 S. Terrace-av; two sisters, Mrs. Addie Cahill, 1047 17th-av, and Mrs. Mary Rowe of Lebanon, and 18 grandchildren.

Mail Service On Hilltop Is Reduced

Mail delivery was cut to one-a-day in the Hilltop residential districts last Saturday on order of Columbus Postmaster Allen Rowe. This reduction in mail delivery service is in line with orders from Washington, D.C., curtailing all deliveries as an economy move.

Saturday service on all business routes will be reduced to one effective this Saturday. Deliveries three times a day will continue during week days on the business routes, Postmaster Rowe explained.

Bogus Bills On Hilltop

Hilltop business men and residents are warned to be especially watchful of $10 banknotes as there are some bogus bills now beginning to make their appearance in Columbus. The third one to show up this week was at the Hilltop Post Office.

The spurious bank notes are of Federal Reserve $10 denominations, Series I, issued at Minneapolis with the first two digits of the serial number reading as 75.

A gas conversion burner was being installed just inside the door shown hanging by one hinge in the photo. The entire house was moved from its foundations by the blast and furniture and walls of the interior of the dwelling completely destroyed. Eight were injured slightly by the blast. Sightseers Are Attracted To Airport On Summer Days

By Myron T. Seifert

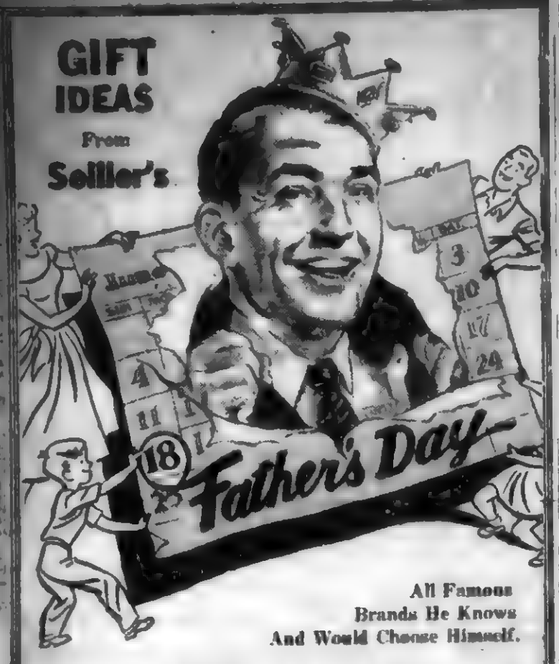
Sullivant Avenue Airport, adjoining the Hilltop, is a busy place these days. Air traffic, both for business and pleasure, is much in evidence.

Key figure is owner and manager Gomer Jones, 255 S. Westmoor-av, whose practical knowledge of aviation makes possible this needed facility.

Business-like and sociable Gomer attracts a wide flying clientele, including many Hilltoppers, to his Sullivant Avenue acreage.

Business men find the Sullivant Avenue flying accommodations much to their liking. A traveling man, for example, can often do in one day, which normally requires three via some other form of transportation.

Many other enthusiasts enjoy the facilities offered by Mr. Jones' airport. Crowds form along the road in autos, park and watch planes land and take off. This is especially true in spring, sunshiny days.



Pleasure-bent, carefree riding is the delight of others who use the airport in their leisure time.

At present a host of these air-minded pilots fly their own planes. Many of theses planes you see overhead are privately owned, and emanate from the local flying field.

Take a look at this list of pilots and owners who have their respective planes at the Sullivant airport and fly over and about Hilltop environs.

Scout Saves

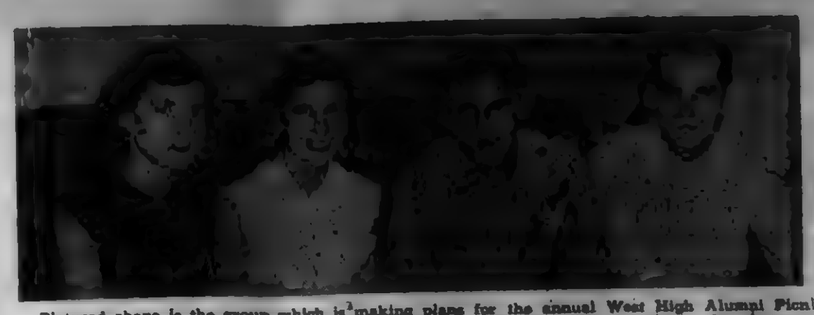
son of Mr. and Mrs. Dale A. Dawson of 480 N. Hague-av, and a member of the fifth grade class at West Broad Street School.

Both of the youths are members of Cub Scouts, Den 2, Pack 86, of which Mrs. Ann Meddles, 507 Binns-blvd is the Den Mother. The unit is sponsored by the John Burroughs School PTA.



Mrs. Meddles in commenting on Johnny's heroic action and quick thinking, said that he and other members of the pack had been given first aid training about two years ago. She was overjoyed to know that the training which had been given had been well remembered and put into practice at a time when it was direly needed.

Mrs. Meddles stated Tuesday that she as Den Mother of the Cub Scout unit, was recommending Johnny Sears for an award from the Cub Scouts for his prompt action in saving the life of his fellow Scout.

"Mum Capital of USA Is Goal"

Leo McComb of Rosebud Floral supervises the planting of mums at Fisher-rd and N. Hague-av as a part of a cooperative beautification program between Hilltop Kiwanis Club and himself to establish the Hilltop as the "Mum Capitol of the USA." Shown in the planting operation above are Jay John, Charles Fladt, (driving the transplanter), Kay Lentz, Florence Ankrum and Mr. McComb.

It's planting time again and the Hilltop Kiwanis Club is again sponsoring a program of beautification for the Hilltop and vicinity by urging all merchants and residents to plant mums as in previous years only on a larger scale. Last year's display of the beauteous flowers along W. Broad-st adjacent to the State Hospital drew many favorable comments from tourists and other visitors to the Hilltop.

"The Hilltop can, and will be, the "Mum Capitol of the United States if we can only get some really good cooperation from residents and merchants of the Hilltop Community," said Florist Leo McComb of Rosebud Floral Co., as he supervised the transplanting of thousands of mums in a large tract of land at N. Hague-av and Fisher-rd, earlier this week.

Mr. McComb pointed out that other cities have gained the unique distinctions of being known the nation over for their public and civic interests in the propagation of flowers that leave a distinct impression with the passers-by and tourists. He especially called attention to Holland, Mich., which is known throughout the country for its colorful plantings of tulips all through the town.

The city hall of Columbus has for the past several years boasted of the colorful display of mums on the grounds fronting and surrounding the building. These mums originated on the Hilltop and Mr. McComb feels that the Hilltop should rightly have the distinction of "Mum Center" rather than the downtown area.

"Think how colorful W. Broad-st and Sullivant-av would be if all merchants and residents along just those two thoroughfares were to have window boxes in front of their stores with many colored "mums" in full bloom this fall. As for that matter just think of the entire Hilltop on every street as a mass of color this fall and the impression that such a display would give to visitors. Think too of the publicity that would certainly come to the Hilltop by such a community effort," said Mr. McComb as he became more enthused with the idea of really making the Hilltop the "Mum Capitol of the USA."

Burgess EUB Church Observes Anniversary

The Burgess Avenue Evangelical United Brethren Church at Burgess and Sullivant Avenues will observe the thirty-fourth anniversary of its organization, Sunday, June 18.

Dr. W. E. Riebel, former pastor, now a retired local elder in the church, will deliver the morning sermon. The church has a plan for building an addition to the church in the near future.

The building committee will give a report of progress to date, and invitations to share in this project will be presented. Paul Wichterman is the chairman of the committee, and Jerry Spears will make the appeal.

The senior choir will provide special music for the occasion. Mrs. Elizabeth Thomas is the chairman of the program committee and a fellowship meal, covered dish, will be served at noon. There will be no formal service in the afternoon.

Rev. C. F. Lutz will bring the message in the evening. Rev. Lutz is serving his eighth year as pastor at Burgess Avenue.

SPRING

By Yvonne Everett

As I sit here listening to spring winds
And looking at the sun so bright,
It makes me want to run and sing
'Til the stars come out at night.
And even then, if the wind still blows,
I'd like to follow it still,
Even if it were in valleys deep
Or over the rolling hill.
All the world is making merry
And the robins sing.
Hail! Hail! Hail!
It's spring! It's spring!

New Novenas Series To Begin June 19

Beginning Monday, June 19, a new series of Novenas in honor of Our Lady of the Miraculous Medal will begin at St Mary Magdalene Church. The series is to be conducted by the Rev. Leonard Fick, professor at the Pontifical College Josephinum in Worthington.

The Miraculous Medal Novena has been in progress at the Hilltop church for the better part of two decades. Each Monday services begin with mass at 6:30 in the morning; other exercises continue during the day at 10, 3, 4, and beginning at 5:15 at 45 minute intervals up to and including the 9 o'clock service in the evening. For the convenience of those attending the exercises confessions are heard both during and after the services.

St. Mary Magdalene Church is located at the corner of South Roys and Parkside.

JOE BRIGGS Says:

Some people smoke one pack of cigarettes a day; others smoke any given amount.

Chaperone your cigarettes — don't let them go out alone. A large percentage of fires are caused by cigarettes. Play safe.
1. Be sure they are extinguished when you leave them.
2. Carry adequate fire insurance. See us today for adequate fire protection.

MARCH HAUNTINGS

This moonlit night is astir with murmurings,
While sculptured silhouettes against the sky
Are wrought into uncomprehending things
As they are dishevel'd by the wind's sign.
The obscuration of the night conceals
The poised calm of the far-flung countryside;
A darkened shadow from the moon now steals

Kiwanikwe Anniversary Party Tonight

Observing their second anniversary since organization on June 9, 1948, the Hilltop Kiwanikwe Club is to be host tonight to members of the Hilltop Kiwanis Club at Fort Hayes Hotel. The anniversary party is scheduled for 7 o'clock in the Gold Room, according to Mrs. Gayle Marsch, 38 Demorest-rd, president of the group.

Edward A. Wright, professor of the Department of Theatre Arts and head of that department at Denison University, is the principal speaker of the evening, according to Program Chairman Dorothy Cowles, 51 S. Westgate-av.

The chairman also said that in addition to the address which is to be given by Professor Wright there will be special entertainment of varied nature offered.

The local Kiwanis Club in deference to tonight's anniversary party scheduled by the Kiwanikwe group, has cancelled its regular noon-day program for today which was to have been an open forum on the topic of "How to Improve The Hilltop." The club will however hold its regular round table luncheon meeting as usual at Schmelzer's Restaurant, according to Jack Merriman who was to have been chairman for the day.

Warn Merchants Of New Purchase Refund Racket

Local business firms were being alerted today to the operations of a woman shoplifter who has been lifting articles of merchandise from counters that are unattended and later returning the merchandise for rebate, claiming that she had purchased it and on second thought had no use for it.

One local merchant reported earlier in the week that the woman had entered his store and casually walked about the counters looking over merchandise during a busy time when all clerks were occupied.

Before departing the store the woman removed some articles from a paper bag she carried and asked rebate of her purchase price claiming that she had changed her mind on the purchase. Full purchase price for the article was given the woman and she left the store immediately, before realization dawned on the proprietor that the woman had not made a purchase.

Description of the women was given as being 40 to 45 years of age; height, 5 feet 6 or 8 inches; dark complexion; straight black hair, not very well kept, and brown eyes. At the time of her last appearance she wore a dark dress.

DAIRY QUEEN STORE OPENS

Grand opening of the Dairy Queen store at 2188 Sullivant-av has been announced by Henry Lefebure, proprietor. Store hours, according to Lefebure, will be from 11 a. m. to 12 p. m. daily.

HBA Appoints William Coon As Delegate

William "Bill" Coon

Announcement was made this week of the appointment of William "Bill" Coon, 538 N. Warren-av, as a delegate of the Hilltop Business Association to the United Business Men's Association of Columbus, an association organization of representatives from all business associations and groups within the city.

The appointment of Mr. Coon by HBA President Ed. Witherspoon was made to fill the unexpired term of the late Ira M. Claggett, realtor of 2624 W. Broad-st, who died on May 27, following a brief illness. Mr. Witherspoon said the term would end in March, 1951.

Drowning Victim Funeral Rites Are Completed

Funeral services and burial at Ironton will be held tomorrow for Milton McCarthy, 20, of 363 N. Guilford-av, who drowned Tuesday while fishing in the Scioto River.

Underbrush in a comparatively shallow section of the river apparently caught the victim, preventing him from rising to the surface. An army veteran and resident of the McKinley-av housing project, McCarthy, according to relatives, was a good swimmer.

He had gone fishing with George S. Dickens, 56, of 183 N. Central-av. Dickens said he was about 75 yards from McCarthy when he heard a splash and a muffled shout.

"I looked up and saw Whitey's Army fatigue hat floating on the water," Dickens said. He called authorities and sheriff's deputies who went to the scene recovered the body in water four feet deep.

Surviving are his wife, Mrs. Rosemary McCarthy; a daughter, Patty Jane McCarthy, and his mother, Mrs. Leolia Owrey, all of the Guilford-av address.

McCarthy was employed as a used car salesman for the Houghton Motors, Inc., 342 E. Broad-st.

Kiwanikwe Club Brings Joy To Shut-In

Although little Susan Wade, aged 5, of 185 N. Ogden-av, does not as yet have the child's size wheel chair that would enable her parents to make her more comfortable, she does today have another gift which she prizes highly.

It's a portable record player of the 45 rpm type presented her earlier this week by the Hilltop Kiwanikwee Club along with ten records. Little Susan, who is slowly regaining the power of speech following two operations for brain tumor and a four-month stay in the hospital, smiled warmly as the presentation was made to her by representatives of the local Kiwanikwee Club.

Susan, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Curtis Wade, was stricken last November and has been bedfast since that time. The dual operations and her long illness have left her virtually helpless. Now at her home with her parents and a brother and sister, she is gradually making recovery, but still has a long way to go before she is able to be up and about as other youngsters.

The only method of transporting her or taking her out into the sunshine and fresh air, which she enjoys enormously, is a large size adult wheel chair. Her mother said that a child's size chair would be much more comfortable to the helpless little tot even though she has not the strength to move it about herself.

The action of the local Kiwanikwee Club in bringing the portable unit to the little shut-in, is one of their projects in aiding others and rendering a service to the community. The two representatives of the local group said that the faintly whispered "Thank You" from the little bedfast child was more than recompense for their efforts.

Bean Dinner Interest Rises As Date Nears

Interest in the seventh annual Bean Dinner sponsored by the Hilltop Business Association continued to mount to a higher pitch this week as more merchants signed to underwrite the annual affair and clamored for fast diminishing display space at the July 19 and 20 festival in Westgate Park.

Double of everything seems to be the watchword of the planners of the annual affair. There are twice as many merchants cooperating this year, twice as much display space available, twice the amount of midway space, twice the space available for serving of beans and arrangements made for double the number of concession stands available at the affair.

Merchants cooperating in the promotion of the bean dinner say that the demand for prize coupons at their various business establishments is more than exceeding the demand evident in previous years. Widespread distribution of the coupons which make the holders available for more than $1000 worth of gift awards was made earlier this week and several merchants have already asked that more coupons be made available to them. Bean Dinner planners said that this coupon demand is highly indicative of the wholehearted support and interest in the association's annual affair.

Bill Coon in charge of allocating the display space for the various merchants reported that as of this date more demand has been made for tent and concession space than ever before. He said that a few display spaces are still available and advises that merchants who have not as yet contacted him relative to arrangements for space, do so immediately.

Committee members in charge of arrangements of the huge parade which is to open the annual bean dinner festival say that plans are now almost to the completion stage and that requests have been made of them at this early date for details and entry regulations.

This week also saw more names of cooperating merchants added to the list of those announced in last week's Record as supporters of the affair. These latest additions to the list also have available coupons which are used for the $1000 in prize awards made by the business association: Harold Ealy, Mgr. Elephant Lumber Store, 2348 W. Broad-st; K&H Sunoco Service Station, 2570 W. Broad-st; Ezzo's Barber Shop, 2820 W. Broad-st; Broad-Moor Dairy Store, 3068 W. Broad-st; Joe Cleaver Dry Cleaners, 2373 Sullivant-av; Anderton's Restaurant, 2776 W. Broad-st; Evelyn Swain, Buyer Pay-Shop, 2386 W. Broad-st; Bob Strope Motor Sales, 2432 W. Broad-st; Stevens Realty Co., 1434 W. State-st.

Watson's Food Market, 3117 W. Broad-st; Anderson Heating Co., 147 Nashoba-av; Rosebud Floral Co., 351 No. Burgess-av; Jones Lumber & Coal Co., 57 N. Sylvan-av; Stephens Florists, 612 Harrisburg-pk; Murnane's Sohio Service Station, Broad-st and Ogden-av; Schroeck's Sinclair Service Station, 2460 W. Broad-st, Donald F. Smith, Atty., 2977 W. Haydn Jones Resigns Hoge Choir Post

W. Haydn Jones

Announcement was being made this week of the resignation of W. Haydn Jones, 54, 190 S. Roys-av, as director of the choir at Hoge Memorial Church. Mr. Jones has been director and leader of the choral group for a period of 23 years.

Mr. Jones in relinquishing his position with the local choral group said, "I feel that it is time that I step aside and give some younger person a chance to direct and lead this fine group. As for myself, I am going to find it very hard to set aside a habit of years of work with the choir, but I find that age is creeping up on me and that it is time that I take a little bit of time out for myself."

The local choir is but one of several with which Mr. Jones has been associated since he first came to the Hilltop in 1923. Although the Hoge Memorial Church choir was organized by him in 1924 he was away from it for a three year period in which he devoted his time to the organization and leadership of the Miami-av Presbyterian Church Choir. After this interim he returned to Hoge Memorial and again assumed the directorship of the choir.

Mr. Jones' work has not always been confined to just the church choral groups either. He helped to organize the Men's Shows of the Hilltop Business Association and directed that group for a 10-year period. This group incidentally travelled quite extensively and was a familiar and well received unit to participate in the Jackson Eisteddfod.

Other musical groups which have been aided by the leadership and direction of Mr. Jones were the John Burroughs Mother Singers, the Westgate Chorus and the Kiwanis Club. The latter group claims Mr. Jones as a charter member and director of its music.

Despite the demands made upon his time by the activities of the various musical organizations with which he has been associated Mr. Jones has likewise proven himself successful in the realm of busines. For 27 years he has been associated with the lumber business on the Hilltop and for 22 years has been in business for himself operating the Jones Lumber & Coal Company at 57 N. Sylvan-av.

Weeds Are Basis For Damage Suit

A neighborhood quarrel on the Hilltop over weeds growing in a S. Richardson-av yard found its way into Franklin County Common Pleas Court Tuesday.

Hazel Powers, 253 S. Richardson-av, asked $10,000 damages each of two neighbors, Mrs. James H. Streets, of 249 S. Richardson-av, and Mrs. William P. Graney of 257 S. Richardson-av, for "injury to her credit and reputation."

She contended that on last May 25 she was charged in Municipal Court with allowing "poisonous weeds" to grow in her yard. She said the complaints were filed by Mrs. Streets and Mrs. Graney.

Mrs. Chester Cramer Directs Hilltop's Largest PTA Group

Only a busy person could direct the activities of one of Hilltop's largest and important educational groups, the West Junior, Senior Parent Teachers Association. That's why Mrs. Chester C. Cramer, 188 S. Westmoor-av, was named to the post in the local organization of 1500 membership.

Mrs. Cramer, by virtue of her executive ability and radiant personality, comes to her new work, with a profound conviction that the local PTA is one of the forces for good in this community.

Marks of interest in Hilltop youth, so vital a part of her late husband's (Dr. C. O. Cramer) philosophy, are evident in Mrs. Cramer's civic ventures. Dr. Cramer, it will be recalled, spearheaded the all important Hilltop YMCA project in this locale.

City Recreation Department To Hold City-Wide Pet Show

Saturday, June 24, the City Recreation Department is sponsoring a city-wide pet show. All youngsters on the Hilltop under 17 years of age are invited to enter their pets. It is requested, however, that all children under six be accompanied by at least one parent.

Registration blanks for this pet show are available at all city playgrounds and at the Recreation Office, Room 124, City Hall. It is hoped that all registrations will be completed by Friday, the 23rd, but late registrations will be accepted until 1 p. m. Saturday at the City Hall.

This year, as in the past, the show will be held at City Hall. Budd Sweeney of WHKC will be master of ceremonies and announces that the parade will start promptly at 1:30 p. m. All entrants and their pets are to assemble on the Broad Street side of City Hall where the parade will start. It will move West on Broad-st to Marconi Boulevard, north to Gay-st, east to Front-st south to Broad-st, and back to the starting point.

Immediately after the parade the judging will begin. This year's ribbons are being provided by the Humane Society and will be awarded for: the most unusual pet, the prettiest pet, the smallest pet, the larg st pet, the pet with the most tricks, the best costumed pet, the homeliest pet, and the best groomed pet. In addition a grand champion and runner-up will receive trophies.

Judges for this year's show will be Phillip Stout, president of the recreation commission, Clara Baralla of the Humane Society, Clyde Moore of the Ohio State Journal, Will Rannells, professor of fine arts of Ohio State and nationally known animal illustrator, and Joseph R. Jones, member of the city council.

This pet show promises to be a very interesting event with some unusual pets expected. In previous years monkeys, grasshoppers, ponies, alligators and even a 375 pound black bear have appeared along with a large assortment of dogs, cats, mice, birds, and other such pets. In addition to the animals entered by the children, the recreation department's traveling zoo will make its initial appearance of the season with 14 animals.

According to N. J. Barnck, city recreation superintendent, it must be emphasized that each pet be kept under control at all times by the youngster who entered it. This may be done by using leashes, baskets, containers, or other suitable devices which permit constant, direct control of the pet.

Ownership Change Is Announced

Shown, left to right are: O. J. Trott, owner of the Trott's Super-Market on S. Sandusky-st., president; J. B. Sheakey, vice-president and meat buyer for the firm; and C. J. McDonald formerly with the A.&P. Tea Co., as secretary-treasurer and active manager of the store.

A surprise transfer of ownership of Kent's Super Market, 2976 W. Broad-st to the Trott Enterprises Inc. was made early this week and immediate possession made by the new owner O. J. Trott and his associates in the new firm.

Mr. Trott, president of the new firm, said that acquisition of the huge W. Broad-st super market was but the first step in an expansion program that is to eventually become city wide in its scope.

Said Mr. Trott, "The present combination of our stores on W. Broad-st and Sandusky-st will make available to us better buying power and ability to match or even lower prices in competition with any store in the city. The addition of this newest store furnishes us with the basic requirements necessary to greater expansion. The bakery department of the W. Broad-st market will furnish baked goods to the Sandusky-st store and the Sandusky-st establishment will in turn enable us better warehousing facilities for both stores. As a consequence both markets strategically located as they are will give our patrons the benefit of lower and better prices equal to any in the city."

Charles Kent, retiring owner of the W. Broad-st super market said "The sale was suddenly made and although I had made no plans toward selling the store I couldn't refuse the offer that was made by Mr. Trott and his associates. As for myself I plan to take a little rest. I hope my former patrons will all give to the Trott Market the admirable cooperation they have always given to me, and I wish to take this opportunity of thanking every one of them for their patronage and good wishes."

Details of the transaction have not yet been made entirely public but it is understood that the sale comprised the complete store stock, fixtures and good will. Mr. Kent still retains ownership of the building which houses this new super market.

Owners of the new firm are O. J. Trott as president, J. B. Sheskey, vice president, and C. J. McDonald, secretary-treasurer.

Letters to Editor

Please accept my sincere thanks for making me the recipient of the "Flowers of the Week" from the Hilltop Record.

I can assure you I appreciated it from our community paper which means much to the folks on the Hilltop.

Thanks again.

Sincerely,
Mary Walton

"I wish to thank you for the beautiful flowers you sent me in honor of being selected as the outstanding "Citizen of the week." I enjoyed my work in connection with the All Sports Banquet, and appreciate being one of the two selected for that week.

Sincerely,
Joe Briggs.

Kiwanis Night at Red Bird Stadium last Thursday was a splendid success.

I returned to my desk wishing that I might personally congratulate you and all the others who helped United Kiwanis Clubs to send 150 needy, deserving youths to camp this summer. But now I feel that they are to be congratulated on their good fortune.

The benefits to be derived by the boys from this healthful experience is reward enough for us all.

On behalf of the boys for whom you stimulated public interest in this youth service project, I am happy to extend warmest thanks and appreciation.

Sincerely yours,
James R. Riley,
General Chairman United Kiwanis Clubs of Greater Columbus.

William A. Dolder Is Honored By Pure Oil Company

William A. Dolder, former Hilltopper who lived at 95 N Burgess-av, was honored Friday evening, by a dinner held in Newark, by the Pure Oil Co., on his retirement after 33 years of service.

Dolder has served in the land department of the Eastern Producing Division in Newark since 1932, having previously supervised land records in the company's general offices at Chicago and Columbus. He entered the Pure Oil Co. at the Columbus office 33 years ago.

Dolder is the father of Ruth Dolder Barn and his sons Rodney and Rolland are Alumni of West High School. The veteran oil employee also has two brothers, Walter and Norman Dolder, who are the owners of Dolder Brothers Market 127 N. Central-av.

Harvey Lowe, division manager, pointed out at the dinner that remarkable among Dolder's accomplishments was the fact that he has not missed a day of work in his 33 years due to illness. Following his retirement he expects to open an accounting and tax service office at Fraserburg.

The company employees expressed their good wishes to his new venture by presenting him with a desk chair and lamp for his new office.

Pilot Club Meets At Sullivant Airport

"You're never too old to fly," might well be the attitude of the 21 members of the Over 60 Pilot Club who met Friday from all over Ohio at the Sullivant-av Airport, for the third annual reunion.

Guests of Manager Gomer Jones and Columbus members, the men made take-offs and landings at the airport, had a chicken dinner, talked about flying, then called it a day by winging home.

Sidney C. Howard of 335 E. Long-st, one of the oldest members, learned to fly when he was 54, and has been at it 10 years.

Hilltop Aviation

History Making Flight In 1910 Was First Commercial Air Shipment To Columbus

(Editor's Note: Each passing year of the air age increases the importance of airport facilities to a community. Sullivant Ave. Airport on the Hilltop was the site of one of the earliest airports in the state. This is the first of a series of articles by Myron T. Seifert telling the history and growth of aviation on the Hilltop.)

By Myron T. Seifert

With managers of airports, municipally owned in particular, converging on Columbus this week to "talk shop" the whole town, Hilltop especially, is aviation-minded. Many Hilltop aviation enthusiasts, including Gomer Jones, owner and manager of Sullivant Avenue Airport, will focus much interest and attention on the airport managers' convention when it convenes here.

The Hilltop has figured in the aviation picture early in the science of flying.

Forerunner of the celebrated Gomer Jones Sullivant Airport and Flying Service were other ventures that made the Hilltop pioneer in aviation and training circles.

First commercial flight into the city of Columbus followed Hilltop air-lanes 40 years ago when Phillip Parmalee, after breaking all cross-country records in flight Nov. 7, 1910, introduced the marvels of aerial navigation and aerial transportation to 3,000 Columbus enthusiasts at the Driving Park where he delivered to Max Morehouse, president of the Morehouse and Martens Company, the first shipment of merchandise ever to be transported from one firm to another straight through the air.

The aeroplane outstripped by miles a high speed automobile that sought to follow it from Dayton, broke the record for altitude sustained in a cross-country flight, rising to a height of 2,500 feet, and broke another record in the time in which it negotiated the distance of 62 miles, in 55 minutes if the time consumed in landing is figured. The average is better than a mile a minute and the time perhaps was the best ever made by a human being from Dayton to Columbus, traveling in any sort of device.

Parmalee alighted as fresh and self-possessed as if he had been brought in a hackney coach from a half-mile drive.

Shrieking whistles announced to nervously waiting ears, some time after 11 o'clock, that this strange craft had been sighted in the horizon and in a flash the streets and housetops were crowded with people. There was a scramble for streetcars, autos and all other conveyances. There began at once a stampede for the Driving Park, a race in which every form of vehicle made a strenuous and futile effort to beat the bird man, who, with engines humming merrily, negotiated better than a mile a minute, circled lightly to the south as he passed over the city, crossed the west fence of the Driving Park and then the east, returning over the east fence, and landed a little north of the center of the track enclosure of the Driving Park.

He had made 62 miles in 55 minutes, exclusive of the time taken in alighting.

There was a strange hush over the crowd and no one seemed to know what to do. The people did not know that the world's record of that time had been made and broken; that one of the finest flights in the brief history of aviation had been made that day; they only knew that for the first time they beheld a dream of the ages, a craft that successfully disputed the mastery of the air. One aged man standing near where the airship alighted was overheard to remark, "I never thought I would live to be this old."

Roy Knabenshee, who represented the Wright brothers at the track, made an observation from the judges' stand, just as the airship passed above it. Taking this as arriving time and eliminating the minutes consumed in the closing maneuvers and alighting the Dayton to Columbus transit was made in the astonishing time of 55 minutes. The estimated distance by road or railroad was 70 miles.

After slapping himself about the waist to get back his circulation and warmth which an elevation of 2,500 feet had deprived him, in company with Mr. Morehouse, Parmalee went to a restaurant and partook of an improvised lunch.

At 1 o'clock the exhibition features were started.

The crowd kept coming all the time. Indeed a great many more came after Parmalee had alighted than were there to greet him.

After an hour's rest Parmalee again took his seat in the plane. Two assistants gave the propellers a preliminary whirl, the engines drummed and in an instant the whole structure moved forward on its rubber tired wheels for a second and then mounted into the air.

He gave the gaping multitudes who strained their necks to watch him, a thrill, by dashing downward and when a paltry 100 feet intervened between him and the earth, the monster would mount again, to the relief of all concerned.

On his second trip he took Mr. Morehouse, the first man in central Ohio to make an air trip. Mr. Morehouse said, "It was great. There was no more sense of fear than in a fast elevator."

After the exhibition the people were permitted to crowd around the plane, which was protected by soldiers so it would not be damaged.

Parmalee decided that it was too cold to fly back to Dayton, whereupon the plane was taken apart and shipped back to Dayton.

Woman Missing From Home Since May 25

Mrs. Ramona Zealler

An intensive search by a worried husband and members of the Columbus Police Department Missing Persons Bureau was being made of the Hilltop and West Side for Mrs. Ramona Zealler, 33, who disappeared from her West Side home on May 25.

Husband of the missing woman James Zealler of 17 S. Mayfair, described as having blue eyes, dark brown almost red hair which she wears down, five feet two inches in height and about 128 pounds in weight. He said they have been happily married and that no troubles existed in the home that he could list as a cause for her disappearance.

Mr. Zealler in his appeal to the Hilltop Record for aid in locating his wife, said that he fears she may have suffered a lapse of memory due to extensive worry over her own physical welfare and the recent death of her sister.

Reason for concentration of his searching efforts on the Hilltop and West Side according to Mr. Zealler is that he has had reports of people having seen his wife at three different places locally. The recognition was the result of having seen her published picture in the local daily newspapers.

Mr. Zealler an employe of WLW-C Television Station said that prior to their marriage Mrs. Zealler had worked as a waitress and may try to gain employment in that capacity. He also pointed out that she may be using the names of either Ruth Richey or Ruth Lawson. He is offering a $25 reward for information leading to the location of his wife. He may be contacted at Ad. 5462.

Hadacol Helps Wife Keep Her Family Well and Happy

HADACOL HELPS FOLKS SUFFERING FROM DEFICIENCY OF VITAMINS B_1, B_2, NIACIN AND IRON

Mrs. Edward H. Newton, 4384 Reading Road, Cincinnati, Ohio, feels that a wife's chief responsibility is attending to the welfare of her family at all times. HADACOL has been a big help to her in keeping her husband and little nephew well and happy.

Mrs. Newton's family, like so many, were suffering deficiencies Vitamins B_1, B_2, Niacin and Iron, which HADACOL contains.

HADACOL brought such wonderful results to her husband, who had suffered from stomach distress that Mrs. Newton gave HADACOL to her three-year-old nephew, Bobby Newton, with equally gratifying results.

Mrs. Newton's Statement

Here is Mrs. Newton's statement: "I gave my little nephew HADACOL because he was pale; he had no appetite; he was run down and he caught colds repeatedly. After taking HADACOL, he has an appetite, has color in his cheeks and he is healthier all the way. My husband has always been troubled with his stomach. After taking five large bottles and three small bottles of HADACOL, he eats anything and is not bothered with his stomach." Mrs. Newton has recommended HADACOL to many of her friends.

Helps You Feel Wonderful!

Why not have a similar happy experience happen to you? Now don't keep putting it off—don't say that you'll start taking HADACOL tomorrow. START TAKING IT TODAY! If only you'd realize the wonderful benefits that people by the thousands are getting from HADACOL, you wouldn't delay a single minute.

Hundreds of Doctors

. . . have prescribed HADACOL for their patients, have requested quantities of HADACOL for their own clinical use and for their own families. The fact that HADACOL is scientifically formulated, compounded so that it contains therapeutic quantities of Vitamins B_1, B_2, Niacin and Iron to supply deficiencies of these vital elements and is enriched with helpful amounts of Manganese, Calcium and Phosphorous (in liquid form), help to account for its increasing acceptance by doctors.

You'll Feel Great . . .

. . . with the first few bottles you take, or your money back. There is only one HADACOL and it is sold on a strict money-back guarantee. So give this remarkable HADACOL formula a chance to help you if you suffer from any sickness caused by deficiencies of Vitamins B_1, B_2, Niacin and Iron. Remember that HADACOL is amazingly different and amazingly effective because it treats the real cause of the conditions you suffer from by supplying the deficient elements of Vitamins B_1, B_2, Niacin and Iron. Make up your mind to take HADACOL regularly. Refuse substitutes. Don't be satisfied with temporary relief. Insist on the genuine. You can't lose a cent, because it's sold on a strict money-back guarantee. Only $1.25 for Trial size. Large Family or Hospital size, $3.50.

Two Local Nurses In Grant Class

Two of the five Columbus graduates in the 50th Anniversary Class of Grant Hospital School of Nursing which received their diplomas at First Congregational Church, Friday, are from the West Side and Hilltop.

Donna Chessir, 60 S. May-av, and Emma Jane Rowland, 287 S. Ogden-av, will be among the class of 25 graduate nurses when they receive their diplomas from Dr. Hugh A. Baldwin, president of Grant Hospital Board of Trustees and son of the late Dr. J. F. Reading Club Formed At Hilltop Library

Initial meeting of the Reading Circus Club at Hilltop Branch Library was held Wednesday with library personnel in charge of the group of vacationing youngsters, according to Mildred Pimlot, librarian.

The schedule of the reading club calls for meetings to be held every other Wednesday between the hours of 10 and 11 a. m. Mrs. Frances Emrick, assistant librarian currently in charge of the group says that songs, games and a general study of circus animals and wildlife predominates the course at present time.

Next meeting of the group will will be held on June 28.

"Our Strength Your Protection"

Round-the-World Trip Winner

Lucky Hilltop lad William Blair Spence II and his mother, Mrs. Ruth Spence of 348 Letchworth-av read over a few of the many letters and telegrams received on his winning of a $400 College scholarship and round-the-world trip sponsored by a local daily newspaper.

Shy and modest, William Blair Spence II, aged 14, of 348 Letchworth-av is at home most of the time these days nursing a sore arm and fretting a bit because he can't join the boys in a game of baseball.

William, or rather Blair as he is called around home is one of those diligent lads who carry The Columbus Dispatch and who through hard working efforts won the coveted 'round-the-world' trip recently awarded by that newspaper to carriers who displayed initiative and salesmanship in a recent contest.

With baseball and swimming his main hobbies, Blair finds it hard to restrain himself from these sports although the shots he has been required to take as a prerequisite to the globe-circling trip have in many instances left him feeling not too well.

He is a typical, all American boy, full of vim and very sports minded, although to meet him off the sports field one might be prone to regard him as a quiet and retiring person. He has, however, proved himself to be just the opposite by his display of salesmanship for the newspaper which he represents. Blair's point total in the contest numbered 3400 points which was nearly 200 points better than his nearest competitor.

But though he daily receives many letters and telegrams of congratulation on his winning of the Dispatch Round-the-World trip this young man has also brought distinction to himself from the same newspaper. Just prior to his graduation from Wad Junior High School recently Blair was awarded the Columbus Dispatch $400 College Scholarship awarded for his high grades in school, his citizenship and his carrying ability on his paper route in which he established a record of four and one half years service with no misses or complaints registered.

And adding to his already mounting list of laurels, Blair was also elected to membership in the West High Junior High School Excelsior Society. Top grades in school and a strict adherence to study brought him this honor which he prizes as much as the contest award.

On July 12 Blair in the company with other newspaper carriers in the city, accompanied by Johnny Jones, popular Dispatch columnist will leave on the first leg of their month long trip around the world. During this trip they will visit many of the world's important centers of which they have oft times read and dreamed of actually seeing.

Following his return from the round the world trip Blair plans to give a lot of attention to baseball, swimming and other summer sports which he feels he will have neglected by taking the trip. Another idea though of conditioning himself by a rigorous sports program following his globe trotting experience is to be in shape for football in the fall. Blair believes, and his father also believes, that he'll be good timber for the West High grid team.

Aside from his arduous sports desires however, Blair has displayed himself well in school and in his church and he enjoys the companionship of all the boys in the Westgate area and is known to all as a hard, diligent and persevering worker.

His mother, Mrs. Ruth Spence said that they have lived on the Hilltop for a period of over 8 years and that she too is somewhat of a sports fan, inheriting some of the enthusiasm from her husband William B. Spence who is with the State Highway Patrol in the Record Department.

As to being worried about Blair's forthcoming trip by air around the world she said, "I'll have some worry of course and I'll probably miss him quite a bit. But I would say that I am glad that he is being honored by the trip and that I know he is in competent hands and that no harm could befall him other than what could possibly happen right here at home. I've sort of gotten over the idea of worry about it and want him to enjoy every bit of the trip. The newspaper has promised to keep us informed daily so it won't be as bad as it might sound to some."

'Think This Over'

By William "Doc" Campbell

The Greeks 2000 years ago were the highest exponents of culture, health and art. Science was nil. Even the Romans, who stole the Greek art, were fabulous bathers and beauty (?) experts but the Greeks in flowing hair (truly beautiful—the crowning glory of a woman) and beautiful bodies led the world (yes, today too). All the world in dynamic culture. It has been said that "a nation is known by its art." Well, what is happening today in Columbus? We have lost our symphony orchestra and our Boychoir.

Three or four years ago I heard Izzler Solomon lead the NBC (Toscanini's) orchestra via radio and I was thrilled. I thought he was ALMOST as good as Toscanini. Well, since art is my particular field, let's play around with this idea a while. The Hilltop branch of the Coumbus Public Library is a grand place to imbibe culture and information. Its modern beauty is compelling to any one of normal intelligence, so when I saw it nearing completion, I wanted the West Side to see, in proper surroundings, art at its best. Through the splendid cooperation of Librarian Will Collins and Miss Phalor, we now have on display a definite "cross section" of art of today and a positive opportunity for YOU, my friends, to learn what it is all about. Yes, there are very "modern" paintings and transitions from lovely flower pieces and beautiful old churches up to Biblical episodes, a la modern. Go and view this first exhibit of nine originals by three well-known artists. Do not "close your mind" and bawl out (silently, I hope) these newer kinds of art. Why, only a few years ago I did not care much for Mozart's music, but who was I to feel that way? However, after being exposed to it many times I have grown to love his different scores. So, West Siders, let us not be indifferent to this first exhibit. Do not let it fail (like the symphony orchestra) for lack of attendance. It will be on display from May 15 to about July 15. GO ONCE! Gaze in love and affection or gaze in disgust (if you must) but GO. And perhaps if you are not too stubborn in your mind, the light may creep in and like the Greeks, 2000 years ago, you will become cultured too. Culture has nothing to do with your job or in the making of money (that is for security's sake). But to be uncultured when it is right before you in authority, is pure??

THINK THIS OVER SERIOUSLY.

tightrope walkers

Our spectator is impressed. "Whew," he says, "You wouldn't catch me up there for a million dollars! Those people will never have any competition from me!"

This same spectator, incidentally, doesn't think it's worth the bother to take a church. That's something else they can keep, too . . .

Yet this same man who wouldn't get up there on the high wire for a million dollars goes through life walking a tightrope all his own—a rope on which he balances delusions against fancies, fears against hopes, uncertainty against braggadocio. Every so often, just to reassure himself, he says he's living a pretty happy life, everything considered.

But in his heart of hearts, he knows he is not at all sure of his step.

This man needs to come to church. Somewhere along the line he lost faith in God. And man cannot live by bread and circuses alone. Without the divine balance that gives insight and sureness to the step of reverent people, man loses faith in himself.

Let us help this man to regain faith in his God and himself through religion. For religion is reclamation, of a broad and noble kind. It straightens our vision. It builds character. It awakens long-forgotten spiritual values. It gives to the already miraculous fact of human existence, the final, God-like touch.

Get this man to your church. Get him off his tightrope.

Get him living again . . .

The steps of a good man are ordered by the Lord: and he delighteth in his way. Ps. 37.23.

IN MEMORIAM

It is with more sympathy than we have words to express, that we, the associates of Mr. Otis D. Leach, take this means of paying tribute to the man we have all learned to honor, respect and love. We all deem it a privilege to have known and worked with the founder and builder of beautiful Sunset Cemetery and Crematory.

A quarter of a century ago Sunset Cemetery, Crematory, Mausoleum and Columbarium, 6060 W. Broad Street, was only a dream in the mind of Mr. Leach. Today, and for all the years to come, this beautiful Park remains, and always will remain, a living monument to his memory.

We realize full well that Sunset will never be quite the same with Mr. Leach gone, but to the limit of our ability we here and now dedicate ourselves to the task of trying to keep this Living Memorial the place of beauty and uplift that we know our friend, Mr. Leach, would like to have it remain down through the years.

Our hearts and minds are filled with genuine sympathy for every member of our loyal friend's family.

Kiwanikwe Anniversary Party Tonight

Observing their second anniversary since organization on June 9, 1948, the Hilltop Kiwanikwe Club is to be host tonight to members of the Hilltop Kiwanis Club at Fort Hayes Hotel. The anniversary party is scheduled for 7 o'clock in the Gold Room, according to Mrs. Gayle Marsch, 35 Demorest-rd, president of the group.

Edward A. Wright, professor of the Department of Theatre Arts and head of that department at Denison University, is the principal speaker of the evening, according to Program Chairman Dorothy Cowles, 51 S. Westgate-av.

The chairman also said that in addition to the address which is to be given by Professor Wright there will be special entertainment of varied nature offered.

The local Kiwanis Club in deference to tonight's anniversary party scheduled by the Kiwanikwe group, has cancelled its regular noon-day program for today which was to have been an open forum on the topic of "How to Improve The Hilltop." The club will however hold its regular round table luncheon meeting as usual at Schmelser's Restaurant, according to Jack Merriman who was to have been chairman for the day.

Warn Merchants Of New Purchase Refund Racket

Local business firms were being alerted today to the operations of a woman shoplifter who has been lifting articles of merchandise from counters that are unattended and later returning the merchandise for rebate, claiming that she had purchased it and on second thought had no use for it.

One local merchant reported earlier in the week that the woman had entered his store and casually walked about the counters looking over merchandise during a busy time when all clerks were occupied.

Before departing the store the woman removed some articles from a paper bag she carried and asked rebate of her purchase price claiming that she had changed her mind on the purchase. Full purchase price for the article was given the woman and she left the store immediately, before realization dawned on the proprietor that the woman had not made a purchase.

Description of the woman was given as being 40 to 45 years of age; height, 5 feet 6 or 8 inches; dark complexion; straight black hair, not very well kept, and brown eyes. At the time of her last appearance she wore a dark dress.

HBA Appoints William Coon As Delegate

William "Bill" Coon

Announcement was made this week of the appointment of William "Bill" Coon, 338 N. Warren-av, as a delegate of the Hilltop Business Association to the United Business Men's Association of Columbus, an association organization of representatives from all business associations and groups within the city.

The appointment of Mr. Coon by HBA President Ed. Witherspoon was made to fill the unexpired term of the late Ira M. Claggett, realtor of 2624 W. Broad-st, who died on May 27, following a brief illness. Mr. Witherspoon said the term would end in March, 1951.

Each business group in the city is permitted three delegates to the UMBA, which meets monthly to plan united efforts for civic betterment. The other delegates representing the local association are Dr. E. E. McNamee, chiropractor of 2543 Sullivant-av and Sam Alford, 238 N. Terrace-av of Thrift Finance Co.

Drowning Victim Funeral Rites Are Completed

Funeral services and burial at Ironton will be held tomorrow for Milton McCarthy, 30, of 283 N. Guilford-av, who drowned Tuesday while fishing in the Scioto River.

Underbrush in a comparatively shallow section of the river apparently caught the victim, preventing him from rising to the surface. An army veteran and resident of the McKinley-av housing project, McCarthy, according to relatives, was a good swimmer.

He had gone fishing with George S. Dickens, 56, of 183 N. Central-av. Dickens said he was about 75 yards from McCarthy when he heard a splash and a muffled shout.

"I looked up and saw Whitey's Army fatigue hat floating on the water," Dickens said. He called authorities and sheriff's deputies who went to the scene recovered the body in water four feet deep.

Surviving are his wife, Mrs. Rosemary McCarthy; a daughter, Patty Jane McCarthy, and his mother, Mrs. Leolia Owrey, all of the Guilford-av address.

McCarthy was employed as a used car salesman for the Houghton Motors, Inc., 342 E. Broad-st.

Arrangements were completed by the Wylie S. Shroyer Funeral Home.

A native of Ohio, he was a retired foreman for a public utilities firm in Union.

Burial will be in Glen Cemetery, Port Jefferson, O.

Although little Susan Wade, aged 7, of 185 N. Ogden-av, does not as yet have the child's size wheel chair that would enable her parents to make her more comfortable, she does today have another gift which she prizes highly.

It's a portable record player and the 45 rpm type presented her earlier this week by the Hilltop Kiwanikwee Club along with ten records. Little Susan, who is slowly regaining the power of speech following two operations for brain tumor and a four-month stay in the hospital, smiled warmly as the presentation was made to her by representatives of the local Kiwanikwee Club.

Susan, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Curtis Wade, was stricken [illegible] September and has been ill since that time. The brain operations and her long illness have left her virtually helpless. Now at her home with her parents and a brother and sister, she is gradually making recovery, but still has a long way to go before she is able to be up and about as other youngsters.

The only method of transporting her or taking her out into the sunshine and fresh air, which she enjoys enormously, is a large size adult wheel chair. Her mother said that a child's size chair would be much more comfortable to the helpless little tot even though she has not the strength to move it about herself.

The action of the local Kiwanikwee Club in bringing the portable unit to the little shut-in, is one of their projects in aiding others and rendering a service to the community. The two representatives of the local group said that the faintly whispered "Thank You" from the little bedfast child was more than recompense for their efforts.

Westgate Youth Wins Sports Award

The Columbus Academy Atcheson H. Calleghan Award was presented to nine-year-old David Lee Chilcote, 130 Powhatan-av, as the outstanding boy in sportsmanship in the Lower School for the year ended June 1950.

Haydn Jones Resigns Hoge Choir Post

W. Haydn Jones

Announcement was being made this week of the resignation of W. Haydn Jones, 54, 190 S. Roys-av, as director of the choir at Hoge Memorial Church. Mr. Jones has been director and leader of the choral group for a period of 23 years.

Mr. Jones in relinquishing his position with the local choral group said, "I feel that it is time that I step aside and give some younger person a chance to direct and lead this fine group. As for myself, I am going to find it very hard to set aside a habit of years of work with the choir, but I find that age is creeping up on me and that it is time that I take a little bit of time out for myself."

The local choir is but one of several with which Mr. Jones has been associated since he first came to the Hilltop in 1922. Although the Hoge Memorial Church choir was organized by him in 1924 he was away from it for a three year period in which he devoted his time to the organization and leadership of the Miami-av Presbyterian Church Choir. After this interim he returned to Hoge Memorial and again assumed the directorship of the choir.

Mr. Jones' work has not always been confined to just the church choral groups either. He helped to organize the Men's Shows of the Hilltop Business Association and directed that group for a 10-year period. This group incidentally travelled quite extensively and was a familiar and well received unit to participate in the Jackson Eisteddfod.

Other musical groups which have been aided by the leadership and direction of Mr. Jones were the John Burroughs Mother Singers, the Westgate Chorus and the Kiwanis Club. The latter group claims Mr. Jones as a charter member and director of its music.

Despite the demands made upon his time by the activities of the various musical organizations with which he has been associated Mr. Jones has likewise proven himself successful in the realm of busines. For 27 years he has been associated with the lumber business on the Hilltop and for 22 years has been in business for himself operating the Jones Lumber & Coal Company at 57 N. Sylvan-av.

Annual Picnic

The Church of God, 635 Whitethorne-av, held its annual Sunday School picnic Sunday, June 11.

Bean Dinner Interest Rises As Date Nears

Interest in the seventh annual Bean Dinner sponsored by the Hilltop Business Association continued to mount to a higher pitch this week as more merchants signed to underwrite the annual affair and clamored for last diminishing display space at the July 19 and 20 festival in Westgate Park.

Double of everything seems to be the watchword of the planners of the annual affair. There are twice as many merchants cooperating this year, twice as much display space available, twice the amount of midway space, twice the space available for serving of beans and arrangements made for double the number of concession stands available at the affair.

Merchants cooperating in the promotion of the bean dinner say that the demand for prize coupons at their various business establishments is more than exceeding the demand evident in previous years. Widespread distribution of the coupons which make the holders available for more than $1000 worth of gift awards was made earlier this week and several merchants have already asked that more coupons be made available to them. Bean Dinner planners said that this coupon demand is highly indicative of the wholehearted support and interest in the association's annual affair.

Bill Coon in charge of allocating the display space for the various merchants reported that as of this date more demand has been made for tent and concession space than ever before. He said that a few display spaces are still available and advises that merchants who have not as yet contacted him relative to arrangements for space, do so immediately.

Committee members in charge of arrangements of the huge parade which is to open the annual bean dinner festival say that plans are now almost to the completion stage and that requests have been made of them at this early date for details and entry regulations.

This week also saw more names of cooperating merchants added to the list of those announced in last week's Record as supporters of the affair. These latest additions to the list also have available coupons which are used for the $1000 in prize awards made by the business association: Harold Ealy, Mgr. Elephant Lumber Store, 2348 W. Broad-st; K&H Sunoco Service Station, 2670 W. Broad-st; Ezzo's Barber Shop, 2820 W. Broad-st; Broad-Moor Dairy Store, 3058 W. Broad-st; Joe Cleaver Dry Cleaners, 2373 Sullivant-av; Anderton's Restaurant, 2776 W. Broad-st; Evelyn Swain, Buyer Fay Shop, 2388 W. Broad-st; Bob Strope Motor Sales, 2432 W. Broad-st; Stevens Realty Co., 1434 W. State-st.

Weeds Are Basis For Damage Suit

A neighborhood quarrel on the Hilltop over weeds growing in a S. Richardson-av yard found its way into Franklin County Common Pleas Court Tuesday.

Hazel Powers, 253 S. Richardson-av, asked $10,000 damages each of two neighbors, Mrs. James H. Streets, of 249 S. Richardson-av, and Mrs. William P. Graney of 257 S. Richardson-av, for "injury to her credit and reputation."

She contended that on last May 25 she was charged in Municipal Court with allowing "poisonous weeds" to grow in her yard. She said the complaints were filed by Mrs. Streets and Mrs. Graney.

After being "falsely and maliciously charged," Mrs. Powers said the court found her not guilty and dismissed the case on June 13.

Bellar Is Named Acting Director

Arthur Bellar, 326 S. Algonquin-av, is currently serving as acting director of public service in the absence of Director Elmer Keller who earlier this week departed for an extended cruise in the West Indies.

Mr. Bellar was recently appointed by Mayor James Rhodes to the post of deputy director of the department in charge of personnel.

Mrs. Chester Cramer Directs Hilltop's Largest PTA Group

Only a busy person could direct the activities of one of Hilltop's larges and important educational groups, the West Junior, Senior Parent Teachers Association. That's why Mrs. Chester C. Cramer, 188 S. Westmoor-av, was named to the post in the local organization of 1500 membership.

Mrs. Cramer, by virtue of her executive ability and radiant personality, comes to her new work, with a profound conviction that the local PTA is one of the forces for good in this community.

Marks of interest in Hilltop youth, so vital a part of her late husband's (Dr. C. O. Cramer) philosophy, are evident in Mrs. Cramer's civic ventures. Dr. Cramer, it will be recalled, spearheaded the all important Hilltop YMCA project in this locale.

Not only is the West High PTA largest in the city in membership, but occupies one of the top rungs of the country. Mrs. Cramer's gavel will lend additional impetus to the movement this year.

Public spirited in all her endeavors, her activities are legion. Modest and unassuming the new president comes to her new office concurrently serving her community in a great many other capacities. She is a member of the local YWCA Board; likewise on the South Settlement Board of this city; she heads the project committee for the Women's Auxiliary of the Columbus Academy of Medicine; was West Side residential chairman of the Community Chest two years ago; past president of the Nu Sugma Nu Woman's Club; had been chairman of various PTA committees including ways and means, and the program committee; is active in affairs at Glenwood Methodist Church. She is mother of Marilyn Cramer, 11B pupil at West High School.

Other officers and committees, who will assist Mrs. Cramer for the school year 1950-51 in the local PTA were announced this week and include: first vice-president, Mrs. Harvey Fenstermaker, 831 S. Harris-av; second vice-president, I. F. Young, West High School; secretary, Mrs. Albert Shade, 420 S. Richardson-av, and treasurer Pauline Sparrow, West Senior High School.

Council members for 1950-1951 are Mrs. H. C. Whipple, 2602 Valleyview-dr; Mrs. Earl Fenner, 762 S. Richardson-av, and Mrs. Jack Hostetter, 231 Eldon-av. Alternate council members are Mrs. Lawrence Seibert, 181 Lechner-av; Mrs. John G. Davis, 243 N. Harris-av, and Mrs. J. E. Galloway, 191 Haldy-av.

Survey To Start

The Hilltop Record is about to start a combined survey and subscription solicitation campaign on the Hilltop in connection with the installation of our new enlarged plant. We will need the services of a number of persons to handle certain assigned streets in a campaign to carry a very interesting offer to Hilltoppers. If you qualify and will devote a fair amount of time to this, we can use you. Call the Record office, RA. 1125 and make reservation for territory, then come in and talk it over with us. Ask for Mr. Cornwell.

Wolfe Offers Refrigerator Prize

Mrs. Gene Wolfe of Wolfe Electric Co., 2427 W. Broad-st displays the Model CE-11 Crosley Electric Refrigerator which is being offered as the top merchandise prize from that firm as an award at the Hilltop Bean Dinner on July 20.

Wolfe Electric Service Co., at 2427 W. Broad-st, is offering a Super Deluxe Shelvador refrigerator as their individual top merchandise prize to be given free at the occasion of the Hilltop Bean Dinner on July 20.

Gene Wolfe, owner of the firm, said that this refrigerator is a $359.95 deluxe model with over 10.5 cubic feet capacity. It will store 70 pounds of frozen foods and has most convenient food storage space of today because it was designed from the woman's angle, with more food in front, in sight and in reach.

Stressing the features of this top prize award by Wolfe Electric, Mr. Wolfe said, "There need be no more playing hide and seek looking for those bottles, etc, that are always back of something else. There's no need to worry about humid weather such as we have recently experienced. This Crosley Shelvador has a seasonal control which will eliminate doors sticking and freezing shut."

Mrs. Wolfe who assists in the operation of the firm asked of Hilltop housewives, "How do you like your butter, hard, soft or medium? This Shelvador refrigerator has a butter conditioner that you can control automatically to keep your butter just the way you want it. The entire butter keeper can be removed for easy cleaning."

Gene Wolfe, genial proprietor of the establishment pointed out that all that is necessary to win this top prize being awarded by his firm on July 20 is to fill out the coupon which appears on Page 2B of today's Record and deposit at Wolfe's Electric Service Store at 2427 W. Broad St. If additional coupons are desired they may be obtained at the electrical appliance establishment.

City Recreation Department To Hold City-Wide Pet Show

Saturday, June 24, the City Recreation Department is sponsoring a city-wide pet show. All youngsters on the Hilltop under 17 years of age are invited to enter their pets. It is requested, however, that all children under six be accompanied by at least one parent.

Registration blanks for this pet show are available at all city playgrounds and at the Recreation Office, Room 124, City Hall. It is hoped that all registrations will be completed by Friday, the 23rd, but late registrations will be accepted until 1 p. m. Saturday at the City Hall.

This year, as in the past, the show will be held at City Hall. Budd Sweeney of WHKC will be master of ceremonies and announces that the parade will start promptly at 1:30 p. m. All entrants and their pets are to assemble on the Broad Street side of City Hall where the parade will start. It will move West on Broad-st to Marconi Boulevard, north to Gay-st, east to Front-st, south to Broad-st, and back to the starting point.

Immediately after the parade the judging will begin. This year's ribbons are being provided by the Humane Society and will be awarded for: the most unusual pet, the prettiest pet, the smallest pet, the largest pet, the pet with the most tricks, the best costumed pet, the homeliest pet, and the best groomed pet In addition a grand champion and runner-up will receive trophies.

Judges for this year's show will be Phillip Stout, president of the recreation commission, Clara Barella of the Humane Society, Clyde Moore of the Ohio State Journal, Will Rannells, professor of fine arts of Ohio State and nationally known animal illustrator, and Joseph R. Jones, member of the city council.

This pet show promises to be a very interesting event with some unusual pets expected. In previous years monkeys, grasshoppers, ponies, alligators and even a 375 pound black bear have appeared along with a large assortment of dogs, cats, mice, birds, and other such pets. In addition to the animals entered by the children, the recreation department's traveling zoo will make its initial appearance of the season with 14 animals.

According to N. J. Barack, city recreation superintendent, it must be emphasized that each pet be kept under control at all times by the youngster who entered it. This may be done by using leashes, baskets, containers, or other suitable devices which permit constant, direct control of the pet.

Ownership Change Is Announced

Shown, left to right are: O. J. Trott, owner of the Trott's Super-Market on S. Sandusky-st., president; J. B. Sheakey, vice-president and meat buyer for the firm; and C. J. McDonald formerly with the A.&P. Tea Co., as secretary-treasurer and active manager of the store.

A surprise transfer of ownership of Kent's Super Market, 2976 W. Broad-st to the Trott Enterprises Inc. was made early this week and immediate possession made by the new owner O. J. Trott and his associates in the new firm.

Mr. Trott, president of the new firm, said that acquisition of the huge W. Broad-st super market was but the first step in an expansion program that is to eventually become city wide in its scope.

Said Mr. Trott, "The present combination of our stores on W. Broad-st and Sandusky-st will make available to us better buying power and ability to match or even lower prices in competition with any store in the city. The addition of this newest store furnishes us with the basic requirements necessary to greater expansion. The bakery department of the W. Broad-st market will furnish baked goods to the Sandusky-st store and the Sandusky-st establishment will in turn enable us better warehousing facilities for both stores. As a consequence both markets strategically located as they are will give our patrons the benefit of lower and better prices equal to any in the city."

Charles Kent, retiring owner of the W. Broad-st super market said "The sale was suddenly made and although I had made no plans toward selling the store I couldn't refuse the offer that was made by Mr. Trott and his associates. As for myself I plan to take a little rest. I hope my former patrons will all give to the Trott Market the admirable cooperation they have always given to me, and I wish to take this opportunity of thanking every one of them for their patronage and good wishes."

Details of the transaction have not yet been made entirely public but it is understood that the sale comprised the complete store stock, fixtures and good will. Mr. Kent still retains ownership of the building which houses this new super market.

Owners of the new firm are O. J. Trott as president, J. B. Sheakey, vice president, and C. J. McDonald, secretary-treasurer.

Please accept my sincere thanks for making me the recipient of the "Flowers of the Week" from the Hilltop Record.

I can assure you I appreciated it from our community paper which means much to the folks on the Hilltop.

Thanks again.

Sincerely,
Mary Walton.

"I wish to thank you for the beautiful flowers you sent me in honor of being selected as the outstanding "Citizen of the week." I enjoyed my work in connection with the All Sports Banquet, and appreciate being one of the two selected for that week.

Sincerely,
Joe Briggs.

Kiwanis Night at Red Bird Stadium last Thursday was a splendid success.

I returned to my desk wishing that I might personally congratulate you and all the others who helped United Kiwanis Clubs to send 150 needy, deserving youths to camp this summer. But now I feel that they are to be congratulated on their good fortune.

The benefits to be derived by the boys from this healthful experience is reward enough for us all.

On behalf of the boys for whom you stimulated public interest in this youth service project, I am happy to extend warmest thanks and appreciation.

Sincerely yours,
James E. Riley,
General Chairman United Kiwanis Clubs of Greater Columbus.

Pilot Club Meets At Sullivant Airport

"You're never too old to fly," might well be the attitude of the 91 members of the Over 50 Pilot Club who met Friday from all over Ohio at the Sullivant-av Airport, for the third annual reunion.

Guests of Manager Gomer Jones and Columbus members, the men made take-offs and landings at the airport, had a chicken dinner, talked about flying, then called it a day by winging home.

Sidney C. Howard of 336 E. Long-st, one of the oldest members, learned to fly when he was 54, and has been at it 10 years.

History Making Flight In 1910 Was First Commercial Air Shipment To Columbus

(Editor's Note: Each passing year of the air age increases the importance of airport facilities to a community. Sullivant Ave. Airport on the Hilltop was the site of one of the earliest airports in the state. This is the first of a series of articles by Myron T. Seifert telling the history and growth of aviation on the Hilltop.)

By Myron T. Seifert

With managers of airports, municipally owned in particular, converging on Columbus this week to "talk shop" the whole town, Hilltop especially, is aviation-minded. Many Hilltop aviation enthusiasts, including Gomer Jones, owner and manager of Sullivant Avenue Airport, will focus much interest and attention on the airport managers' convention when it convenes here.

The Hilltop has figured in the aviation picture early in the science of flying.

Forerunner of the celebrated Gomer Jones Sullivant Airport and Flying Service were other ventures that made the Hilltop pioneer in aviation and training circles.

First commercial flight into the city of Columbus followed Hilltop air-lanes 40 years ago when Phillip Parmalee, after breaking all cross-country records in flight Nov. 7, 1910, introduced the marvels of aerial navigation and aerial transportation to 3,000 Columbus enthusiasts at the Driving Park where he delivered to Max Morehouse, president of the Morehouse and Martens Company, the first shipment of merchandise ever to be transported from one firm to another straight through the air.

The aeroplane outstripped by miles a high speed automobile that sought to follow it from Dayton, broke the record for altitude sustained in a cross-country flight, rising to a height of 2,500 feet, and broke another record in the time in which it negotiated the distance of 62 miles, in 55 minutes if the time consumed in landing is figured. The average is better than a mile a minute and the time perhaps was the best ever made by a human being from Dayton to Columbus, traveling in any sort of device.

Parmalee alighted as fresh and self-possessed as if he had been brought in a hackney coach from a half-mile drive.

Shrieking whistles announced to nervously waiting ears, some time after 11 o'clock, that this strange craft had been sighted in the horizon and in a flash the streets and housetops were crowded with people. There was a scramble for streetcars, autos and all other conveyances. There began at once a stampede for the Driving Park, a race in which every form of vehicle made a strenuous and futile effort to beat the bird men, who, with engines humming merrily, negotiated better than a mile a minute, circled lightly to the south as he passed over the city, crossed the west fence of the Driving Park and then the east, returning over the east fence, and landed a little north of the center of the track enclosure of the Driving Park.

He had made 62 miles in 55 minutes, exclusive of the time taken in alighting.

There was a strange hush over the crowd and no one seemed to know what to do. The people did not know that the world's record of that time had been made and broken; that one of the finest flights in the brief history of aviation had been made that day; they only knew that for the first time they beheld a dream of the ages, a craft that successfully disputed the mastery of the air. One aged man standing near where the airship alighted was overheard to remark, "I never thought I would live to be this old."

Roy Knabenshee, who represented the Wright brothers at the track, made an observation from the judges' stand, just as the airship passed above it. Taking this as arriving time and eliminating the minutes consumed in the closing maneuvers and alighting the Dayton to Columbus transit was made in the astonishing time of 55 minutes. The estimated distance by road or railroad was 70 miles.

After slapping himself about the waist to get back his circulation and warmth which an elevation of 2,500 feet had deprived him, in company with Mr. Morehouse, Parmalee went to a restaurant and partook of an improvised lunch.

At 1 o'clock the exhibition flights were started.

The crowd kept coming all the time. Indeed a great many more came after Parmalee had alighted than were there to greet him.

After an hour's rest Parmalee again took his seat in the plane. Two assistants gave the propellers a preliminary whirl, the engines drummed and in an instant the whole structure moved forward on its rubber tired wheels for a second and then mounted into the air.

He gave the gaping multitudes who strained their necks to watch him, a thrill, by dashing downward and when a paltry 100 feet intervened between him and the earth, the monster would mount again, to the relief of all concerned.

On his second trip he took Mr. Morehouse, the first man in central Ohio to make an air trip. Mr. Morehouse said, "It was great. There was no more sense of fear than in a fast elevator."

After the exhibition the people were permitted to crowd around the plane, which was protected by soldiers so it would not be damaged.

Parmalee decided that it was too cold to fly back to Dayton, whereupon the plane was taken apart and shipped back to Dayton.

"Learn To Swim" Campaign Now On At Hilltop Pool

More than a hundred children flocked to the Hilltop Swimming Pool on N. Hague-av this week to enroll in the "Learn To Swim" campaign being conducted on a city wide basis by the American Red Cross in an effort to curb tragedies such as the one which occured in the south end of the city recently. Bob Case, manager of the Hilltop Pool has made the facilities of his establishment available to all youngsters of the Hilltop and West Side for the two day lessons each week under the direction of City Fireman James Seagle, 78 S. Richardson-av who is being assisted in the work by William Peterfy, Paul Navin, James Remington, Bud Dean and Ralph Burden.

Seagle urged that all children who can, attend the classes and learn to swim properly. He said that he had witnessed too many of these summer time tragedies which resulted when children did not heed the proper rules of swimming and safety.

Fire Protection Plans Discussed For Franklin Twp.

Fire protection for Franklin-twp was nearer realization this week following a meeting held in Franklin Township House at 3443 Sullivant-av, by fifty or more residents who met with trustees to discuss a new plan of fire protection for the area.

The meeting was held to get a sampling of viewpoints from scattered areas in the township as a means of determining a course of action to be taken in providing adequate fire protection to residents of Franklin-twp. This township is the only one in Franklin County which does not at the present time maintain a fire company of fire fighting equipment, according to a statement issued early this week.

Within the next few months however, Franklin-twp will have its own fire protection. A 500-gallon pumper truck is now on order and delivery is expected within 90 days. This truck although specifically designed for fighting rural fires is equipped in such a manner that it can be coupled up with any water supply source.

Anticipating the delivery of the new fire fighting truck within 90 days the plans as outlined during the meeting held last Wednesday also call for the organization of three fire companies on a volunteer basis and training for these companies to begin within the next 60 days.

It was pointed out that although there is but one truck on order, that completed plans call for the ordering of two or more trucks in the future and, that was the reason for now organizing the three companies of volunteer fire fighters to man the equipment, which would be housed in strategic places in the Franklin-twp area.

Hilltop Man Has Narrow Escape In Collision

Hilltopper George Redman, 27, of 298 Clarendon-av, narrowly escaped serious injury Friday when the empty gasoline truck he was driving was involved in a collision with an auto on Harrisburg-pk.

Sheriff's deputies said a car driven by Mrs. Blanche McCarley, 46, of 2499 Kline-rd, hit the rear of the double-trailered gasoline truck driven by Redman.

Impact of the collision caused the trailer to buckle and send the truck off the road. Redman escaped from the truck without injury, according to reports.

It was said that Mrs. McCarley was driving south on the three-lane highway in the center lane. Redman told sheriff's deputies he expected her to make a left turn and attmpted to swerve the truck out of her path.

Mrs. McCarley is reported in fair condition at Mt. Carmel Hospital where she was taken for treatment of severe lacerations about the face, left leg and chest.

ONLY $359.75

Also Available In Model NJ10 At $399.75

THE VERY LATEST . . . the very finest . . . of today's refrigerators offers you the advantage of having both a refrigerator and a home freezer in one cabinet.

But—when you decide on that type of refrigerator—you want to be sure that the freezer is a real home freezer . . . one that can maintain zero temperature at all times.

And you can be sure, when you buy the new, dependable General Electric Refrigerator-Home Freezer Combination.

This is what to look for. This is what you get.

Each compartment with individual cold control
Look for separate compartments, separate outside doors!

Top compartment is a real home freezer, because it's separately refrigerated, insulated all around, and has its own outside door.

A real home freezer, because it maintains zero temperature—for quick freezing foods and ice cubes and for storing up to 70 pounds of frozen foods (10-cu.-ft. model) or 53 pounds (eight cu.-ft. model).

A real home freezer, because its zero temperature keeps frozen foods in prime condition for as long as 12 months—four full seasons!

In lower compartment alone (either 8- or 10-cu. ft. model) there is fresh-food storage space equivalent to that in the conventional 8- or 10-cu. ft. refrigerator.

It is the last word in a spacious fresh-food refrigerator. Separately refrigerated, separately insulated, and with its own outside door!

It never needs defrosting! Dishes need not be covered! Cold is moisture-conditioned. Big, deep drawers keep fruits and vegetables just right! The butter conditioner, easily accessible in door, keeps butter at proper temperature for easy, wasteless spreading.

GENERAL ELECTRIC

A SEPARATE REFRIGERATOR PLUS A SEPARATE HOME FREEZER

You'll never forget . . . never regret . . . the day you buy this General Electric Combination. For the name GENERAL ELECTRIC means dependability . . . dependability based on an unsurpassed record for year-after-year performance.

More than 2,200,000 General Electric Refrigerators have been in service 10 years or longer!

And the chief reason, of course, is the famous General Electric sealed-in refrigerating system. Airtight and oiltight, this dependable system has never been excelled for efficient, economical operation . . . year in, year out.

8- AND 10-CUBIC FOOT MODELS

The General Electric Combination is available at your retailer's in both 8- and 10-cubic-foot models—one of them just right for your household. We think you'll agree they provide the most that's offered in a home refrigerator today.

Mrs. Mercer and Mrs. Hock are former residents of Briggsdale, where they were very active in school and church affairs.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Bush, 1888 Little-av, are the parents of a son, born June 11 at St. Ann's Hospital.

The W. W. Class of Briggsdale Church met Tuesday evening at the home of Mrs. John Grannan, 2319 Harrisburg-pk.

Sharon Martin, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Martin, 1865 Harrisburg-pk, appeared Sunday evening in Johnny Murphy's dance revue held at Central High School.

Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Daeunber, 1607 Reaver-ln, are announcing the arrival of a baby boy, June 17, at Mt. Carmel Hospital.

Members of Briggsdale Methodist Church are happy to have Rev. Edwin S. Jones as a full-time pastor for the coming year. Formerly Rev. Jones also served Jackson Chapel. Rev. E. W. Woodruff will now have charge of the chapel.

The Low Down On High Ridgers

By One of Them

We have some more predictions this week. My crystal ball is rather foggy and I can only see five years into the future. But here goes:

Whrr! Whrr! Aw, now I can see H. L. BEOUGHER with his powered motor grass shears. Ever since his wife got her dish washer, he insisted on making things easy on himself, too.

Look at the MURNANE family—television in every room so PAUL can see all the different games going on at one time. His wife insisted on linoleum after we wore the rugs threadbare running from one baseball game to another. Over taxation of brain and body brought him down to 100 lbs. Wouldn't know him from five years ago.

D. L. THOMPSON is pouring concrete into molds. He's making bird baths for the bird sanctuary that CHARLES LIND had operated since '53. It keeps them busy in their "spar-row" time.

We see MRS. GREENO with pull drapes all over her house, operated by one switch that works automatically. When the street lights go on the drapes are closed.

H. L. WATTS is in the "U-Drive" it business. He has a sign in front of his house and wonders why he can't strum up better business:

"Be hep—watch your step
Take our car—it can't go far"

MRS. GRANT O. BIRD is in the baking business. In front of her house plays a recording:

"If you know your company's coming
I'll bake you a cake."

HARRY PEARN sells new cars. He always liked anything with a motor in it, and since he liked the selling business he is crazy about his new occupation.

A. F. Vawters runs a newspaper establishment — The "Hi Ridge Herald." His boy is head manager of the circulation department.

SCHULTZ MARKET is now the "West Mound Super Help Yourself Market." We see Herman out there on the road directing traffic toward his parking lot. Their slogan is:

"Super Homeproducers . . . of Home Grown stuff
Stop and do your marketing and put it on the cuff."

(How much is this worth to you, Herman?).

LUCY HANAWALT is now the sky writer for Muntz. She has her own plane that was put together by neighbor NANZEL CLARK. I never trust these "assemble yourself" jobs. But one thing about the quarantee of this plane we are sure of: it will always come down—somehow!

MRS. C. F. CLARK now has a trailer. She calls it her "den" when she has her bridge club. She takes them out in the country and they play where it is nice and quiet—or is it—where there are women? Nothing like a change of scenery in this year of '55.

In fact mine's changed right now. Wifey just grabbed my crystal ball and took it out in the back yard and put it on a pedestal. You've seen these silver jobs that you look into to watch airplanes so you won't have to crane your neck? Well, she thinks this is one. Silly, isn't she?

'Think This Over'

By William "Doc" Campbell

If you have a "NICKNAME" you're certainly in a class that has been "friendly" to many persons . . . it may not signify a great deal, yet to me, a happy nickname is a sure test of fellowship.

The gangsters even "hold together" with terrible names until they "fall out."

The greatest nickname, that will always be uppermost in my mind is "TEDDY" ROOSEVELT. His "Rough Riders" of Spanish-American War fame . . . loved his daring fellowship and fair play, so that we, of today seldom call him Theodore . . . always "TEDDY" . . . never a bit of disrespect . . . only fellowship and affection and love. "IKE" Eisenhower, another daring personality . . . is "IKE" to millions . . . fellowship to the nth degree even as president of Columbia University. Can you beat that? "HONEST ABE" LINCOLN so democratic . . . so tender hearted . . . so immortal. Abe Lincoln, mostly.

"BABE" Ruth . . . classic of baseball. I, myself, do not know how he came, to be called "The Babe" . . . but what I do know is that he is not known by any other name . . . and worshiped by millions of kids . . . "Babe Ruth."

"Hell Maria" Dawes . . . former vice president of the United States . . . but a real guy, I'll bet.

"SANTA CLAUS" . . . why every dad has that nickname . . . old Nick . . . wonderful ole symbol of jollity.

"Buffalo Bill" . . . I saw him and Annie Oakley put on their stunt while a lad in Brooklyn . . . "Buffalo Bill," and how he threw, while galloping on a beauty of a horse . . . those glass balls for Annie Oakley to HIT . . . and NEVER a miss. "Old Hickory" Jackson . . . tough character in a way, but reliable . . . as President of the United States. So I might go on and on! Of course the use of a "nickname" for the proper name of a noted person is all the more marvelous. I again emphasize . . . no disrespect . . . but fellowship . . . close intimacy with the masses. When you reach that point . . . then you can "pass on" . . . even if you do not attain . . . "immortality" by your works. The great ones who get "NICKNAMES" are usually fair, square, and can BEND to the "common touch" . . . not afraid of what others think. It is a sign of true comradeship . . . and it is because the person with a 'name" is BELOVED for HUMAN UNDERSTANDING.

Don't be cynical over what I have written . . . be sincere in your fellowship, with friendly greetings . . . and perhaps YOU may, sometime in your life, have a "NICKNAME" along with your real baptismal name.

THINK THIS OVER.

Medicine King

SENATOR DUDLEY J. LeBLANC

HADACOL sales or shipments have reached the amazing total of 5,000,000 bottles since January 1, more of any one tonic than has ever been sold in so small an area in so short a time.

Senator Dudley J. LeBlanc, Founder and President of The LeBlanc Corporation, Lafayette, Louisiana, makers of HADACOL, said the sales and shipments would have been far greater if his company could have obtained enough material to meet the demands.

"We have been several hundred thousand bottles behind in shipments since January 1," said Senator LeBlanc. "It looks like we just cannot catch up because every time we increase production the demand increases."

Senator LeBlanc credited the South's heaviest newspaper schedule with much of the success of HADACOL.

What's more fun than helping your kids?

It's a great thrill when your youngsters come to you for help!

But it's nothing compared with the deep and lasting satisfaction of seeing them help themselves - - - because you've taught them how.

Certainly there's no more important way a child can help himself than by helping mother in her shopping chores, especially when shopping on the Hilltop means it's close and convenient to home.

Then too, you are helping yourself as well as your neighbors who have an interest and pride in your community. They know that what is good for them is good for you.

The strength and support of your community through worthwhile civic improvements is largely made possible through the willing cooperation of these same Hilltop business establishments.

So help yourself, help your community. Your purchases from these reliable business firms will help maintain a community with civic pride.

DRIVE CAREFULLY

Drive slower on snow or slippery pavements than you think necessary for absolute safety; ten miles an hour is frequently the maximum safe speed. Always be alert for pedestrians or for children on sleds; remember that you may be powerless to stop your car in a short distance. Avoid the need for sudden stops; you may skid.

How to Waste Time

We Americans are people who don't like to waste time. We pride ourselves on speedy work, and we don't even slow down completely on vacations: "That's a good place for a rest," we tell each other, "Something doing every minute."

Of course, we Americans are also noted for heart trouble. The tick of the clock takes first place over the beat of the heart, and too often these days, much too often, the clock wins.

Think this over a minute. Then, if you will, suppose sometime this week you deliberately waste a little time. Drive out into the country until you find a church that sets in off the road. Perhaps it stands in a grove of maples or elms, or on some windswept hill. Its location doesn't matter, for God's spirit dwells in them all.

Stop at this church. Just a few minutes. That's all. You can feel tension drop away. For here is an abiding peace—the wind is sweet; the sounds of the countryside soft; and the view satisfying to the soul.

Just a little church on a piece of God's green earth. Wasting time? Perhaps you may think so. But you are trading only a few moments for the opportunity of meditating with God as He opens the vista of eternity before your eyes. Without the church doors as within them, any man may commune with his Maker if he will but take the time. And such time is never wasted.

My meditation of Him shall be sweet: I will be glad in the Lord. Ps. 104:34.

The Rea-Bow Association News

By Dorothy Fowler

The social sponsored by the Franklin County Social Club in Rea-Bow Hall Saturday, June 17, was enjoyed by all. Round and square dancing, contests for ladies and gentlemen, with birthdays and anniversaries, made the evening so pleasant that all stayed after the last notes of "Home Sweet Home" had faded into the distance. Many have requested that George Wolfe, president of the association, continue these county socials. Arrangements are being made to grant these requests.

The following were guests of the social club Saturday night: Mr. and Mrs. Harry Thacker, June Arthur, P. E. Reed and Peggy Toy.

Next Saturday, June 24, the association will hold its June jitney supper, from 5:30 to 7:30. Mrs. Thomas Taylor is chairman and reports a very good response from her co-chairmen. This gives the friends of Rea-Bow a chance to enjoy a fine, wholesome, home cooked dinner at a cost much less than if they had eaten at home. Entertainment will be under the direction of Lawrence Whitaker, a blind veteran of World War I.

After the supper, the usual social will prevail, with round and square dancing until 12 midnight.

What Has Happened To Church Leagues?

A few years back it was a problem to be able to accommodate all the teams that wanted to enter play in the West Church Softball Leagues. Today a bare handful of teams are available to be called a West Church League.

Whereas there were once three West Side Church Leagues with as many as 20 teams, there are today only six church teams west of the river.

What has happened to church league baseball? Has it become too costly? Why have churches given up the sponsorship of [illegible]h teams?

These are questions being asked by those interested in such leagues. Your comment on the subject will be welcomed if addressed to the Record.

Korean Outbreak Revives Memories of War At Corregidor for Former Army Nurse

"I'll go again, if I have to, but someone is going to have to get us a baby-sitter," is the way Mrs. Joseph Farmer, 3111 Porter-st, expressed her feelings regarding the possibility of the United States becoming embroiled in another conflagration as a result of the Russian invasion of the American sponsored Republic of Southern Korea.

Mrs. Farmer, nee Sally Durette, read the news of the attack with some apprehension. She recalled her experiences as an Army nurse during the last war.

She entered the army at Fort Riley, Kan., upon graduating from Nazareth College of Nursing, Louisville, Ky., her home town, in 1937, and was transferred to Fort Stotsenburg, Pampanga, Luzon, in June, 1941.

At the time of the Japanese sneak attack at Pearl Harbor in December, that year, Mrs. Farmer was stationed at Bataan. With the Japanese advance, she moved to Corregidor, where she was captured in May, 1942.

Held a prisoner in the tunnel there for two months, she was moved to Santo Thomas, Manila, and held prisoner until her release by the American forces on Feb. 3, 1945.

Her worst memories while serving as a nurse for army personnel and civilians was being hungry.

"The thing that struck me," she said, referring to her rescue from the Japs, "was that the Americans looked huge. Especially after getting used to the small Japanese. The First Cavalry men were so nice, especially after the strict discipline to which we were accustomed.

"The 37th Division came in three days later. If they hadn't come in, the First Cavalry Division would have been in the same position we were in, they were completely surrounded. The 37th reinforcements under General Beightler finally held."

Her Certificate of Service states that she has honorably served the United States from 11 May, 1937, to 21 December, 1945. Decorations and citations include the Bronze Star Medal, The Distinguished Unit Badge with two clusters, The American Campaign Medal, The Asiatic-Pacific Campaign Medal with two stars, The World War II Victory Medal, The American Commendation Ribbon and the American Defense Ribbon with one star. Record Offers 5% Debentures

Completion of the organization of The Hartley Printing & Publishing Co. is being announced this week. The firm, publishers of The Hilltop Record, has been incorporated under the laws of Ohio with authority to issue $100,000 in common stock, $100,000 in 5% preferred stock and $50,000 in debentures.

The debentures are now being offered for sale and anyone interested should contact C. Carlton Hartley. The debentures are issued in denominations of $500 for a period of 10 years at 5%, payable semi-annually.

C. Carlton Hartley has been named president and treasurer of the firm with W. E. Ferguson as secretary. Members of the board of directors include Hartley, Ferguson, Dr. R. J. Miller, Charles Kent, Paul Knospe and Robert M. Draper.

A one floor addition providing 1800 square feet of additional floor space has just been completed and is now being occupied by the printing plant.

A new 24 page Wood Cosmopolitan newspaper press, the finest of its kind, will arrive at the local plant some time this week and will be erected within the next three weeks. Numerous other pieces of new printing equipment are also being added.

Within a few weeks the firm will be in a position to produce several additional publications.

Bean Dinner Parade Plans Are Ruled Out

As final plans for the seventh annual Hilltop Bean Dinner are being drawn it was disclosed late Wednesday that the parade which has always marked the opening of festivities for the annual affair is definitely out.

Russell Carter, chairman of the Hilltop Business Association committee in charge of the bean dinner said today that, "Due to the extra activities which have been planned for the bean dinner and the extension of time to a two-day affair, many of the business men find it a physical impossibility to make plans also for entries in the parade and the personnel necessary to plan and manage it."

Carter however pointed out that while plans for the parade have been shelved that there are other activities which will more than compensate for lack of the parade.

He said that plans are now being formulated for a huge free outdoor wrestling show on one evening of the affair. This wrestling show which would be put on by the Al Haft enterprises would bring to the Westgate Park affair top flight wrestling stars and would consist of two to three matches as well as a tag team match. Final plans for this newest innovation to the bean dinner have not been completed.

Boy and Girl Scouts have also been invited to participate in the affair by display of handicraft displays. Camp Fire Girls and the National Guard are also expected to participate.

As the date draws nearer for the Bean Dinner of July 19 and 20 space for display purposes by various merchants along the 500 foot midway is definitely at a premium and indications were that after this week no more would be available.

New Municipal Golf Course On Hilltop Being Prepared

Should there be another PGA Golfing Tournament played in Columbus at any time in the future there is the strong possibility that Hilltoppers would be closer to the fray and more interested in the activity. This feeling was evidenced this week as workmen continued with plans for the improvement of the site for the new municipal golf course at Wilson and Trabue-rds.

Discing and harrowing of the 200 acre plot of ground is now being carried on at the Hilltop location and seeding operation for fairways and greens will be made later in the fall. The water supply question has been answered by the plan to drill two wells as source of water supply.

Decision to build the wells was made after consideration was seriously given to piping of water from city mains and also piping of water from the Scioto river. Both however, were discarded in favor of the wells because of the greater stability of wells as a source of supply.

Should there be no other delays the new municipal golf course should be ready for play by time the 1951 season rolls around, according to well informed sources.

If and when the rough edges are smoothed out, Columbus is in line for one of the finest municipal golf courses in the country.

Some of the ground work has begun—but several major battles must still be fought and won before the course becomes an actuality.

This season is definitely out, but city recreation department officials hopefully point to the start of the 1951 season for the grand opening.

Biggest road block at the moment is money since no funds have definitely been allotted for the job.

Robert Trent Jones, nationally prominent golf course architect from New York City, has been hired to lay out the course. Because of various unseen problems that won't arise until work begins, Mr. Jones can offer no estimated cost for the project.

Jones built an 18-hole course at Myrtle Beach, N. C., for $100,000 but has built several others for as high as $400,000.

His impressive record as a golf course designer includes handling all work for New York City and New York State parks. He built Peachtree Country Club in Atlanta, Ga., for Robert Tyre (Bobby) Jones last summer and has contracts to construct courses at Cornell, Colgate and the U. S. Military Academy.

Jones recently completed a 36-hole layout at Nassau, N. Y., and is top consultant for the Augusta, Ga., Country Club where the famed Master's Professional Tournament is held and at Wing-

WLW-C Mobile Television Unit To Be Feature of Annual Bean Dinner

A veritable studio on wheels—that's WLW-C's mobile bus television unit which is to make its appearance at the two-day celebration on the Hilltop Bean Dinner on July 19 and 20 at Westgate Park.

The unit which is used for remote telecasts will be hooked up at the bean dinner in what is known as a "Jeep Set-up" in which visitors to the Hilltop's annual affair will be enabled to see themselves on the many television set screens which will be on display at several of the merchants' booths.

Earlier hopes were expressed that the television scenes at the bean dinner would be beamed out to all central Ohio but the television unit will broadcast to only those sets in the immediate park area.

Tom Gleb ay of the WLW-C staff will act as the master of ceremonies with the $100,000 unit at its appearance on July 19 and 20.

With a wheelbase of 218 inches, the bus is 32 feet, 11 inches in length, and has a 114 HP engine, with four speeds forward. It can carry eight passengers, including the driver, in addition to all the equipment which is stored at all times in the especially designed interior. The baggage compartment has room for six cable reels and these reels, with over 1,500 feet of cable, two TV cameras, a portable micro-wave transmitter unit, sound equipment, monitoring and switching devices, controls and power supply—all movable—are packed in the bus.

On location, television equipment may be assembled atop the bus on a specially-designed deck with a non-skid tread permitting camera operation without slipping, or cameras and transmission gear may be planted as far from the bus as 500 feet, still using the unit as a control. The two rear portholes permit cables to pass from outside cameras to control booth.

Fluorescent lighting inside provides ample illumination for technicians to operate the equipment under any weather conditions. The bus can make long jaunts without refueling, depending on the 120-gallon tank for gasoline.

The unit weighs more than 23,000 pounds, and despite its width, is maneuverable enough to turn in a radius of 44 feet.

In addition to baseball games, the unit has been used successfully in televising football games and special events.

This mobile unit was dedicated by Governor Lausche upon its arrival at WLW-C on Apr 12.

Friend - Fritz Vows Exchanged

Mr. and Mrs. Don Fritz

Miss Mary Louise Friend, 30 N. Powell-av, became the bride of Mr. Donald Lewis Fritz, Port Huron, Mich., in a double ring ceremony held in St. John Evangelical Lutheran Church, June 18. Rev. Walter Fritz, father of the bridegroom, assisted by Rev. C. T. Langholz, performed the ceremony before the altar, decorated with palms, white gladioli and seven-branch candelabra.

The bride, escorted by her father, Mr. Russell E. Friend, Sr., wore an ivory satin gown with seed pearls in a tiny leaf design at the neckline, a fitted bodice coming to a point in front with a bustle in back and a cathedral train, the long sleeves coming to a point over her hands. A fingertip veil of illusion held by a tiara of seed pearls added to the beauty of the bride, who carried a corsage of white carnations with a white orchid.

Miss Dorothy Fritz, the maid of honor, was gowned in pale yellow and wore a yellow picture hat. She carried a bouquet of yellow roses and blue delphinium. The bridesmaids, Mrs. Ruth Renico, in apple green, Miss Betty Hines, cousin of the bride, in blue, and Mrs. Esther Kilgore, in orchid, had identically styled gowns of marquisette over brocaded satin. Anita Louise Moore, cousin of the bride, was the flower girl. She wore blue marquisette over taffeta.

The bridegroom had as his best man Mr. Russell Friend, Jr., while Mr. Dick Fritz, Mr. Bob Pflueger, Mr. Ted Becker, Mr. Bill Bash, Mr. Don Boyd and Mr. Ray Kilgore were ushers.

Mrs. Friend, mother of the bride, wore a gray lace gown over taffeta with matching lace mitts. Her hat of lavender net and shoes of a matching color set off a purple orchid corsage. Mrs. Fritz, mother of the bridegroom, wore a gown of primrose crepe with cap sleeves. A white picture hat matched her other accessories and also her carnation corsage.

Hostesses at the reception in the church basement were Mrs. Lena Miller, Mrs. Lucille Hines, Miss Doris Hoon, Mrs. Pauline Miller, Mrs. Phyllis Wolf, Mrs. Ruth Mitchell, Mrs. Virginia Minnameyer, Mrs. Vi Herbert, Mrs. Mildred Farris and Miss Grace Rausch.

The couple left for a two weeks honeymoon in northern Michigan. After July 16 the couple will make their home in Hialeah, Fla., where Mr. Fritz will serve as pastor of St. Luke's Lutheran Mission.

Court of Last Resort Champions Cause of Justice and Right

Emile Reiss

Much attention has been focused recently upon a volunteer organization of men from various walks of life, who have, through their combined efforts done much to further the ends of justice and clear away the shadows that becloud many court cases. This organization, The Ohio Court of Last Resort, as it is popularly known in the public prints has recently drawn the public's attention by interceding in cases of men condemned to death in Ohio Penitentiary.

Recently, however, more interest has been shown in this organization on the West Side by virtue of the fact that a local resident, Emile Reiss, 1909 Sullivant-av, has been appointed as attorney for the Ohio Court of Last Resort, which is pledged to investigation of any case wherein there might exist the possibility of a miscarriage of justice.

This court, which is a completely volunteer organization, draws upon the skills and experience of men trained in criminology, science, medicine, psychiatry, photography, investigation and law. Whenever a case is brought to the attention of the group in which they feel there are issues that might indicate a transgression against the causes of justice, they quietly move into the picture and ferret out the true facts in order that they be sure that impartial justice is meted out according to due process of law.

With the light of publicity recently focused upon himself as counsel for the Ohio Court of Last Resort and upon being questioned as to the operations, organization and scope of the group's work Mr. Reiss stated, "First of all the general public should be made aware of the fact that this organization is not a vigilante organization created for the purpose of trying to supercede or overthrow court jurisdiction. We operate as 'Amecus Curiae', or in other terminology, as a friend of the court. Our services are rendered without charge to anyone. We operate solely on the principle of impartially upholding justice and right.

"There is a definite need for civilians to take an active interest in the administration of justice. To understand the operations of a court of jurisprudence and to take cognizance of the fact that quite frequently justice is not served according to due processes of law as guaranteed by the Bill of Rights and our Constitution.

Mr. Reiss pointed out that the present chairman of the [redacted] Court of Last Resort is also a man well known to many of the West Side. Edwin Yantis, former head of the Criminal Identification Bureau at London Prison Farm, serves as the chairman. He is widely known as a criminologist in Ohio. Another member of the board is Howard Davis of Bryden-rd.

Mr. Reiss as attorney for the court has a background as a criminal lawyer over a period of 28 years with his practice being carried out in Ohio and Michigan over that period.

Luck is the idol of the idle. LUCK IS NOT ENOUGH. Auto accidents whether your fault or the fault of the other driver, may be long costly affairs. Protect yourself fully. See or call JOE BRIGGS, 2596 Sullivant Ave. RA. 3194.

—ON BEING A "GUINEA PIG"!

DOCTORS ARE BEING BESIEGED AND BESOUGHT by many patients to "let's try so-and-so, Doctor," because journalistic writers have so popularized some spectacular drugs and treatments.

By instinct, coaching and hard-earned experience your Doctor has learned that the scientific approach to treatment is the safest, and prefers to keep the "guinea pigs" in the medical schools and research laboratories.

Scientific research and conclusions on drugs, pharmaceuticals, biologicals and vitamins are the Doctor's guide. Application to your particular case history, your particular condition, your particular body determines their effectiveness. Leave diagnosis and treatment to your Doctor's judgment.

● SCIENTIFIC RESEARCH means painstaking search for facts, keen analysis, precise measuring of cause and effect, grasp of subtle relationships in nature.

Ohio Funeral Group Elects Jerry Spears

Hilltopper Jerry G. Spears, 2693 W. Broad-st, head of the Jerry Spears Funeral Home, at the same address, was elected to the presidency of the Ohio Funeral Directors Association, last week during the 70th annual convention of that group in Cleveland. Mr. Spears, pior to the election, was first vice president of the organization. He succeeds J. A. Shaid of Massillon.

Other officers elected to fill posts in the association are, vice-presidents, Wendell P. Grisier of Stryker, Austin Richards of Springfield, and Homer Leffler of Middletown. Named recording secretary was R. C. Landon of Geneva, and treasurer, Robert Mock of New Concord.

A code of ethical practice was adopted by the association during the convention. The code sets standards on advertising restraint, the confidential nature of business relationships and support of legal regulations.

Golf Course

foot Country Club in Maranoneck, N. Y., where the recent Walker Club matches were played.

A progress report of actual development on the proposed course shows:

Ground has been cleared and more than 150 acres plowed.

Jones has surveyed the land, taken aerial maps and submitted a detailed drawing of the course and clay models of the greens. He has also staked out the entire course.

He has also introduced a new idea in golf course designing for the Columbus course. Instead of the customary 18 holes, the new course will have 22. It will resemble a normal 18-hole lay-out but each of the par threes will have alternate and identical tees, greens and fairways. If one is jammed with players, you simply move on to the next—thus, eliminating golf's biggest headache, an over-crowded course.

Jones further promises to make the course intricate enough for top professionals by constructing extra large tees and greens, and interesting and easy enough for the duffer by adjusting yardage to suit. Present plans call for the course to extend over 6740 yards, have a par 72.

addition she has received a Treasury Citation for aiding in the selling of United States War Bonds. One of her prize possessions is a personally autographed photo of General Jonathan Wainwright, who fought at Bataan.

Since her leave from active duty, Mrs. Farmer was instrumental in forming the Diocesan Council of Catholic Nurses and has become a member of the American Defenders of Bataan and Corregidor (A.D.B.C.), of Boston, a national group.

Now, however, she's put away her scrapbooks, citations, personally autographed photos, and captain's bars for a real job — that of keeping house for her husband and sons, Joseph Lydian, seven months, and Hugh, two years of age.

Bike Sidecar Rumble Seat

Donnie Schrade, 14-month-old Hilltopper of 920 S. Hague-av, is the envy of dozens of other neighborhood tots whenever he and his mother, Mrs. Karl L. Schrade go for a bike ride. Donnie rides in style in a fancy, specially built sidecar designed and built by his father of spare airplanes parts.

The novel bike sidecar is a carryover from the days of gasoline rationing when the Schrade family, then consisting of Mr. and Mrs. Schrade and a daughter, Cherylin, now age 5, used bicycles and the special sidecar to travel without benefit of gas rationing coupons.

The sidecar not only delights the youngsters in the Schrade family but also attracts other children of the community who demand rides whenever Donnie goes for a spin.

Paid Secretary Planned For Parent Group

A proposal to create the office of an executive secretary for the correlation of activities and business and to bear responsibility for planning and promotion, was introduced at a meeting of the Hilltop Parents Association at their regular meeting of June 20. The meeting was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Wiggs, 33 S. Oakley-av.

The executive secretary post as proposed would require an amendment to the association's constitution in order that they secure a professional employe on a paid basis.

Other business transacted by the association saw plans formulated for a guest speaker from the Community Chest at the September meeting and agreement made to send Mrs. Jean Nichols as a representative to a meeting of the Independent Business Men's Association concerning the welfare of the blind.

Plans were also outlined for the sponsorship of a miscellaneous shower to aid Mrs. Helen Shelton and family who were recent fire victims.

The July meeting of the association will be at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Jesse Nichols, 407 Highland-av.

MALABAR FARM TOUR

YWCA adult program department is sponsoring a tour of Louis Bromfield's Malabar Farm on Sunday, July 2, as a feature of the annual Twilight Tours.

Mr. Bromfield and his farm manager, Mr. Wiant, will conduct the sight-seers through the buildings. Excerpts from Pleasant Valley, Mr. Bromfield's book on Malabar, will provide explanatory stories during the tour.

City Schedules Bicycle Rodeo For Saturday

City Recreation Director N. J. Barack announces a city-wide Bicycle Rodeo to be held on Saturday, July 1, at Franklin Park.

There will be standard races from 100 yards to one mile and special events such as relays, obstacle races, riding a straight line, and a contest for the best decorated bike.

Eliminations for this city-wide event will be held on the city playgrounds Monday and Tuesday, June 26 and 27, and sectional eliminations will be held the latter part of the week. Only the winners from the four sectional contests held at Goodale Park, Westgate Park, Schiller Park and Franklin Park may enter the Saturday championship events.

SIX TO ATTEND CAMP

Six Hoge Memorial Presbyterian young people will leave July 3 for a week's stay at Camp Indianola, near Lancaster, for the annual Westminster Fellowship Junior High camping period. They are James Lewis, Martha Merriman, Carolyn Smith, Judy Smart, Katherine Thomas and Frances Lee Wright.

Three Hilltop Navy Men Join Sixth Fleet Summer Cruise

Three of the Hilltop's men in blue recently visited Lisbon, Portugal, aboard two ships, which are enroute to join the Sixth Fleet in the Mediterranean for a four-month summer cruise.

Lt. (jg) Robert W. Watkins, USN, husband of Mrs. B. J. Watkins of 354 N. Warren-av, and Jack W. Mithoff, electrician's mate fireman, USN, son of Mr. and Mrs. O. L. Mithoff of 643 Nashoba-av, are both serving aboard the aircraft carrier USS Leyte. Robert J. Knox, electrician's mate fireman, USN of 220 S. Brinker-av, is serving aboard the rador picket destroyer USS Benner.

During the four day visit, the men were given liberty to visit such outstanding showplaces as St. George's Castle, 800-year-old Moorish stronghold; Belem Palace, former home of the Portugese Royal Family; century-old Jeronimous Cathedral, erected to commemorate Vasco de Gamma's voyage of discovery around the Cape of Good Hope, and many others.

Kiwanis Baseball Game Receipts Show Increase Over Previous Year

Treasurer of the United Kiwanis Clubs of Greater Columbus, Thomas R. Laughran, today informed Ralph Riley, general chairman of the Kiwanis Ball Game Committee, that net proceeds of the June 8th Kiwanis Night at Red Bird Stadium were $5,657.52 from an attendance totaling 9,373 fans, of whom 1747 were youngsters in the bleachers who marched in the big Parade of American Youth.

Displaying countless national colors and unit banners, the paraders entered the stadium at 8:00 p. m. to the martial strains of the 100-piece, high stepping West High School Band. Then followed a heart-warming procession of Senior Scouts, Girl Scouts, Boy Scouts, Cub Scouts, Brownies, Camp Fire Girls, Big and Little Brothers, American Legion Baseball Teams and another snappy musical group, the Southway American Legion Drum and Bugle Corps.

Pre-game ceremonies included introductions of the Ball Game Committee by Dwight Blouser, chief of the United Kiwanis Clubs. Committeemen were Ralph Riley, Emory Glander, J. Max McConagha, Jack Sensenbrenner, Paul Ahern Kelly and Thomas R. Loughran.

The excellent results of the game led general chairman, Ralph Riley, to announce that with a larger net profit from the game over last year when $5,515.30 was realized, the Kiwanians expect to do even more for needy children. Applications for the two weeks camping experience at the Big Brother Camp are being accepted for investigation now. The first group of boys will leave July 7 for the Hocking Hills. The second group will go July 26.

The Rea-Bow Association News

By Dorothy Fowler

The jitney supper sponsored by the association in Rea-Bow Hall, Saturday, June 24, was very successful. After the supper those present were entertained by Pogue the Magician and the golden voice of Marjorie Thompson W. W. Marot was at the piano.

Following this entertainment, the Franklin County Social Club sponsored its second social in the hall. Music was by Everett Gallager, John Worden and Bob Gains. The playground was open and under the supervision of Jack Young and Cleo Irvin. The swings and sliding boards had a line of youngsters waiting their turn.

Mr. and Mrs. Norman Brokamp and George Wolfe provided the calling for the square dancing, which was held both in the hall and on the outdoor platform. It was "Happy Birthday" for Eric Scott, "Skipper" Scott, Homer Freeman, Betty Bruce, Joann Rayburn and Larry, Donald and Nancy Young. Anniversaries were also sung for Mr. and Mrs. Harry Thacker. Games and contests were held for all.

Next Saturday, July 1, the Franklin County Social Club will again be in full charge of the social, and at a special meeting of the association, held June 22, it was decided to turn all socials over to the county. Social Club MC will be named at 8:30 each Saturday from among those present. No admission is charged, dance beginners are welcome, and the playground will be open only to those children whose parents attend the social.

Saturday, July 8, the club will hold a carnival night in Rea-Bow Hall, with spot and balloon dances, along with other games. The men have been instructed to wear overalls, the ladies house dresses or slacks. No intoxicating liquors are permitted.

The Rea-Bow Improvement Association will hold its regular July meeting Wednesday, the 5th. As this will be the first anniversary of the ground breaking of the new hall, as well as the birthday of George Wolfe, founder and lifetime president of the association, special events are planned. Norman Brokamp will be MC for the event.

At the June 20 special meeting W. S. Brown, Franklin County justice of the peace, was guest chairman.

Rea-Bow Hall is located at Whitehead and Clarendon-av in the Rainbow Addition (south of Mound-st). All are welcome—members or non-members.

Kids Follow Pony; Westgate Mothers Cry "Kidnapers"

The Hilltop intersection of N. Huron-av and Grace-st was a scene of turmoil last Thursday when neighborhood mothers called police with a cry of "kidnappers."

Cause of the consternation was a pony being used as a "prop" by a photographer and the fascination of the youngsters for the animal. The photographer had appeared at the intersection in the morning and was offering pictures of the neighborhood children.

Several of the mothers in the vicinity were unaware of the photographer's presence in the neighborhood. When he left the intersection, many of the children followed him and his "prop", the pony.

Hurried and frantic calls were made to the police when the mothers found their children missing. A quick check by officers soon located the missing children and calmed the worried mothers.

Two New Weed Killers Ready For Ohio Use

Many are tried, but few are chosen!

That's the way Dr. C. J. Willard, professor of agronomy at Ohio State University, reviews the new weed control chemicals available this year for Ohio farmers.

After extensive tests in 1949, he told a Farm and Home Week audience that only two—2, 4, 5-T and TCA—can be recommended for use in Ohio.

Close relative of 2, 4-D, the new chemical, 2, 4, 5-T, is effective on many woody plants that failed to respond to 2, 4-D. Most important of these are osage orange hedge and blackberries. It is also more effective than 2, 4-D on poison ivy.

TCA, abbreviation for trichloroacetic acid, is the most effective grass killer so far developed, according to Dr. Willard. It is particularly effective on quack-grass. It seems most effective when applied at the rate of 50 pounds per acre to the soil after the quack-grass sod is plowed.

Since TCA is not greatly selective, it can not yet be recommended for use in taking weeds out of any growing crop.

When applied to fresh-cut stumps of many hardwoods, 2, 4, 5-T will prevent sprouting. As the chemical is selective, it will not kill grass in which these woody plants are growing.

Dr. Willard reported that 2, 4-D is now being used on millions of acres throughout the United States. In Ohio it is used to take weeds out of wheat or oats in which no clover or alfalfa is sown, to take broad-leaved weeds out of corn, and to take dandelions and similar weeds out of corn, and to take dandelions and similar weeds out of lawns.

He said chemical weed killers of this type will never replace cultivation entirely. Some weeds in crops will not be killed by any selective herbicide, and if these weeds are not killed by cultivation they will over-run the field in a few years.

Good Taste On The Air . . .

The warnings sent out by the Federal Communications Commission to television broadcasters that they must maintain standards of taste and decency may not be necessary in view of the good conduct of most of those who operate television stations but they are, nevertheless, timely.

Regulation of radio and television is necessary but every effort should be made to avoid anything like rigid censorship. Because of the impact of these new agencies of information and entertainment upon the family group, the nation has an interest in the type of programs broadcast over the ether.

While we do not believe that intelligent and stable citizens will give their time and attention to improper and indecent programs, there is always an element of the population anxious to wallow in dirt. Moreover, children of tender years, operating home-receiving sets, would inevitably get mixed up in the smut and filth.

We think regulations, designed to protect the listening and seeing public, should be limited as far as possible to those things which offend public taste and conscience. It should not extend to anything like a ban on blood-and-thunder narratives and programs of this ilk which cause discussion but which cannot be unanimously condemned.

'Think This Over'

By William "Doc" Campbell

The Power of Enthusiasm

Contagion! We ordinarily shy away from anything detrimental to our health . . . yet the contagion of enthusiasm is so hilarious and sustaining, that for example, youth at a football game are so actually crazy with joy . . . and as has occurred . . . bleachers have fallen . . . with injuries, because of it.

Enthusiasm . . . if you like grand opera . . . listen to the "bravos" yelled by the "Gallery Gods" at an Italian night at the Metropolitan opera. I thrill at my radio, just to hear them in their glorious enthusiasm. Base ball fans get so "het up" that they sometimes . . . verbally . . . mob a referee or umpire, because of "enthusiasm for their side!"

The quiet enthusiasm of a church membership for their church. But, truly to me, I like, live, vigorous enthusiasts . . . not fanatics . . . yet tolerant of others, in their pursuit of happiness.

The other day a good business man said to me, while we were in pleasant agreement, that "if we relied just on enthusiasm . . . business would wither," but I differed with him, replying that all great enterprises, business or spiritual, could NOT survive unless we had exciting enthusiasm . . . and I mean real enthusiasm behind them. Biographies of great souls in any century show us the "fire" that is back of their goal, and indeed made it possible to succeed . . . not alone, of course, but in conjunction with other positive attitudes.

The following story is right up to the minute. My twelfth year camp group of fellows getting "all set" for the annual trek to the Adirondack mountains was full of psychology. For over five years we had a simple ritual—red candle about ten inches long in a socket, always placed in the center of a card table and lighted each meeting (every two weeks after January) by different fellows. We called it "THE FIRE OF ENTHUSIASM" . . . and it worked! Always it was eagerly lit at the beginning of our meeting. Today, June 5, it has burned into the socket of the silver candleholder, symbolizing the finish of "Notes and camp laws on behavior, co-operation, etc., at camp."

It was so simple a thing . . . but its implication crystallized in focus, all our divergent views . . . it assited MY effort to have a planned order at camp, without sponling theindividual personality of each of the seven fellows chosen this year for that 1500 mile glorious adventure.

So, you see, enthusiasm DOES "START MATTERS". It would be a poor group or groups if we merely just "talked, etc." I offer this column in defense of "enthusiasm." . . . To me . . . for 50 years . . . if I let it down . . . I will go with it. So teachers, parents and youth, etc. . . . ALL . . . let's keep the banner of true enthusiasm . . . HIGH, GLORIFIED and INTENSE!

THINK THIS OVER.

Looking Ahead with
J. W. WORREL

I made a call on a friend of mine the other day and, to my surprise, I found him packing grips in preparation for a journey. "Going away, Bill?" I asked.

"Sure. Going away on a business trip."

"Be away long?"

"Couple of months."

I turned to his wife who was helping to pack. "How are you going to get along without him?" I asked.

"Don't worry, I'm not going to starve," she replied laughing. "I'm making sure that he leaves me enough to get along with until he gets back."

That's a simple little story of a man who is leaving home for two months. He arranges the family budget so that everything goes smoothly until he returns. Life insurance has a bigger problem than that. It must arrange the family budget for a journey from which there is no return. No one can tell when the call will come to take the journey. It may be many years. It may be tomorrow. But the Sun Life of Canada can arrange the budget for you at once, simply, economically and effectively. Call or write me and I will gladly talk things over with you . . . and no obligation incurred.

Playground Activities

Burroughs Playground

Opening week was a busy one for some 200 children from sandbox age up. But there is lots of room on your fine big playground. The new strap-seat swings and merry-go-round are new attractions this year.

Horseshoe courts are getting in shape and we would like Dad to come over if he plays. There is additional equipment in the box this year and Mrs. McCartney has been spending hours each day with the drawing and weaving groups and all have enjoyed the story hour.

There is much interest in getting ready for the doll show and the pet show. Inquire at the grounds for the dates of these. Later in the season there will probably be free show tickets and a trip to the zoo as in past seasons. So come over, register with the gang, and choose your game of ring toss or badminton, bean bag or bounce ball, checkers or softball. Evening softball games have been very entertaining. Come over and see.

Shop on the Hilltop, where the stores and closer and your dollars go farther.

Fourteen Scheduled For Piano Recital

The pupils of Mrs. Nina O Beall, will be presented in a piano recital Thursday, June 29, at 8 p. m. at her studio, 274 S. Sylvan-av.

Two West High Students Attend Ohio U. Clinic

By Dave Miller

Two West High students recently represented the local school at a Journalism Workshop under the sponsorship of the Ohio University during the week of June 18-24 at Athens.

Shirley Truitt of 585 S. Burgess-av and Dave Miller, 2648 Sullivant-av were the representatives for West chosen by Thelma R. Knerr, advisor of the School Publications at the Powell-av school. Miss Truitt was feature editor of the 1949-50 Occident and Annual editions while Miller served as sports editor of the two publications.

The school of journalism contained some 150 representatives for schools from all sections of Ohio. The idea of the workshop is to promote good will among the Ohio high schools and to have combined ideas of the method in writing stories.

The entire clinic was divided into three different divisions; newspaper publication; annual or yearbook division and business management, and all the classes held three two-hour periods throughout the day for the six-day session.

In addition to the classes where problems of the newspaper were briefly but thoroughly discussed throughout the week, the professors also contributed added time through the week to criticize the different newspapers represented.

Throughout the week, morning classes were also the same, with a roundtable discussion from 8 a. m. to 9:30, with a regular workshop from 9:30—11:30. Another two-hour workshop followed in the afternoon, with recreation taking place from 3:15—5:15. The nights, however, were all different with the students choosing throughout the week from Get-Acquainted Parties; Open House; movies, swimming, picnic, and Friday night a full-fledged banquet where the individual students were introduced by their schools with proper recognition given.

The entire program was under the leadership of George Starr Lasher, professor of Journalism at Ohio University with H. J. Horton, and George McCreanor serving as assistants.

The Low Down On High Ridgers

By One of Them

This community is getting to be video active. Who popped up on the television screen last week but MRS. O'SHAUGHNESSY and MRS. SHEA. They livened up the show for the "Pantry Party."

The ALLSHOUSES had a good time in New Mexico. Have you seen them since they came back with sombreros, a sun-tan and empty purses?

DILDINES are enjoying their television, no doubt. You don't see them outside much any more.

Who does that green Plymouth belong to—the MURNANE'S, or just the MISSUS. She's the one who has it out all the time. Put your word in, PAUL, you're the one who buys the gas.

Speaking of cars — CLARKS have a new CHEVY; BOWINS a black Ford; and SMOKEY BICKFORD is out with a black Chrysler. They'll all be burning the roads this summer.

And talk about burning the roads, this Mound-st is going to be a speedway if we don't get a few more traffic lights out here. One of our women was hit last week by a speed demon; and if she hadn't run up on someone's lawn she wouldn't be here today. Nevertheless she was hurt.

Do you know what's going to happen? One of our children is going to be killed out there under those speeding wheels unless we wake up, get together and see that it's STOPPED!

That's what our HI RIDGE ORGANIZATION is for. If we don't unite, how can we expect to get what we want? How do you suppose we got this one traffic light over here at our "so-called school"? The ORGANIZATION did-it. How about the police protection, street lights, etc? The HI RIDGE ORGANIZATION

And speaking of our so-called school, we don't have space now to tell you what a fire-trap it is. It's tragic. But I'll tell you about it at another time.

It's unity that gets results, and why sit home and cry over "spilt milk" afterwards, when we can do something about it RIGHT NOW, and I do mean YOU!

Security

We'd like you to take another look at that word at the top of this column. Security . . . the word that has become the most important personal word in the American language today.

Some folks go after security almost frantically. They never stop trying to achieve it. They pile up resources—money, land, stocks and bonds, lending and borrowing power. They build homes in the "best" part of town—make sure they're seen in all the "right" places at all the "right" times.

Yet the security they seek never seems to arrive. Some vital element is lacking, and they have no idea what it is.

These people have missed the church, and all that it offers. They have passed up the only true source of security—the sense of sureness that comes when God has once entered the soul. Watch the happy faces, listen to the warmth and sincerity of the voices of your friends as they leave their church some Sunday morning after services. You'll see a real sense of security there,—the secure knowledge of God's protection that can come only in His churches, or in our daily prayers.

That's the answer to any search for security. It doesn't come with bricks and mortar, or arrive with the dollar sign. But it does arrive to stay in the spirit which knows that the Redeemer liveth—the spirit which knows real security through honest communion with God.

He is my refuge and my fortress: my God; in him will I trust.

Victims of Alcoholism Need Understanding

(One of a series of six articles published by The Hilltop Record to inform the public of the seriousness of this problem, and to solicit aid and understanding for the victims and potential victims of alcoholism. This series is written by an alcoholic, who from his drinking experience, contacts with hospitals, psychiatrists and other alcoholics, has been able to draw a well-rounded picture of a national problem.)

By an Alcoholic

When alcohol becomes the most important factor in the life of any man or woman to the exclusion of all else, we can rightly say that the life of this man or woman has been surrendered to the forces of alcohol confusion and crisis. Rest assured that such a surrender is not a voluntary one. When a person is unable to control his drinking and it harms himself, his family, friends, employer, or his standing in the community, he is ensnared in the acoholic trap and needs help desperately, though he himself may be ignorant of the serious situation facing him.

The objective of this series is not to exploit the pros and cons of drinking. No one cares whether you drink or not. This is not a temperance crusade, nor is it to be interpreted as an attempt to invade your private life. What it is, however, is an honest, unprejudiced attempt to present the truth, as known, and inform you of the factors underlying alcoholism so that you can possibly render intelligent guidance and assistance to those who may have a drinking problem and be in danger of becoming social problems, should their drinking continue unarrested and chronic alcoholism result.

The U. S. Public Health Service has declared that alcoholism is America's fourth greatest public health problem. This is a declaration of vast significance to every thinking American and it is worthy of serious consideration on the part of all people. As a social menace, alcoholism affects society and its institutions so seriously that no one can well afford to ignore it. A survey of this country's long, unbroken array of divorces, broken homes, hospital records, mental institutions, jails, unemployment rolls and, last but not least, death certificates, will conclusively end all doubt as to the major destructive role alcoholism has played in the lives of hundreds of thousands of citizens in this nation alone.

Alcoholism is not confined to any one group of our population, nor does fame or fortune offer any guarantee against it. It cannot be attributed to any single cause for all victims, nor is there any particular course of treatment effective for all alcoholics. Thus, it can be realized that we face no simple challenge in the alcoholic problem. In each instance, alcoholism requires individual diagnosis and treatment.

It is indeed odd that what has been for centuries a source of relief and pleasure to mankind should for some be the liquid means to disaster, if not self-destruction. The majority of people in this nation using some form of alcoholic beverage are able to keep themselves mainly within the limits of moderation. These people, some 60,000,000, do not constitute a part of the alcoholic problem cited by the U. S Public Health service. However, a minority of all drinking Americans, about 4,000,000, are classified by officials as excessive drinkers. Of this group, approximately 850,000 are known to be chronic alcoholics.

Conservative Estimate

The estimated number of chronic alcoholics has been arrived at through hospital and court records primarily. However, many people are treated in hospitals for conditions resulting from alcoholism and are not recorded as alcoholics. Others are lucky and escape the court stigma —for a time anyway. Hence, we can reasonably conclude that the true number of alcoholics in the U. S. might well be considerably larger than the 850,000 estimate.

There are many of us who know some capable, likeable person who drinks too much and cannot stop, thus causing family and economic difficulties. Certainly, that person is worthy of help, and, in most cases, can be helped if treated understandingly and intelligently. Punishment is like adding fuel to the fire—and the fire becomes ever more difficult to extinguish. Punishment is a form of revenge which merely aggravates the alcoholic and urges him on to more vicious drinking. Patience, tolerance, humility, sincerity and a firm kindness are the essential qualities one must apply when dealing with the alcoholic. Unfortunately these qualities are at a premium and too few persons are possessed of such.

There are some who, being unfamiliar with the alcoholic problem, are inclined to view the alcoholic as a "bum" or worthless drunkard; one who has voluntarily exiled himself or herself to the merited rawness of some skid row; one who should be left alone to sink or swim as fate might decree. Of course, this attitude merely contributes to the vast misunderstanding already existing. Satisfactory solution to this or any other social problem demands healthy attitudes and unbiased approaches. Every citizen —drinker and non-drinker—plays a vital role in the furtherance of humane, intelligent programs designed to promote and encourage recovery among our many alcoholics worthy of salvage efforts.

Underlying Causes

It has been said that "alcohol alone does not make the alcoholic." Herein lies the clue to consider the "ticking" of the alcoholic's personality equipment. Some underlying personality defects seemingly contribute to the development of alcoholism, and they may be present before one has ever taken the first drink. We mention this because there are some people who have no such personality defects at the outset, yet acquire them over a prolonged period of excessive drinking and become victims of alcoholism. These relationships will be considered in a following article.

That the alcoholic does not stop drinking in spite of the painful experiences of the past, including loss of job, prestige, physical and mental torment and countless other miseries, should be ample evidence that underlying disorders are literally driving him to drink. No emotionally healthy person does that which will cause him to suffer, provided, of course, he is aware that suffering will result from such action. The average alcoholic knows from experience what will happen when he takes that first drink. However, when the compulsion to drink has been set in motion, he cannot resist it. The painful memories of former bouts are insignificant in the light of the pain he suffers at the moment. He must find relief at all costs. For him, alcohol alone can provide that relief.

Alcoholism is a symptom of one's personality illness, just as fever is a symptom of underlying physical illness. The irresistible urge to drink gradually overwhelms the alcoholic victim and he can rarely, if ever, correct or control the urge if left unaided. Medical science agrees that the alcoholic is a sick person, no more worthy of moral blame, ridicule or punishment than one suffering from other bodily or mental ills. The compulsion to drink stems from some personality or emotional defect, or disorder—mild or serious—and it is this defect or disorder which must be treated before we can hope for recovery.

Must Abstain Completely

The alcoholic can recover, but he can never be cured. However, his recovery is solely conditioned upon his complete abstinence from all alcoholic beverages. To guide the alcoholic into a life of usefulness and contentment without further need or use of alcohol is the goal of all treatment for alcoholism.

There are many steady drinkers who drink excessively who cannot be considered as uncontrolled drinkers. They are able to regulate their drinking so that it does not seriously interfere with their normal life activities, nor disrupt their realistic views of life. In other words, they do not suffer from any compulsion to drink. However, such a condition today does not guarantee freedom from alcoholic affliction tomorrow.

Heavy drinkers should be on guard lest the symptoms common to uncontrolled drinking suddenly appear.

The next article will consider alcoholic personalities.

Hilltop Youth Hurt In Fall From Bicycle

Six-year-old Nathan Alford, son of Mr. and Mrs. Sam N. Alford of 238 N. Terrace-av, was treated Saturday for bruises and lacerations about the face and body, after he fell from his bicycle when it hit a deep hole in an alley at the rear of 268 N. Eureka-av.

According to William Reed, 264 N. Eureka-av, a neighbor, he found the lad wandering in the vicinity of the accident in a dazed condition. Reed took the boy to his home from where he was taken to Mt. Carmel Hospital by his father, Sam N. Alford of Thrift Finance Co.

The boy's parents said Nathan had been playing at Holton Park on N. Eureka-av, and apparently was on his way home when the accident happened.

After treatment at Mt. Carmel Hospital the youth was released and returned to his home. No serious injuries were found although the many cuts and bruises the youth incurred as a result of the accident proved quite painful, according to his parents

Five-year awards are slated for several Kiwanians if they maintain their records as of today, according to Chairman Tanner. Tanner would not release names of those who are to be recipients of the awards at today's luncheon meeting, on the basis that there are several, who, if they miss this one meeting would lose the award.

High Ridge Civic Group Plans School District Survey

H T Van Ness president of High Ridge Civic Association in the last meeting of that group for the summer months outlined steps and plans that are currently being carried out for a survey of the West Mound Street school district.

Van Ness said a special survey committee has been named and that forms are being printed at this time to make up a very complete detail census of High Ridge community as of 1950 on requirements for the West Mound Street School.

This survey, he said, will show the name and address, the average adult family age, number of children in each family unit from age one to fifteen, show the age of each child, the family religion and suggestions as to the desire of each family unit on the type of school. The survey will also contain data as to whether each family unit owns their own property or may be free holders.

The survey will cover the school expectancy for the next ten years as well as the requirements as they currently exist.

A possibility exists, according to Van Ness that a special meeting may be called for the school committee in charge of the survey and the board of directors. A date for such a called meeting will be announced later if such is necessary, he said.

At the September 19 meeting which is to be the first following the vacation period, Van Ness will name a nominating committee for selection of new officers for the forthcoming year. Election date is tentatively set for October 17.

Local Pastor Denounces Administration

A Hilltop minister, Rev. Joseph A. Shellhaas, lashed out at administration leaders Sunday, from the pulpit of Glenwood Methodist Church, and denounced the "deceptiveness of the administration in misleading the American people as to the serious position of the nation" in the present war crisis.

Declaring the people have been assured the country is not at war, Rev. Shellhaas told his congregation at Sunday morning services:

"We are at war, no matter what the politicians tell you." He then pointed to the fact that American troops are landing for combat in Korea and added:

"When they tell you we are not at war, they lie! This is war."

Bean Dinner Plans Reach Final Stage

Baseball Clinics Planned For Hilltop Playgrounds

Baseball clinics for the "small fry" such as this shown above will soon be scheduled for the various parks and playgrounds on the Hilltop, according to Nick Barak, city recreation director

Shown above is the first such clinic to be held in Columbus with Sunshine Center of the West Side selected as the initial starting point for the program. In the above photo, Columbus Red Bird players Larry Miggins and Roy Hughes along with city recreation department officials explain the finer points of the national pastime to a large group of boys who assembled Friday for the clinic.

Recreation Director Barak said that as soon as plans are completed, dates will be announced for the clinic at various Hilltop locations.

West High School Football Practice Begins August 21

Under the guidance and tutelage of Head Coach A. M. (Mack) Pemberton who will be starting his fifth consecutive season, West High School's football hopefuls will assemble Aug. 21 for initial practice of the forthcoming season. First game for the 1950 season is to be Sept. 15 at Marion Harding, according to announcement made this week.

Initial practice session will consist of issuance of uniforms and equipment, followed by "skull sessions", conditioning work and then contact scrimmages to bring the team to physical and mental edge just prior to the opening fray of the season.

Pemberton is optimistic concerning the changes of this year's edition of the Cowboy grid unit, pointing out that the squad will be strengthened considerably by return of 17 varsity lettermen in addition to the entire reserve squad, which made a very creditable showing during the 1949 campaign.

Assisting Pemberton again this year will be Dave Randall as line coach and Fred Heischman as backfield mentor. For Pemberton the coming season will represent his fifth and he expressed the hopes that it would be his best. In the past he has guided West to two straight undefeated seasons in 1947 and 1948. The four football teams he has mentored have garnered 25 wins in 37 outings.

Loss of graduating players cost the Cowboy grid machine key men during the past season and as a result the finish of the race was disheartening and a disappointment to many faithful followers. Pemberton decided in 1949 to keep as many underclassmen as he could. As it was, the season ended as the poorest in his coaching career at West, but as a result of this long range planning he will have available seasoned and experienced personnel for duty this fall when the season opens.

Nucleus of the team for the coming season will be the 17 returning varsity lettermen although it is expected that the upcoming reserves of last year will in all probability make strong and persistent bids for varsity berths. The lettermen this year include ends, Clare Ashton and George Crissinger; tackles, Jack Bowen, Dick McDermitt, Dale Brush, Jim Hall, John Heaketh and Dave Lazenby; guards, Charles (Spike) Ringer, and centers, Ron Farley and Jerry Fry. The backfield men returning are Dick Briggs, Carmine DeMatteo, Charles Hunter, Clarence Golden, Ronnie James and Charles Leibensperger.

The 1950 schedule as announced this week for the West Cowboy gridders is:

Sept. 15—At Marion Harding.
Sept. 22—Upper Arlington.
Sept. 29—Lima Central (homecoming).
Oct. 6—Aquinas.
Oct. 13—North.
Oct. 20—Linden McKinley.
Oct. 28—East (Saturday).
Nov. 3—At South.
Nov. 10—At Central.

Masons Name John Herron High Priest

By Myron T. Seifert

Youthful and energetic 37-year-old John Herron, 379 S. Roys-av, was elected by members of West Gate Chapter Wednesday, June 28, as high priest of this Hilltop Masonic body.

The newly elected high priest has made rapid strides in local Masonic circles, climbing the rungs of the Masonic ladder during the past seven or eight years.

Herron

In 1942 Herron was initiated into a host of Masonic groups, including West Gate Blue Lodge, West Gate Chapter, West Gate Council and Mt. Vernon Commandery (Knight Templar), since which time his advancement in the work is evident by the posts tendered him.

In 1943 he was made a noble in the Aladdin Temple Mystic Shrine.

In addition to his Masonic activities Herron holds top-flight spot as commander of the Columbus unit of the US Power Squad.

He operates a grocery store, under his name, at 859 N. High-st. As a boy on the Hilltop he attended West Broad Street School, moved away, then returned to the Hilltop in 1941.

He resides with Mrs. Herron and their two children, Jerry, 11, and Donn, 8, at the Roys-av address.

West Gate Chapter officers, in addition to High Priest Herron, include Karl Swisher, king; William A. Green, scribe; J. Frost Bratt, treasurer; Kenneth W. Sharadan, secretary; Fletcher Wright, captain of the hosts; Arnold L. Durbin, principal sojourner; Stephen H. Nemes, Royal Arch captain; Paul Sheets, captain of the third veil; Cranston Williams, master of the second veil; Ernest Gresh, master of the first veil; James Norris, senior steward, Herbert Pfaltzgraf, junior steward; and trustee, Charles E. Goodall, retiring high priest.

West High Teacher Vacation Plans Many and Diversified

West High teachers, like the students, enjoy a change from their school books.

Diversions of the pedagogues follow a wide range of interests over the summer months. Many travel, some seek summer employment, while others will relax at home, doing domestic chores, reading books, etc.

Broadening their vistas via travel are many globe-trotting teachers.

English teacher Mrs. Jane Thomas will bask in Florida sun, thence to Havana for a visit. Mrs. Moselle Warren, shorthand and typing instructor, also plans a Florida trip.

Band Master Clair Barnard, member of the well-known Aladdin Shrine Band, will trek with those musicians to the West when the Shriners converge on California this summer. Mr. Barnard also plans to give private music lessons to students this summer.

Vice principal, Ruth Bachmeyer, plans an excursion in the East, through New Jersey and Delaware, and will teach summer school. Helen Workman expects to visit New England points of interest.

Cape Cod bound is George Wing. He and his family will visit the Wing homestead there. It was erected in 1643.

School treasurer, Harry L. Zulauf, and his wife will travel via their new trailer. They will spend the summer throughout the upper peninsula of Michigan, northern Wisconsin and Minnesota.

Smoky Mountain bound is Mrs. Edith White.

Mr. and Mrs. A. Kittel plan a Michigan excursion.

Dramatics teacher, Mrs. Evelyn Hall, anticipates a visit with her mother in Colorado.

Art teacher, R. T. Teickert will visit New York.

Improving their educational opportunities many of the pedagogues will attend school. They include Jim Brown, F. E. Bonar, Jack Shuster and Cyrus Sedgewick at Ohio State. Pauline Sparrow will matriculate at University of Cincinnati, following which she will sojourn a couple of weeks at Lake Erie.

Gainfully employed are other teachers. Clarence Bateman will be boys' camp councillor in Maine; Calvin Parks will fill a similar position in the Canadian woods.

Mary Baker will attend a conservation camp at Camp Muskingum, O., for five weeks, then visit in Pennsylvania.

Mrs. M. Harold will visit her husband, Major F. C. Harold, "somewhere at an army post."

Versatile Art Miller plans to work for a civil and structural engineering company in the drafting department at Lima, O.

Arnet Cole will propagate his beautiful gladiolus flowers, which he grows in abundance at his home on S. High-st.

Harold Washburn, who has been engaged in home construction during the summer months, plans to continue this work.

Local Woman's Sister Flees Korean Capital

Word was received Saturday by Irene Wagoner, 158 Columbian-av, that her sister and brother-in-law, Dr. and Mrs. William E. Shaw are safe in Osaka, Japan.

The Shaw's have made their home in Seoul, Korea, for the past 29 years where Dr. Shaw heads the Chosen Christian College and Mrs. Shaw is an instructor in music.

A cablegram received by Miss Wagoner from her sister said they were safe and stated they would write a letter at a later date giving full details of their flight from war-torn Seoul.

West - Cross Vows Exchanged

Mr. and Mrs. Donald L. Cross

A large central basket of white gladioli, snapdragons and huckleberry, together with seven branch candelabra formed the background on Sunday, June 18, for the service uniting Miss Catherine E. West, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James K. West, 161 N. Hague-av, and Mr. Donald L. Cross, son of Dr John N. Cross, 2558 W. Broad-st.

Rev. A. J Wold officiated at the 3:30 p. m. marriage which took place in Hoge Memorial Presbyterian Church.

Escorted by her father, the bride wore an organdy gown designed with a V-neckline, short sleeves, with a dainty row of covered buttons on the front of the bodice. The skirt was gracefully flared and cleared the floor by a few inches. A white nylon net hat trimmed with a cluster of nylon feather flowers held into place an elbow length veil of silk illusion. Completing her costume was a bouquet of white stephanotis centered with roses.

The bride carried a handkerchief of her grandmother as something old. She wore the traditional blue garter and carried a lucky penny in her shoe.

Mrs. Fred Braithwaite, matron of honor, was attired in a peach gown and carried yellow roses. Misses Alice Jane Wolf, Miami, Fla., and Diana G. Herd, Buckeye Lake, O., cousins of the bride, were bridesmaids and wore pale green and carried talisman roses. The attendants' gowns were styled alike of imported organdy over white tafetta with softly curved necklines, short sleeves, flared skirts and trimmed with satin sashes. Each wore a large picture hat trimmed in satin.

Mr. John N. Cross, Jr., was best man for his brother and Mr. Howard Young, Mr. John Prose, Mr Frank Deyo and Mr. Ralph Watts seated the guests.

The church dining room was the setting for the wedding reception where Mrs. West greeted the guests in a dress of light blue with a hat of pale pink. A matching corsage of pale pink roses adorned her shoulder.

Hostesses at the reception included Mrs. Walter Managhan, Mrs. A. R. Page and the Misses Marjorie Rector, Marilyn Grice, Anne Herbert, Mary Ann Miller and Dorothy Johnson.

The new Mrs. Cross is a graduate of West High School and attended Ohio State University, where she was a member of Pleiades. She is associated with Dr. Paul M. Pontious as a dental assistant.

Mr. Cross is a graduate of West High School, attended Denison University and now attends Ohio State University where he is a senior in the college of commerce. He is employed by the Big Bear Store Co.

The couple is residing at 258½ S. Burgess-av, following their wedding trip to Cleveland.

Autos Must Be Safe

(Editorial)

It is an indisputable fact that over 90 per cent of the traffic accidents which annually take the lives of some 33,500 persons could have been avoided. The human foibles of inattention and deliberate risk-taking are the main causes of the slaughter on our streets and highways.

Pure mechanical failure, according to some safety experts, accounts for less than one per cent of automobile accidents.

It is true that in many fatal accidents, mechanical failure was a contributing cause — brakes failed to grab, lights went out, steering apparatus didn't respond properly. But these cases were not pure mechanical failure, because human carelessness was the underlying cause. The owners and drivers of the accident vehicles had failed to keep their automobile in safe condition, and in many cases they had imprudently driven the automobiles when they knew that they were mechanically defective. In short, the drivers were either not attentive or they deliberately took a chance.

Individual responsibility can stop this menace. Every member of the American public must take it upon himself to accept the responsibility of observing the rules of safety and the road.

At the same time, the police and administrative officials of our states have the responsibility of minimizing the hazards caused by these careless people who fail or refuse to obey the rules. Every state should require periodic and rigid inspection of all autos to see that they are kept in safe driving condition. A recent check of nearly three million vehicles, made by the International Association of Chiefs of Police, showed that one out of every three vehicles has a mechanical defect which makes it a menace in traffic. These defects are not in the construction of the automobile, but rather in things like lights and brakes which the driver should keep in safe working condition.

If thousands of persons are to be saved from needless death this coming year and in the years to follow, periodic required motor vehicle inspection by all states would seem to be an important prerequisite.

Blue Ridge Parkway, Following Crests, To Link Shenandoah, Great Smoky Parks

DEVIL'S BACKBONE, to the south of Roanoke, Va., shows extensive orchards in valley far below.

By H. D. CRAWFORD
Central Press Correspondent

ROANOKE, Va.—You will hear a great deal in the future about the scenic Blue Ridge Parkway running along crests of Virginia's famous Blue Ridge mountains and extending along adjoining ranges in a southwesterly direction for nearly 500 miles, to link Shenandoah National Park in Virginia with the Great Smoky Mountains National Park in North Carolina.

One of the most spectacular road-building projects ever undertaken, this Parkway has no precedent among American highways. It reverses the time-honored principle that highways should follow valleys.

The Blue Ridge Parkway, really a southward extension of Virginia's famous Skyline Drive, follows the ridge crests, wherever possible. In some places these crests are so narrow that travelers may look hundreds of feet below into the Shenandoah and other valleys to the west, and down similar distances into the Piedmont valleys to the east.

AFTER MORE than a decade of work, the Blue Ridge Parkway has been paved in sections totaling about 250 miles. About two-thirds of it are in various stages of construction.

Long stretches are already open for motorists. New sections north of Roanoke and Asheville, N. C., are expected to be opened during 1950.

This writer recently made two visits to the Parkway and talked with officials at Parkway headquarters, including Sam P. Weems, superintendent, and members of his congenial staff at this mountain-fringed second largest city in Virginia.

The Blue Ridge Parkway is part of the national park system. If Congress continues normal appropriations, it is expected that the Parkway will be completed in about five years.

It will be the American motorist's dream come true—particularly if that dream calls for beautiful mountains and leisurely motoring.

Eastern America's most picturesque mountains will be opened for the first time so motorists can ride along their crests and look into their valleys. Trucks will be forbidden. Billboards will not be there to mar the natural beauty. Travelers will see nature at its best in autumn, spring and summer. Ice will discourage winter use.

COLORFUL MOUNTAIN people, with their handicrafts and native customs, will see many newcomers to their country. Parkway officials hope that this future influx of travelers will prove a stimulus to mountain handicrafts, at present on the decline to an alarming degree.

"Blue Ridge Parkway, high road through Virginia and North Carolina, designed especially for the leisurely tourist, represents a new conception in roads," asserts a new National Park Service booklet. "It is not an express parkway of the type built around big cities, but a quiet way through a distinctive part of the American scene—a road intended for gypsy-like travel on the ride-awhile, stop-awhile basis.

"You travel the Southern Highlands, a land of forested mountains exquisite during the flower of spring, cool in the green summer, colorful in the red autumn.

"The stretches of woodland, the clustered mountains, and the views out to the lowlands are enlivened by the fields and pastures of highland farms, where split rail fences, weathered cabins and gray barns compose the 'hill culture.'"

THE PARKWAY runs through parts of three national forests: George Washington National Forest and Jefferson National Forest in Virginia, and Pisgah National Forest in North Carolina.

The 2,050-mile Appalachian Trail, which follows crests of the Appalachian range from Mt. Katahdin in Maine to Mt. Oglethorpe in Georgia, crosses both the Skyline Drive and Blue Ridge Parkway many times.

The Blue Ridge Parkway, pioneering road of its kind in the United States, is expected to cost about $80 million. It will link two important national parks, and enable thousands of Americans to find pleasure in motoring, camping, hiking or overnight stops in cabins or lodges.

"America's future playground," one Parkway official termed the area opened up by the new mountain crest route.

It will be a playground where you can find relaxation and the peace of mind that men and women experience when they can raise their eyes to never-ending ranges of the eternal mountains.

Proper Use of Draperies Can Add Balance To Rooms

Windows, due to the whims and fancies of architects, are not always as well-placed as one could wish. All too often, two windows of dissimilar sizes will be found in the same room to the bewilderment of the woman who wants to create a balanced and pleasing effect.

For example, windows might be of varying widths. One might be of good proportion and others in the same room might be narrow and high. By hanging the draperies at the well-proportioned window in the usual manner, that is, overlapping the sash by about four inches to six inches at each side, and by hanging the draperies at the narrow window at the edge of the sash and overlapping the wall, it is possible to have two valances of the same width and to create the impression that the windows are mates.

A long narrow room with a single off center window will appear to better advantage if the draperies cover all the wall space on either side and overlap the window in such a manner as to make it seem centered.

In a room where the ceiling is low, coming right down to the top of the window frame, another decorating problem is presented. Again valences come to the rescue. Introduction of a scalloped effect appears to lower the height of the windows and make them seem more pleasing. Here too, the larger part of the draperies may be hung over the wall in order to maintain a pleasant proportion and to make the windows more important than they really are.

Where a window is set in such a shallow frame that there is no room for a window shade, an effective solution can be obtained by using a pair of inside shutters, padded and covered with the same fabric which is used in other parts of the room. These can swing shut at night to provide privacy and add a distinctively decorative note when they are folded back against the wall during the day.

For double duty, a drink that's both food and refresher, there's nothing like a milk drink. When you are hot and tired sit down and sip a glass of cold, cold buttermilk. It's tart, refreshing taste has a cooling, soothing effect that really gives a lift. Buttermilk is easily digested and besides, it's equal in calories to many soft drinks.

Chocolate flavored milk drink is an all time favorite that's a quick refresher for children and grownups alike. Keep a supply on hand. Serve it with any meal and with between meal snacks. For a children's party give each child a stick of peppermint candy with which to stir his or her glass of chocolate milk. For added flavor and pickup, make a quick chocolate milk shake. It can double as a beverage and dessert.

CHOCOLATE FROSTED

1 pint vanilla, chocolate or peppermint ice cream
1 quart chocolate flavored milk drink

Combine ingredients—and beat until smooth and frothy. Serve immediately in tall cold glasses. Serves four.

For a cooling summer dessert there is nothing quite like fruit sherbets. Here is one that's quickly and easily made and is really refreshing on a hot summerday.

CAN DO
Replacing Glass in a Window

RARE AND fortunate indeed is the homeowner who, at one time or another, hasn't had a ball, rock or hailstone come sailing through a window of his house, shattering both a pane of glass and his peace of mind in the same instant.

But there's little need to get excited. Actually, installing a new glass in a window frame is rather an interesting job if you go about it right.

Here's how to do it, presupposing that you get your glass already cut to the correct dimensions. You can get all the tools and materials you need in one fast trip to your hardware store.

The first step, naturally, is to remove all broken glass from the frame. Then, using a sharp chisel and being careful not to gouge the edges of the wood in the process, you clean all the old putty from the rabbet. The rabbet, incidentally, is the right-angled inset cut into the window frame to hold the glass.

Now give all the raw wood in the rabbet a coat of paint or linseed oil. This will prevent excessive drying out and weakening of the putty or glazing compound that would result if all the oil in this material were to be absorbed by the wood.

When the paint or linseed oil has dried, apply a thin bed of putty or glazing compound to the back of the rabbet against which the glass will lie. This will serve to make an air-and weather-tight seal.

Now, with the frame laid flat on a work bench or saw horses, lay the glass in the rabbet. Press it firmly into the bed of putty and tap or push the glazier's points in with the end of a screw driver to hold the glass in place. (Glazier's points are small, flat, triangular nails.) Be very careful at this stage of the operation so as not to crack the glass.

Your next step is to apply the putty or compound to the junction of the glass and sash frame. Press it in firmly, making sure to fill all hollows and to cover the glazier's points.

Finally, when the putty has been applied to one length, hold the putty knife firmly against the glass and the frame at a 45- to 60-degree angle and draw it steadily backwards to level the putty off. Remove the excess. When the putty surface has set, it is ready to be painted.

STILL on the subject of windows, here's a way in which you can give a piece of ordinary glass a frosted effect that will eliminate its transparency but allow plenty of light to pass through.

For the "frosting" use five parts boiled linseed oil, two and a half parts turpentine and one part clear varnish. Mix this well and add powdered whiting to the liquid until it turns very white.

Apply the mixture to the glass with a brush. Then, while the coating is still wet, make a pad of cheesecloth and press or tap the entire surface lightly. When the glass is dry it will look as though frost had formed on it. For a finer grain, put a piece of silk stocking over the pad. Twisting the pad as you tap will produce a number of different designs.

Cool As A Snowflake

Cool to look at; cool to taste! What could be more appealing on a sultry summer day than this luscious Coconut Lime Chiffon Pie. And best of all — especially if you are the one to do it — it's cool to make because this lovely dessert never sees the inside of an oven. That's right — not even for baking the shell. The refrigerator does the job.

You see, this Coconut Lime Chiffon Pie boasts a tasty graham cracker crust — and that, of course, can be put together in no time and then chilled. Without benefit of oven, it is crisp, tender, and delicious.

The filling is whipped-until-fluffy lime-flavored gelatin — a fresh, cool green that makes this pie a real appetizer. It is topped with whipped cream, generously sprinkled with frosty white coconut. A really heavenly dessert with so little effort — and so hot-weather-baking discomfort!

Coconut Lime Chiffon Pie

1 package lime-flavored gelatin
1½ cups hot water
¼ teaspoon salt
2 teaspoons lemon juice
½ cup cream, whipped
1 cup shredded coconut, cut
1 Graham Cracker Pie Shell

Dissolve gelatin in the hot water. Add salt and lemon juice. Chill until slightly thickened. Then place in bowl of ice and water and beat with rotary egg beater until fluffy and thick like whipped cream. Fold about one-third of the whipped cream and ½ cup of the coconut into the whipped gelatin and turn into Graham Cracker Pie Shell. Spread with remaining whipped cream and sprinkle with ½ cup coconut. Chill.

Graham Cracker Pie Shell: Mix together ¼ cup melted butter, 1¼ cups fine graham cracker crumbs, and 2 tablespoons sugar. Press firmly on bottom and sides of 9-inch pie pan. Chill.

Surplus Food Benefits Pupils, Thanks to CCC

Healthy Pittsburg, N. H., school children pick up CCC lunches

By ESTHER V. W. TUFTY
Central Press Correspondent

WASHINGTON — Ralph Trigg is "Santa Claus" 364 days a year, yet American farmers, school children, old people and invalids — thousands of them — do not know this agricultural expert by either name.

However, the farmer knows he gets a present in support prices for his potatoes or other surpluses. The children know that good hot lunch comes from somewhere. And many old people and invalids in institutions are grateful for the program he administrates.

Of course, over in the Department of Agriculture, Ralph Trigg has more high-flown titles for his two way job.

He is president of the Commodity Credit Corporation and head of the Production and Marketing Administration.

This operation runs into billions of dollars. Also into more mountains of potatoes (and other commodities) than this administrative Santa Claus can give away.

The CCC has capital stock of $100 million and borrowing authority of $4¾ billion. With these funds, paid supports are given to the farmer when crop prices drop.

As PMA administrator, Trigg buys the crops and has charge of distributing those extra commodities and also of conservation, production and marketing.

SOME SIX MILLION American school children have grown chubby on supplementary foods issued for the school lunch program. Good teeth and sound bones have been built from Trigg's potatoes, dried eggs, apples, milk, concentrated orange juice and other foods.

What manner of man is this year-round Santa Claus?

He's a lot younger than that man who comes down the chimney on Dec. 25th. He hails from New Mexico, not the North Pole. But even at 42 and without a white beard, Ralph Trigg is motivated by the Christmas spirit.

Trigg likes people. Born on a cotton and peanut farm, he worked his way through the University of New Mexico as a lumber yard helper. He found time to play varsity football, too.

His first experience in [illegible] mostly people came along with the job as state auditor for the Relief Administration of New Mexico. During the war he was personnel chief of Navy Ordnance.

At the moment, he's juggling a hot potato. Cartoonists and headlines ridicule the wholesale potato destruction resulting from confusion of conflicting farm opinion expressed in the Agricultural Act of 1949.

Probably the man most responsible for that act was former Secretary of Agriculture Clinton Anderson, now the senator from New Mexico.

Present Secretary Charles Brannan has proposed another method of handling the price support program but as yet it has not been tried. The potato mess may result in a trial run of the Brannan plan on one or two commodities.

However, Santa Claus Trigg is not concerned with that.

TRIGG and his aide, H. C. Albin, a wonder at distribution, see the "buying" part of their job as twofold in purpose: 1—It removes the commodity from the market. 2—Establishes good food-habits in the nation looking ahead to the commodity's future market.

Since all the surpluses can't be given away, effort is made to make people eat more of the food in embarrassing abundance.

Women radio broadcasters are tipped off to "push apples" and good recipes are supplied. Cranberries are suggested with something besides turkey. Hotels and restaurants help, too.

The school lunch program nationally serves about 1½ billion pounds of food annually. Some 7,000,000 children are served free or part-paid meals. About 393,000,000 pounds of surplus commodities were distributed last year to school lunch programs, charitable institutions, Indians on reservations, and other needy groups.

Approximately 9,000,000 individuals received surplus commodities last year. Of these, children in 45,500 schools, 1,200,000 inmates in 3,560 charitable institutions, and 255,000 needy individuals were eligible to receive free foods.

Single state-wide agencies handle the program in 35 states and only in three states does the number exceed three.

Navy Air Corps And Mystery Books Intrigue Local Youth

Among the route supervisors employed by The Hilltop Record is a lad with a flair for gathering mystery books and an ambition that will warm the hearts of all navy recruiting men.

Gary Conrad Koontz, age 14, 175 S. Sylvan-av, when not devoting his time to supervision of his Record territory from W. Broad-st to Sullivant-av, between Eureka and Harris-avs avidly seeks out more mystery books to add to his already heavy collection of more than 160 such books. He has no favorite authors but sets the standard that they must be "just chockfull" of mystery or they don't fit into his collection.

Gary Koontz

But, book hunter Gary aspires most of all to be a flier in the United States Navy Air Corps and he is not at all backkward about telling any and all recruiters to look him up in a few years. He says that is what he intends to be, and that's all there is to it. One thing though, Gary must get an assignment to a fighter squadron that is based on a "flat-top." He insists that in assuring him of such an assignment he'll get to go to sea as well as fly.

Gary is a student at West Junior High School and is enrolled in grade 9B. Born in Atlanta, Ga., he lived there a short while before his parents came to this community. He is quite proud of a sister, aged 4, and his father, Lee Koontz, well known Hilltop comic, who is known in theatrical circles under the name, Jack Lee.

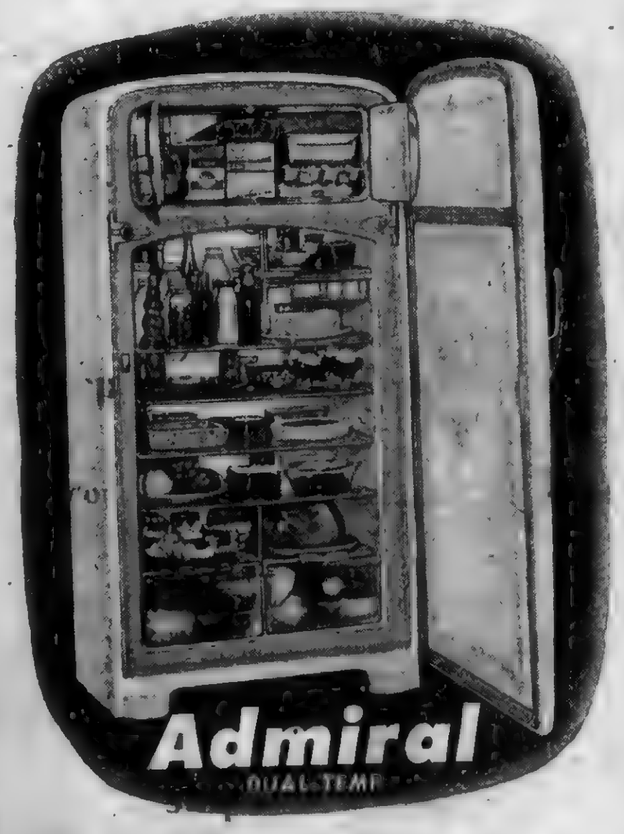
NOTHING TO BUY -- JUST REGISTER WITH MISS KREBS.

There are others that are New, but none so truly Modern!



Before buying a refrigerator, make sure it passes these 4 tests

1 The housekeeping test. Will your new refrigerator burden you with the nuisance of weekly defrosting? Not if it's an Admiral Dual-Temp. Admiral's exclusive moistrol automatically evaporates excess moisture. Foods don't dry out. Flavors don't mingle.

2 The frozen food test. Are you able to quick-freeze fruit, meat, leftovers at 20° below zero? Yes, if it's an Admiral Dual-Temp. Its separate freezing locker quick-freezes and stores up to 84 pounds of food.

3 The fresh food test. Will fresh foods dry out and lose flavor? Not if you choose the Admiral Dual-Temp where fruits, meats and vegetables thrive in the cool, dewy atmosphere. The Sterilamp helps kill "ice box" odors and retard mold growth.

4 The storage space test. Want lots of storage space without crowding kitchen? Then you want our new 1950 Dual-Temp. Your choice of 12½ or 10½ cubic feet of storage space, in streamlined, compact cabinets.

Admiral Dual-Temp passes with a PERFECT SCORE!

No defrosting—no dish covers needed—no mingling of flavors. Much more room than last year's models, at no increase in price!

The new Dual-Temp has features others haven't. It does things others can't. Come in—and see for yourself.

First Federal Assets Near 15 Million

W. C. Eidson, president of the First Federal Savings and Loan Association, disclosed recently that the total assets of the association have neared the 15 million dollar mark.

In reporting on their continued growth, Eidson revealed that First Federal had made new loans during the first six months of this year totaling more than two million dollars. Total dividends paid for the same six months exceed $121,000.

First Federal was the first savings and loan institution in central Ohio to secure a federal charter, and was also the first in this area to have its savings accounts insured. Mr. Eidson pointed out in his statement that the present officers and members of the board of directors of First Federal have served an average of 21 years each.

The association has also established a record of having no foreclosures on loans during the past 15 years. During that period they have loaned more than 33 million dollars to Columbus home owners. First Federal maintains two offices, the main office, downtown at 53 E. State-st, and at 2369 W. Broad-st on the Hilltop.

Naval Reserve Units Transferred To Fourth District

Lt. Cmdr. B. C. Miller, 575 Whitethorne-av, this week received official notification that the naval reserve division of which he is commanding officer has been transferred with other Ohio naval reserve units to the jurisdiction of the Fourth Naval District effective as of the date of July 1.

The transfer of all surface naval reserve activities in Ohio from the Ninth Naval District with headquarters at Great Lakes, Ill., to the Fourth Naval District was made to make the 10 districts coincide with the six army and air force areas. Headquarters for the local units are now at Philadelphia.

The change, also made necessary the redesignation of all naval reserve units in Ohio, according to Capt. R. T. McDaniel, commander of central Ohio's surface reserve units.

Capt. McDaniel also said that in addition to weekly classes held at the U. S. Naval Reserve Training Center, 240 N. Sandusky-st, two weeks' training duty with pay aboard navy ships and at shore stations is made available to reservists every year.

Westgate Courts Scene of Tennis Tourney Saturday

A considerable increase in entries is expected for the City Clay Court Championships which are scheduled to begin activities this Saturday on the Westgate Tennis Courts, according to Dick Slager 3122 Wicklow-rd, and Charles Merriman, 293 S. Roys-av, co-chairmen of the event.

Last year's winners of the net tourney were Edward Jones in the men's singles; Guy Blair and Dr. George Hoeflinger in the men's doubles competition. They battled to the finals to win the tennis gonfalon over a field of 54 entrants in the singles and 28 doubles teams.

This year's tournament will be played on July 8, 9, 15 and 16. Finals of the single match play will start at 1:30 p. m. July 16 and doubles teams will take to the courts at 3 o'clock of the same day. Trophies will be presented immediately following final match play.

According to officers of the Westgate Tennis Club, the forthcoming tournament holds promise of being a much better competition because of its success last year. It was also pointed out that the Westgate courts are in excellent condition and that three new nets have recently been added to the equipment.

Slager particularly stressed the fact that entries would close late tonight in order that drawings be made before the beginning of play at 9:30 a. m. Saturday.

Hilltopper Has Been Guardian Of City Water Supply 43 Years

By Myron T. Seibert

More than any one man in Columbus perhaps responsible for providing millions of gallons of water daily is Hilltop's affable citizen, J. M. Emrich, 501 S. Warren-av, who is chief engineer of the Scioto River City Water Pumping Station.

For that morning cup of coffee that starts your day off right, you can thank our good neighbor Emrich who supervises and dispenses the bountiful, pure water supply that is pumped into thousands of Columbus homes; that Saturday night bath would be restricted without his help; cooking would be somewhat stymied; in fact life itself is largely dependent upon his efforts.

Well known figure in the city, experienced Mr. Emrich has served Columbus faithfully since February, 1908, in the water department.

Remember the old hand pump which you were required to frequently prime to get the H2O into your water pail; and sometimes work up a real sweat in the up-down exercise? Today 50,000,000 gallons of the precious beverage are pumped automatically to Columbus homes, under Mr. Emrich's direction. This water is pumped twice.

During the 43 years, the last 14 of which he has been chief engineer, with the water department, Mr. Emrick has seen many improvements and changes. Columbus water supply today with its efficient management is exemplary for the nation, and Mr. Emrich has had no small part in its growth. Few public servants can match his ability in performing his duties over such a long period of time. City Director Keller and Mayor James Rhodes tell you how valuable his work is to the building of "Good Old Columbus Town."

Starting out early in life as a railroader Emrich asserts that he "grew tired of the work and wanted a change," and fortunately for Columbus, his choice was in the water division where "Pop" Emrich is more than a legend; he is one of the boys that grew up with one of its important agencies. With a vicarious interest in his co-workers, an understanding of their mutual problems, and endowed with an abundance of wit and humor, "Pop" Emrich can accomplish wonders, short of miracles.

He began his career with the city water division at the old pumping station on Spring-st, near where Yeager Machine Co. now operates.

In addition to his long tenure of office, which is a record in itself, he is blessed with splendid health. "Never sick to amount to anything in my life," the veteran said. Attributes his longevity to "temperance in living and industry." He is also punctual in his work as any of his buddies whom he has known for almost a half-century, will tell you.

In periods of drouth and flood Emrich was "Johnny on the spot" to see that Columbus folks had an adequate, pure supply of water. During floods, and unable to get to his post, he would trek on foot many miles around to his destination; he has frequently worked night and day to serve the citizens of this community.

His, is more than a Hilltop story, for he belongs to all Columbus. He recalls distinctly the drouth that hit Columbus about 30 years ago and seriously threatened the life and health of this community. Of more recent date, three years ago, the river went dry and this was the toughest going for Mr. Emrich.

Water main problems challenged the thinking of Mr. Emrich at times; when a main burst, quick, decisive action of the Hilltopper may have saved the day. He recalls on one occasion, when the Hilltop was deprived of water for a week before restitution of service was accomplished.

The 1913 flood played havoc with the local water situation and here again the resumption of an important service throughout the city was made with his help.

Water tanks, dotted in various sections of Columbus, come under his surveillance.

Married 33 years, his life is the epitome of a useful, well respected citizen, and much of his success can be attributed to a devoted wife who is his chief critic, he says.

Pioneer on the Hilltop, he has resided in his cheerful, modest Hilltop home at 501 S. Warren-av, since 1907. He has also grown up with the Hilltop in much the same manner that he grew up with his work in the water division.

If David Grayson, who wrote his immortal "Contentment" series of stories, had known "Pop" Emrich, he might have used our Hilltop friend as a key figure in his writings.

"Not more than 20 houses were on the Hilltop when Mom and I decided to settle on the Hilltop 43 years ago," he said.

Sullivant-av and Warren-av as mud roads, and the old Weber farm," are among his early recollections of this section.

"Since the family of children has grown up, our dog, 'Kay Frances', Mom and I still enjoy our modest surroundings," the cheerful optimist opined.

The Emrichs are parents of three boys and one girl, Burleigh, Frank and Marion live in Columbus, and daughter, Geneva, in Chicago. Another son, Clarence, died in an auto accident in 1939.

"Grow old with me, the best is yet to be," is the philosophy of this Hilltop citizen, Mr. Emrich, whose mark as a good neighbor and citizen knows no bounds.

BON VOYAGE

A SHORT-SHORT STORY By HARRY C. TROVER

THE WIND had whistled down the eaves of the house all through a sleepless night, and now Monty buttoned the slit in the back of his topcoat against it before he stepped out into the winter afternoon.

Buttoned, gloved and muffled he took his hand from the door to make a last minute inspection of the living and dining rooms that opened from the hallway. He had seen Brenda do this same thing more times than he could remember. All set to go, and then the final look-about to see that every tastefully selected period piece was in the place that did the most for itself and the room it was in. Everything was in order. Each piece pleasantly complemented its companions, and with good reason. The house had been furnished piecemeal with such long waits between purchases that by the time Brenda could afford the next item on her list she was absolutely certain what she wanted.

It didn't seem possible that it had happened to them. No matter how desperately he tried to bring the events of the past few days into focus so that he could inspect them separately and together for the meaning behind it all, he always came back to the same impasse. It didn't seem possible . . .

Downtown the streets were filled from show window to curb with shoppers, of whom Monty was completely oblivious except as they made the careless infractions on his person that are not considered familiar or rude in a crowded public place. He welcomed the rush of warm air that brushed the cold bite off his cheeks as he stepped into the lush interior of a smart dress shop.

An impeccably groomed saleswoman approached him from the opposite side of her pince-nez eye wear to ask if she could be of help. When he told her that he wanted a dress for afternoon wear, she led the way to a set of French doors over which was inscribed in characters reminiscent of an old Dore print, "The Chateau." Plaster mannequins posed about the room in various stages of dress and undress. How Brenda's eyes would have fluttered wide open at this sight! She always had wanted something from this store, but since the prices were slanted toward the Gold Coast trade the projected shopping trip had never progressed beyond the stage of wishful thinking.

Although her band box appearance was one of the links in the chain that eventually bound him to her, his first glimpse of Brenda had been so fleeting that he could not have said whether she was dressed well or in glaring bad taste. How does it happen that in a crowd of people where not one face is familiar to another, two persons will match eyes and for one swift moment the relationship is almost as intimate as an embrace?

Often that encounter is both the beginning and the end. But sometimes, as in the case of Brenda and Monty, there is destiny in that brief exchange. Their eyes had met for just a second as they moved with the crowd into the street in front of Orchestra Hall, and then each was lost to the other until the next week when both of them had come back to hear the second in a four-week series of concerts.

After the program Monty paused to look over the notices of coming musical events, which was something he had never done before, and at the same time his eyes darted over the crowd, waiting for the kaleidoscope of faces to turn up the one he would recognize at a glance.

When the contact was made neither one said anything very novel, but with a mutual appreciation of music as a beginning they soon found they had other, more basic, interests in common. Although they would like to have been married right away, Monty was taking his civil service examinations at the time and he thought it best to wait until his job at the post office was secured.

The dress Monty finally selected, after carefully reconsidering several runners-up, was an interesting design called "The Comet." It was dark blue—almost black—an exquisite style with a shooting star emblazoned in silver sequins on the left shoulder with a trail of star dust in its wake. It was, he felt satisfied, a perfect union of balance and restraint.

From a selection of sheer nylons Monty chose the shade that Brenda always bought.

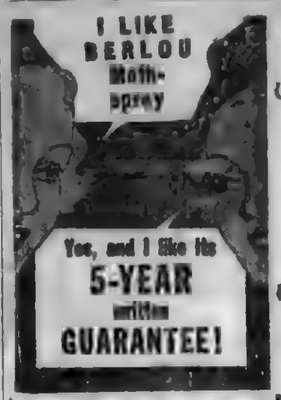
The saleslady asked if she could show him anything else. He quickly checked the mental list. One more purchase to make. Thanking her for her help, he walked out of the shop pulling on the hat which he had been holding in his hand. With the packages clamped firmly under his arm, he moved through the crowd for several blocks and then slipped into a less-trafficked street. He entered a neat and compact shop where summer flowers bloomed as radiantly as if it were June.

The florist brought out a large vase filled with full-blooded roses in graduated stages of bloom, and from them Monty was invited to make his choice. He put twenty-four carefully to one side, keeping in mind that they would be delivered

Tomorrow. As he thought about seeing her again after the first separation in almost ten years of married life he began to build the anticipated scene in his mind . . .

At the little writing desk he found a plain white card and a matching envelope. He wrote simply, "For Brenda. With love, Monty."

When he reached home again the murky grey of the winter afternoon had begun to gloam into dusk as the lights came on in the streets and the stars blinked on in the sky making him aware of the glitter of the snow under foot and the scrunch, scrunch of it as he put his weight forward. As he turned in at the walk he noticed that the outside lights were not burning. Always before when he came home after dark these two symbols were glowing as an advance greeting.



He walked to the desk and lighted the lamp. The picture came to life as the dark brown eyes caught his and held.

He turned to the window and opened the venetian blinds. Through the lattice of bare branches Monty looked at the stars scattered like diamonds on the black velvet night. It didn't seem possible that it had happened to them.

For the first time Monty was glad there were no children. It had all happened so swiftly that before there was time to make an adequate defense, the harmless little cold had become double pneumonia, and in a few days Brenda was gone. He watched a star leave its orbit with a flash of light and veer off into space. Very quietly he said, "Bon voyage, darling!"

The Rea-Bow Association News

By Dorothy Fowler

The Franklin County Social Club entertained with a television show, in Rea-Bow Hall Saturday, July 1. All enjoyed the ladies' wrestling matches.

On Saturday, July 9, the social club will hold a "Carnival Night" in Rea-Bow Hall. Woodrow Irvin will be master of ceremonies, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Sayder will be in charge of the canteen. Jack Young is in charge of the play ground. Round and square dancing, with balloon and spot dancing will be held. There will be other entertainment throughout the evening.

Saturday, July 23, will be "Sale Night"—members will bring any article they wish to sell—5c to $5.00, with 25 per cent going to the association building fund.

Oman Irvin has been placed in charge of the city water petitions. The association is seeking city water for the Rainbow Addition.

Mrs. Thomas Taylor heads the city gas committee. It is hoped that both gas and water will soon be in the area.

Plans for a picnic, to be held at Maple Shades, Sunday, August 6, are in full swing. Mrs. Garless Chapman is chairman with Lawrence Whitaker in charge of the entertainment.

Some of the social club gathered at the home of George Wolfe, 800 Midland-av, Friday, June 30, for a fish fry, held in the yard.

Guests of Dorothy Fowler were Edna Crew, Mary Fritz, Saturday, July 1.

CAN DO
Give Your Home a Color Treatment

TOO MANY persons take dull and cheerless rooms for granted, seldom realizing that the addition of color to the inside of a house makes the difference, between a drab and a sprightly place to live.

But more than that, color can go beyond the basic "cheerfulness" idea and can be used as a disguise for poor architectural features and other glaring room faults. If you understand what you're doing, that is.

The trick is all in knowing how and why to use contrasting colors. Here are some elementary ideas that will give you some knowledge of how to camouflage with colors:

If you are cursed with a room that is deadly square, you can make it appear more rectangular by painting or papering one or both end walls in a darker color than the side walls. A rectangular effect also can be created if furniture or built-ins are arranged to produce a center of interest on one end wall, or if adjoining windows are treated as one by clever hanging of curtains and draperies. Anything, in short, that will detract from the boring symmetry of a perfect square will be of some help.

Equally offensive as the long-drum square is a room that is too long and narrow. You can produce the effect of a more pleasing rectangle here by painting or papering the narrow end walls in dark colors to contrast with light or vertically striped side walls.

More simply, you might try arranging your furniture to divide the room into two centers of activity, enhancing this effect by allowing draperies to extend beyond the windows, thus reducing wall length.

You can give larger proportions to a small room by limiting the color scheme to two colors, keeping the furniture small and painting the woodwork to match the walls. A wallpaper of small horizontal stripes will help a lot, or you can paint one wall to match the carpet.

Too-high ceilings can be brought down by employing horizontally-striped draperies or wallpaper and painting the ceiling a dark color or the color of the carpet. A more expensive alternative is to put wainscoting on the walls, with a scenic wallpaper above, setting this effect off with bookcases or long, low built-ins along one wall.

VERY often the question comes up as to how to remove wallpaper from insulating board walls—that is, paper that has been applied directly to a wallboard of one kind of material or another and not to plaster.

It's not too easy a job, but there is a special product on the market, designed especially for a task like this, that you probably can get at your hardware store.

A sponge and water will do the trick, but it's a messy, difficult chore.

When the paper is off, wipe the walls with a damp rag to remove all remains of wallpaper paste. Allow to dry thoroughly, then apply a coat of shellac. Rub down with fine sandpaper and put on a second thin coat of shellac. You now should have a good base which you can paint with any good grade of wall paint or semi-gloss enamel.

Aviation Series

Early Ventures In Flying Given Boost By Rickenbacher's Fame In War I

By Myron T. Seifert

An impetus was given aviation in 1919, following World I, and in the path of Ace Rickenbacher's fame an airplane belonging to the Ohio Aerial flew from the field along Sullivant and S. Richardson-avs. The ship was here for the purpose of carrying passengers over Columbus and to neighboring towns, also for teaching anyone wishing to learn to fly. The men who had charge of it were former army fliers, and were engaged in civilian flying since their discharge from the army. "Now is the time to see Columbus from above, and have an absolutely new experience," the Hilltop Record in November 1919, editorialized.

First aerial photograph of the Hilltop, and its environs, was made by the Ohio Aerial also.

Recital of the activities of aerial photography on the Hilltop were noted in the Nov. 26, 1919 edition of the Record and read: "The managers of the passenger airplane making trips over Columbus have taken a picture of a large portion of the Hilltop as seen from above. The picture takes both sides of Broad-st as far west as Burgess-av, and can be seen at Slater's drug store, Burgess and Broad. You can get one of them for one dollar. The picture is very clear and presents an interesting view."

Although air mail lines have been operating since 1918 in other sections of the country, a new era was ushered in the Columbus Airport progenitor of Gomer Jones Airport on Sullivant-av on a Wednesday morning in August, 1928 at 6:18 when the first mail plane carrying letters a few hours old from Cleveland and Akron.

Days of the first stage across the mountain, the first ride of the pony express through to the coast and the driving of the last spike in the Union Pacific railroads in 1869 joining the two coasts by rail were recalled as this new era of transportation of mail became a realization in Columbus, and at Columbus airport on the Hilltop.

Plane number one of the Continental Air Lines, piloted by William M. McConnell, carried two bags of mail for Columbus from Cleveland and Akron. Two sacks were picked up from here. Postmaster Tibbetts was at the field to greet the first plane. The plane was off the field at 6:25 on its way to Dayton.

Formal opening of the Airport took place on the previous night with the landing of the return from the south. Several planes landed at the field with the air mail plane. Postmasters from Louisville, Cincinnati, Dayton and Akron were aboard a trimotored plane (Ford) on their way to Cleveland where they were the guests of the postmaster there.

Ships on their way to Dayton, Cincinnati, and Louisville stopped thereafter at the Columbus Airport every day at 6:25 a. m. and on the return trip enroute to Akron and Cleveland at 6:45 p. m.

With the opening of this new mail route cheaper mail rates were effective. A letter to any point in the United States could be mailed at the rate of five cents for the first ounce and 10 cents for each ounce thereafter.

The following cities with the advent of aviation mail had practically over night service to Columbus by connection made with eastern and western routes: Minneapolies, Omaha, Kansas City, Milwaukee, Chicago, Detroit, Buffalo, Boston, New York, and Philadelphia.

Probably the first plane crackup in this vicinity was in November 1929, when the pilot and passenger escaped after the plane hit trees on a Trabue-rd farm. The pilot received slight injuries, the passenger was uninjured and the plane they were riding in was wrecked. The crash occured on the Tarbue farm, two miles north of Broad-st, in Hague av.

The pilot was Edward F. Singleton of Detroit, enroute to Victoria, O., and his passenger was O. L. Otho, resident of Detroit. The plane they were flying was an Eagle Rock biplane.

Singleton was atempting to land at the Columbus Airport, Sulivant-av, but because of the darkness he decided to land in the meadow at the farm. He failed to clear the trees, however, and the plane hit one and landed in another. Three wings, propeller and under carriage were destroyed

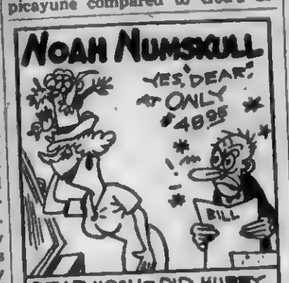
By William "Doc" Campbell

The Peace of the Mountains

As I sit on our rockbound, pine covered island of only about 30 by 75 feet I think of Washington, Lafayette, Ethan Allen and other "greats" who probably passed this isle over 175 years ago in the interests of PEACE. Yes, these same high mountains, the same waters, with different foliage, all were seen through the eyes of our protectors and I, too, humbly gaze upon them this early morn across beautiful, bloody, war-torn, historical Lake George.

A stiff wind is blowing and churns the waters. Three lads are asleep in the "Caboose Tent" after a hectic day. Two of them climbed about 1200 feet, straight up through primeval forest. We two who were left watched to see their white shirts as they came to open spots.



These mountains here, some three to five thousand feet high, are among the oldest on the continent and are "chuck full" of iron. They were considerably higher but have been worn down during the untold ages.

As I sit and contemplate this most virgin woodland, my thrill comes from "memory". God said in effect, "The mountains from whence cometh my strength" and it is so true. Man's inventions are picayune compared to God's divine plan—His everlasting variety of stone, birds, bugs, trees, etc., His tiny insects, billions of ants, delicate, tender creatures so small they could be encased in a pin head. The birds (I just heard my lively song sparrow.) are rare here. Only one robin have I seen in two and one-half weeks, but the whippoorwill calls to its mate at dusk.

Now, at 7:30 a. m., all is awakening; the fellows too, but the wind is gaining in intensity. The "Indians" (?) are roving these pine-clad mountains. God dwells in every lovely thing, and ALL is so peaceful! What a relief from our teeming W. Broad-st, its noise—terrible noise—its tearing speed (breaking laws), people car crazy!

You are so removed here from man's industrial and sometimes maniacal inventions that to spend at least two weeks in this gorgeous mountain paradise is one way to find your God and His tremendous manifestations! Please stop tearing about and thinking you will live long and be happy by it. To the contrary! Come to some north woods in hot July and August and relax and imbibe this nectar of God's, this wondrous and free gift—"the peace of the mountains".

Hilltop SPORT SHORTS

By Dave Miller

Dick Kirk, slugging outfielder of West's 1948 baseballers, is now a professional ball player, playing center-field for Portsmouth of the Ohio-Indiana League . . . Dick Hoover, West grad of 1945, has seven wins against one defeat for Class AA Atlanta of the Southern Association. Hoover started out under the New York Giant farm system, playing with Minneapolis of the American Association and Jersey City of the International Loop in 1947 . . . West High probably produces more baseball professionals than any other Greater Columbus school with such standouts as Carl Hosler, "Shog" Haines and Jack Thrush still in the ranks.

Hats off to probably the most unheralded athletes at West High School, and we mean none other than all-around athletes Bill Thrush and Bob Epps, both graduates of the recent June, 1950, class.

Epps, who has a string of records and athletic achievements behind him, was just another boy at the state track meet about two months ago. Bob, who set a West-best in the pole vault of 11'7¼" against North, was beaten only two out of nine times during the season. After setting the Cowboys' record, he went to the state track at OSU field, and did 12'0" and guess what he got—a tie for fifth place, receiving 1/5 of a point.

In addition, Bob was a member of the varsity basketball team and in football was West's lone representative on the all-city team, being one of only four boys throughout the city who were picked on all-three newspapers' teams.

Bill Thrush needs no introduction. He, as everyone knows, is the blond haired brother of West's ex-all around athlete, Jack Thrush (class of June '48). Bill played football, and on the recent '49 team he alternated at end and quarterback, but his laurels were yet to come. Bill was the scoring twin along with Phil Young throughout the 1949-50 basketball season, with Thrush getting runnerup spot to Young in the City League individual scoring race, missing the title by eight points. Bill and Phil together for the year scored 634 points. However, Thrush didn't stop there. He continued his brilliant high school sports career throughout the 1950 baseball season to end the season with an average of .340, third best of the regulars on the team, in addition to making only one error at third base throughout the season of 16 games.

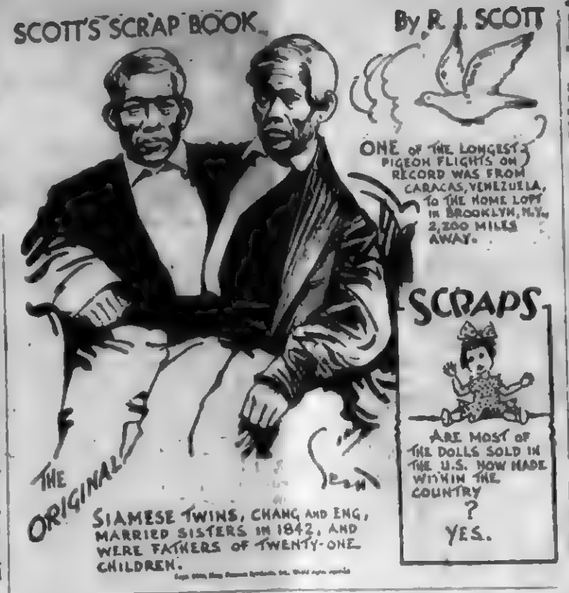
Morris Dobbs, West's leading hitter of the past baseball season and all-city choice at first base, ended the season with a .422 mark. However, that's not all.

Big "Mo" is back for another season of baseball in '51. Two years ago, Mo, as a sophomore, hit .385 while playing regular in left-field throughout the season. This year he moved to first base after the hand injury to Jack Winnestaffer just prior to the season's opening. "Mo" is expected to be moved back to the outfield in '51 while Eddie Gliebs, a more experienced first sacker, handles the assignment.

Both play on the Camp Chase No. 1 team, and in fact practically the entire team is made up of next year's West hopefuls. The infield, in addition to Gliebs at first, has Russell Friend, Jimmy Vincent, "Bing" Reeves and Ellis Easterly: Catchers Ken Garber and Ron Farley; Pitchers Jim Smith Bill Smith and Ted Bladt and Outfielders Ron McElwee, Mo Dobbs, Durward Vincent and Al Shade.

Representative to the Columbus Nazarene Softball League is the local Hilltop Nazarene Church, undefeated in three outings as of this writing. The team includes Catchers Cliff Everett and Neil Beard. Pitchers Chris Perdue and Ed Lantz. Infielders Dick Neff, Del Sturtz, Keith Williams and Dave Miller and Outfielders Lud Smith, Walt Smith, Dave Laff and Dave Priest.

George Ours, West High grad of six years ago, is starring now as a softball hurler for Westinghouse Electric. Following his graduation from West, George attended Ohio State where he was a member of the varsity for two seasons. He has pitched two no-hitters in as many years for his present softball team.



Hoge Memorial's City Intermediate basketball champions recently received beautiful double-lined jackets. Ben Lewis, Jr. athletic director at the local church, also coached the squad this season.

Don Gilmore, Hilltop resident and ex-Central High pitcher, who was severely burned in the Duluth bus tragedy which cost the lives of seven, two years ago, recently underwent the last operation in the battle for recovery at Mt. Carmel Hospital. Gilmore was a member of the Duluth team. Gilmore's most recent operation was on his ankle. Following the surgery, his condition was reported "good". He plans to return to baseball next season, if not as a player then in an executive capacity. Gilmore and his wife are looking forward to another event with keen anticipation also — a visit from the stork.

Janet Gove, 1834 Sullivant-av., won first prize for the most unusual pet at the pet show on Wednesday the 21st. Janet won with her pet hamster. Second prizes were awarded to Jimmy Mintin's cat, Ronnie Ogden's cat, Sheila Neel's dog, Jerry Hawk's puppy, and Shirley Hanslick's dog. Others who entered their pets were Patty Lloyd, Jerry Jenkins and Carol Mintun. The pet show was sponsored by the Hilltop Community Council who gave awards to the winners.

Glenwood Recreation Center is offering a diversified program for both the youngsters and their parents this summer. Movies are shown on Monday at 2 p. m. free of charge and at 11 a. m. on Saturday the Hilltop YMCA presents movies for a nickel charge.

On Tuesday and Thursday afternoons there is a story hour at which stories of Bambi, and the Three Little Bears, recorded by Shirley Temple will be heard.

Dick Koontz is organizing a class for teen-age boys and girls who want to learn how to play tennis. Those interested should contact him at RA. 7416 as soon as possible. Racquets and balls will be available for those who do not have their own.

The Glenwood playground opens at 12:30 and closes at 8:30 p. m. daily except Saturday and Sunday when the play apparatus is locked for the weekend. However, the picnic facilities are always available to anyone who cares to use them.

Household Hint

Before buying a saucepan, put it down on a level base and see how tippy it is. If the handle is too heavy or the bottom of the pan is not large enough, it will always be a source of trouble and danger.

The Low Down On High Ridgers

By One of Them

The BILL SCHAFERS just got a 19-inch television-radio-record combination. Nothing like doing it up right. Are you having "open house," Bill?

Over the waves and down the river ride the FLOYDS in their new boat. That being the third one, "Dottie III" is its name.

KAY WATTS sprained her ankle and was seen around town on crutches. It seems she was gardening and tripped on a blade of grass or something. She's o.k. now. Did you notice those new tires on their car? (or haven't you put them on yet?)

The RUMFIELDS name will be carried on to another generation, now that baby LARRY was born last week. Congratulations! Another policy sold for HERB.

Since SCOTTS are gone we are anxious to know and meet our new neighbors. Haven't heard their names yet.

HELEN OVERNOFF paid a bill one morning, and her husband paid it again that afternoon. They have two receipts to show for it, so now they can buy something for nothing. Who said you can't get ahead of these department stores? These two did. How this family ever made a mistake like that is beyond me. I never have any extra money to even pay ONE bill. Wifey takes it all.

Ever since HENRY MINNEAR broke his knee last spring, he's had other troubles, tonsilitis; had to get new glasses; broke two teeth, and only yesterday he was stung by one of these green and black jobs—the bumble bee.

BOB and MARIE GARDINER bought themselves a portable organ. They're having lots of fun learning turns with that and their Jews' harp.

"POP" COUSINS broke his favorite record and he's been trying all over town to replace it. If I'd known the name of it I could put it in this column and ask the Hi Ridgers to help him find another.

Television star MRS. BERNARD FLOYD won two prizes on Pantry Party. Why don't all you wives get together and have a Hi Ridge Pantry Party on television? You'd probably have lots of fun.

Rea and Rainbow News

By JoAnn Eidd

Mr. and Mrs. Earl Grimes of 924 Midland-av, are spending their vacation with friends and relatives in Philadelphia, Pa. Mrs. Grace Orr, mother of Mrs. Grimes, will return home with them to make her home in Rainbow.

Twin sons were born Thursday, June 29, to Mr. and Mrs. Harris Rodgers of 865 Midland-av. This is the second set of twin boys born in Rainbow in the last two months.

The Church of Christ in Christian Union held its church picnic last Saturday.

Lanny Kidd of 1960 Hunt-av spent last week with his grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Emil Kimberling of Hague-av.

Jimmie Dailey spent the weekend with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Cartwright and family of 2027 Rea-av. He is with the US Air Forces and is stationed at Scott Field, Ill. A buddy, Lew Cochnuer, accompanied him home.

Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Dailey of 853 Butler-av, observed their sixteenth wedding anniversary, Saturday evening. Those who helped to celebrate were Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Cartwright and children of Rea-av, Stanley Ward of Whitehead-rd, Dorsel Casto and Paul Wimer of Columbus, Jimmie Dailey and Lew Cochnuer who are on leave from US Air Force and Mr. and Mrs Dailey and family.

A son was born Tuesday, June 27, to Mr. and Mrs. Oren Jackson of 906 Midland-av.

Mrs. Bertha Irvin, Mildred, Buleah and Rodger of 938 Midland-av, and Cleo Irvin and children of 873 Midland-av, spent the week-end at Waverly.

"The Message of Peace" is the title of the Christian picture to be shown at Rea's Cabin, on Hyde-rd, Saturday, July 9.

Ernest B. Kidd of 1950 Hunt-av, will enter OSU in September to take special training in his line of business.

Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Holobaugh, Jr., and daughter, Judy of 1060 Whitethorne-av, Mrs. Jack Holobaugh, daughter, Frances, and Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Holobaugh of Blacklick attended the wedding of Miss Charlene McDermott to Mr. Cletus Keller of Cincinnati. The wedding took place last Saturday morning at Cincinnati. A reception followed at the Quebeck Gardens.

Miss McDermott is the granddaughter of Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Holobaugh, Sr. She formerly resided on Whitethorne-av, and attended Briggsdale school.

How Long Did It Take You To Court Your Wife?

Did you just happen to see her, walk up to her, ask her to marry you, call in the minister—right on the spot? Perhaps not – it probably took a lot of calls, many evenings on the family davenport, movies, flowers, candies – and a lot of nice things over a period of time before you closed the deal.

It's the same with advertising . . . You can't "woo" customers with one ad . . . you've got to "call on them" over a period of time.

Character

The "how to improve yourself" book seems to be here to stay. If you doubt it, check your bookstore.

There, on shelf after shelf, are publications that can help you. Do you want to make friends and influence people? There's a best-seller on that subject. Do you want to improve your vocabulary—your posture—your earning power—your garden—your speech? If so, there are self-improvement books on these and many other topics. . . .

But one book is missing—the most important book of all. That's the book on how to improve your character.

You see, character just can't be built up or improved upon with the help of any book, although there are many good books to tell you what it is. Characters must grow with the man.

Churches know this. They know that character isn't a commodity with a price tag on it, even though it's the most valued possession a man may have. Character grows in direct proportion to a man's belief in himself, his fellow-men, and his God.

Go to the bookstore for self-improvement aids in other fields. They can be acquired from the printed page. But go to your church for help in attaining your most important quality—the quality of character.

The integrity of the upright shall guide them.—Pr. 11:3.

For good character must grow with God. . . .

Compulsive Drinking Key To Alcoholism Disease

(This is the second of a series of six articles published by The Hilltop Record to inform the public of the seriousness of this problem, and to solicit aid and understanding for the victims of alcoholism. This series is written by an alcoholic, who from his experiences, contacts with hospitals, psychiatrists and other alcoholics, has been able to draw a well-rounded picture of a national problem.)

At the outset of this article, it should be made clear that we are not dealing with drunkenness, temperance, prohibition or any of the moral or political aspects of alcohol. We are soley interested in those phases of drinking which signify the threat of alcoholism. We need to know what compulsive drinking is, for it is the compulsion to drink which denotes the disease of alcoholism.

By an Alcoholic

People drink for a number of interesting reasons. They want to be polite, sociable, have a good time, quench thirst, pep up the appetite, promote a feeling of self-importance, or possibly seek companionship frequently found in drinking atmospheres. These and many other reasons, too numerous to mention, may or may not be the real motive behind one's drinking. However, none of these mentioned herein aptly fit the purpose of the alcoholic's drinking, though he may provide any one of the excuses if asked directly why he drinks.

The alcoholic drinks because he has to if he is to find living bearable. He is irresistibly driven to drink even though he may hate the taste of liquor, despise the results of his drinking and himself for drinking. Some inner disorder literally causes him to surrender reason to the madness of alcoholic indulgence. His drinking is the symptom of an underlying illness. The disordered thinking, impulsiveness and pent-up emotional fury of the alcoholic find explosive outlet in the form of uncontrolled drinking.

Dr. Abraham Myerson of Boston points out that one should be mindful of a possible drinking problem if he or she experiences one of the following motives for drinking: 1. Enjoying a party or social gathering only when liquor is available; 2. Longing for the time of day when one can drink; 3. Considering alcohol necessary to relaxation or enjoyment; 4. Turning automatically to alcohol each day to overcome anxiety, disgust, fatigue, or frustration; 5. Having a drinking objective which is something different than the drink itself—using alcohol to acquire a state of mind which one cannot attain through normal means.

There are various types of drinkers and the alcoholic may have passed through the respective classifications slowly or rapidly, or may have gapped some of them to become alcoholic without progressive formality. The moderate drinker is one who uses a small amount of alcohol from time to time for taste and mild effect. He can stop drinking at any time without feeling of loss or denial. He is not dependent on alcohol. The habitual social drinker indulges practically every day for relaxation and kick, but not sufficiently to injure his health or seriously interfere with the conduct of his daily routine and personal affairs. Over a period of time, he might increase his drinking in order to get the desired effect once produced with less alcohol. This would be due to the increased tolerance level brought about through continued use of alcohol. The excessive drinker can usually get along without alcohol if he so desires. However, he ordinarily drinks frequently and in large quantities because he wants to and not because he has to. He runs the risk of dulling his personality assets in time and producing troublesome situations which might invite escape through alcohol. The alcohol addict is a person who cannot keep up his interest in life without the use of large quantities of alcohol. He cannot accept the responsibilities or failure of life without recourse to alcohol. Such a drinker cannot give up drinking voluntarily even when he realizes that it is harming himself and others.

Chronic alcoholics are those who developed bodily or mental disorders as a result of prolonged heavy drinking, or who had them prior to taking their first drink and aggravated them through excessive drinking. A large number of alcoholics show a history of 10 to 15 years of relatively controlled drinking before developing the compulsive, uncontrolled phase.

There are two types of chronic alcoholics who are classified as primary and secondary compulsive drinkers. The primary type is one who was basically maladjusted before he ever commenced to use alcohol. His emotional development from childhood was faulty and when in his adult years, maintains a feeling of incompetency. He develops a sense of inadequacy, inefficiency, unworthiness and anxiety. Such a person finds it extremely difficult to comply with the demands made upon him by society and alcohol looms as a way out. However, once the alcohol is removed, his neurotic condition still remains and his painful feelings made more painful. Feelings of guilt and remorse plague this person until he is driven to the use of more and more alcohol to escape his mounting difficulties—all to no avail, of course. Thus, a vicious circle is set up and the victim caught in a vortex of confusion and despair.

The secondary compulsive drinker appears originally as a fairly well adjusted person. He may be an extrovert centering his interests in other people, things and activities as opposed to the primary type who, as an introvert, is a basically selfish self-centered individual. The secondary type would not be labeled a neurotic at the outset of his dringing career. However, after relatively controlled drinking over a period of years, a situation or crisis might suddenly arise which he would attempt to solve or escape through alcohol. Up to this point, his use of alcohol had been for the drink itself—not for the relief of anxiety or tension. Hence, his drinking may have undergone a serious change. As later difficulties dawn, this person would be in extreme danger of resorting to alcohol as an escape medium and eventually provoke the inevitable family, occupation, financial and social troubles usually resulting from overindulgence.

Again, we see the vicious circle setting in for the secondary type. He would display all the maladjustments which the primary type did before he started to drink. In the last analysis both types look and act alike in the throes of alcoholism, though basically they are different.

Dr. Edward Strecker has indicated that an overindulgent mother frequently plays a vital role on potential alcoholics. He feels that overindulgence in childhood sows the seeds of maladjustment and indecision in adult years. Such a person is a likely prospect for excessive drinking once alcohol's appeasing escape qualities have been discovered. He would encourage early childhood respect for reality to avoid later inclination to escape such reality.

The following article will describe the trademarks of alcoholic behavior — symptoms which indicate loss of control over alcohol and their relationship to the appearance of alcoholism.

Hilltop YMCA Memberships Still Sought

Latest report of Averille Thorn, executive secretary of the Hilltop YMCA, discloses that the "Y" membership fund is still $678 short of its goal of $2500. Figures released today show total receipts in the membership fund of $1,822 and a total of $1,577 in the building fund.

Thorn also released a list of persons who have contributed to the membership campaign, for whom he has no address listed. These persons, said Thorn, have membership cards coming to them and he urged that they contact the local "Y" in order that proper cards be issued to them.

Thorn said that membership cards will be issued to those persons listed if they will contact him at the Hilltop YMCA, 2585 W. Broad-st.

R. R. Rodenfels Is Named Head Of Local Firm

Richard R. Rodenfels, son of the founder of the Rodenfels Chevrolet Co., 568 W. Broad-st, was elected president and general manager of the firm at a special meeting of directors during the past week-end.

John L. Rodenfels, another son of the founder, was elected vice president, treasurer, and sales manager.

As general manager, Rodenfels succeeds John W. Keefer, who resigned recently after 24 years service with the firm. Keefer left to purchase the Delaware Motor Sales, Inc., at Delaware, O.

In his new post as president, Rodenfels succeeds his father, Leo Rodenfels, who has headed the company since he founded it in May, 1924. The elder Rodenfels was named chairman of the board of directors, and his wife, Maria, was elected secretary, a post also held by Keefer prior to his resignation.

Howard C. Lloyd, who has been with the firm for 21 years, will continue as used car manager.

The company also announced a new used car lot that will increase its facilities for the handling and sale of used cars and is now under construction adjoining the sales and service building.

The new lot will virtually complete an expansion program begun in 1947 when construction of the firm's present home was started.

No More K-9 Corps For "Nipper"

Whether or not dogs will lead an army life, now that the Korean situation has become worse, is not of too much consequence to "Nipper", who is the pet of Mrs. Samuel G. Sands, 1492 Thomas-av. "Nipper" was a member of the K-9 Corps during World War II and was in service from May, 1943, to July, 1945. An affectionate Dalmatian, she became deafened through her war-time experience and doesn't expect to be called back to service. She is shown here looking rather ruefully at her discharge certificate held by Mrs. Sands.

Cruisermen Given A Workout In Early Morn Roundup Duty

"When it's round-up time in————"

Start singing that song in the presence of Cruiser Patrolmen Victor Reeb and Raymond McClain and then take off for the high timber. They don't appreciate a reminder of last Friday's round-up duty on the Hilltop.

The two police officers turned cowboys early Friday and rounded up two horses south of W. Mound-st on the Chesterspire-rd after a wild chase across fields and streams in the area. The two were called to "round-up duty" when a neighbor reported seeing two horses in his front yard.

The patrolmen chased the animals on foot in a field south of Mound-st, "in foliage up to their necks," and as if that weren't enough, the amateur cowboys plunged into a creek as they continued the chase.

Finally, wet, winded and weed covered, the officers cornered the horses against a barb wire fence about three-quarters of a mile from where the chase began.

The horses apparently in good shape from their early morning canter were returned to the Hilltop Riding Academy, at Eakin-rd and Eureka-av. The two blue-coated "cowboys" on the other hand staggered to their cruiser completely fed up with the antics of horses in general. Of "round-up duty" they want no more.

Wet Pavements Said Cause of Accident

Shown above is the wrecked auto in which Walter E. Campbell, 46, of 344 S. Hague-av, was hurt when it struck a utility pole last Wednesday afternoon in the 1400 block of N. Hague-av. Campbell was pinned in the car for 20 minutes before sheriff's deputies freed him. (Citizen photo)

Slippery pavements were blamed last Wednesday as the cause of an accident on N. Hague-av, in which Walter Caldwell, 55, of 344 S. Hague-av, suffered a possible skull fracture and fractured left arm. Caldwell was taken from the accident scene to Mt. Carmel Hospital for treatment of his injuries.

According to a report of Sheriff's Deputy Homer T. Ripple, Caldwell was driving north on Hague-av in the 1300 block when he lost control of his car and crashed into a utility pole.

The pole was pushed over and the 1939 model coach landed on its top. Caldwell was alone in the auto at the time of the accident.

Osteopath Group Elects Dr. Hulett Sergeant-at-Arms

Dr. Guy S. Hulett, 2413 W. Broad-st, was one of two Ohioans elected to office at the national convention of the American Osteopathic Society held in Columbus this past Saturday. Dr. Hulett was elected to the post of sergeant-at-arms at the conclave.

Other new officers selected by the national assemblage were Dr. R. R. Norwood, Mineral Wells, Tex., president; Dr. J. A. Brandon, Lorain, vice-president; Dr. Leroy N. Lovelidge, Lancaster, Pa., secretary-treasurer, and Dr. H. A. Fisher, Detroit, program chairman.

West Broad St. Improvement Plan Is Revealed by Engineers

West Broad-st, from Hague-av to Southampton will undergo a major improvement by widening and resurfacing, next spring, according to plans revealed Friday by the Columbus City Engineering Department.

The street is scheduled to be widened five feet on each side for the 14 block interim as a part of a project which also includes the improvement of a 25 block area on E. Broad-st, it was disclosed.

Engineering department heads said that the entire resurfacing and widening program which is to start next spring will cost an estimated $260,000. Plans for the project call for the resurfacing of the entire area from new curb line to new curb line. Cost of the improvement, it was said, will not be assessed against property [illegible]

At the present time the city is working with state and federal government agencies to obtain funds for the improvements. It is said, that with these funds, the cost to the city is expected to be about 15 cents for each dollar spent.

The improvement will force the cutting down of many large trees. However, officials point out that many of these trees are either diseased or in such a condition as to be classed as unsafe.

Engineers who have surveyed the area said that in some instances sidewalks will have to be moved as the widening will consume them. This work, too, is done by the city without cost to the property owner.

New, young trees of a hardy nature will replace trees removed. This, too, will be done at the expense of the city.

Street light standards will have to be set back five feet. But this will be in line with the new "whiteway" lighting system for Broad-st from west to east corporation line. Present plans are for the new system to be installed beginning this fall.

It was pointed out by engineers that while the street is in fair condition, having few or no chuck holes, it is rolly, giving motorists a bouncing ride. Part of this, it is claimed, was caused by heavy trucks which used the state and national highway in transporting of war supplies during the World War II years.

Even after the improvement is completed, it is pointed out that W. Broad-st will still vary in width. At present it measures 60 feet in width from the W. Broad-st-bridge to Hague-av.

The street will continue to maintain four lanes of traffic after the widening and resurfacing program is completed. The difference, engineers explained, will be less congestion and fewer hazards, permitting an even, free movement of present-day heavy traffic.

Kiwanians Name Mum Festival Committeemen

Charles Campbell, 2766 W. Broad-st, was appointed by Hilltop Kiwanians at their regular weekly meeting to head the Mum Festival planning committee which is to be a top project of the local service club this fall.

Campbell in turn has selected a working committee to aid him in carrying out details of the program which were discussed in a meeting held Monday evening. No definite plans have yet been made according to Campbell, who said that another meeting would be necessary in order to correlate all suggestions into one plan before public announcement of the venture could be made.

Named to the committee to assist in the promotion of the annual "Mum" Festival are Russell Carter, Ed. Witherspoon, Edgar Planck, Larry Scales, Jerry Watson, John Nippert, Jack Merriman, Herbert Kunzie, Otto Best, Cliff Mathews, Curt Wilcox and Dr. R. J. Miller.

HARTLEY HOSPITALIZED

C. Carlton Hartley, 1370 Wilson-rd, publisher of The Hilltop Record and The West Side News, is a patient at Mt. Carmel Hospital, having been admitted to the hospital Sunday.

Hilltoppers Hurt In Freak Mishaps Monday P. M.

Two Hilltoppers were injured in unusual accidents late Monday afternoon. Both were taken to Mt. Carmel Hospital for treatment.

Michael Wolf, 10-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Wolf, 16 Mutland-av, suffered a cut upper lip when the bicycle he was riding struck an auto driven by Walter Thrailkill, 1907 Fairmont-av, at Lochner-av, just north of Broad-st. Police said the boy was riding on the handlebars of a bicycle pedaled by Wayne Robinson, 17 Whitethorne-av.

Mrs. Bernice King, 35, 458 N. Hague-av, suffered cuts on her face and left arm and shock when struck by several beer cases which fell from a truck at Broad-st and Hague-av.

Driver of the truck was James W. Joyce, 27, of 1183 E. Whittier-st, who said that the cases fell from the truck when he made a sudden stop.

Korean War Causes Traced By Returned Embassy Aide

"The war in Korea was anticipated over a year ago, but we couldn't do anything about it," is the way A. E. MacDonald, 349 S. Chase-av, expressed the present war situation to members of the Holy Name Society of St. Mary Magdalene Parish at the school hall last Thursday evening.

Recently returned from two and a half years in Korea, where he was chief of the Accounting and Auditing Branch of the American Embassy at Seoul (pronounced soul), MacDonald, because of the war, doubted that he still held a job with the State Department.

He described Korea as being 35,000 square miles in size and mountainous, with weather conditions similar to that found in Washington, D. C. He likened the rainy season there to the rainy weather experienced here recently.

According to MacDonald, only 35 per cent of the people are educated and sanitary conditions leave much to be desired. Southern Korea has a native population of 30,000,000 people, whereas Northern Korea has a population of 15,000,000 Koreans.

The present trouble, he said, had its inception with the foreign ministers' agreement in Moscow at which time representatives from Russia, the United Kingdom, China and the United States decided upon the 38th parallel as the dividing line between Communist held Northern Korea and the United Nations sponsored republic of Southern Korea.

In 1948 Russia practically withdrew all representatives from the United Nations meetings and set up the People's Government in Northern Korea. In the latter part of 1948, all the GI's were withdrawn from Southern Korea, leaving only an advisory group. The army was only to stay until free elections were held.

During all this time the Russians supplied arms to the people living north of the 38th parallel. No one was permitted north of this line, although the Russians travelled freely throughout all of Southern Korea.

Particularly unfortunate for the Koreans, stated MacDonald, is their historical background. Since 1592, they have at various times, been invaded and dominated by the Japanese, the Chinese and the Russians. They've never known freedom, until the crea-

Board of Education Shifts School Heads; Record Breaking Budget Set Up for 1951

In addition to setting up a record breaking $10-million budget to operate Columbus schools in 1951, the Columbus Board of Education in its meeting last Thursday also took other actions of direct import to the Hilltop and West Side. Other policy changes were also made during the meeting.

Juggling about of the personnel by the board stirred the most interest in these communities as Edgar W. House, of 3020 Woodbine-pl, current principal of Indianola Junior High School was moved up to the principalship of North High to fill the vacancy caused by the retirement of H. P. Swain.

House, who holds degrees from Ohio and Ohio State Universities, formerly taught at West High and served as principal at West and Starling Junior Highs.

L. W. Huber, 1776 Stelzer-rd, principal at Starling Junior High, was moved to the principalship of Indianola Junior High and is succeeded at Starling Junior High by W. W. Barlow, 1844 Greenway. Barlow was the principal at North Linden School.

Huber, who holds degrees from Capital and Ohio State Universities, prior to his service at Starling Junior High, served as principal of Chicago-av, E. Columbus and Shepherd schools.

Barlow the successor to Huber at Starling has previously been principal of Hubbard and Dana Avenue Schools.

Preparing for the fall term, the board also approved a change from the policy of semi-annual to an annual plan of admissions and promotions for the school system, effective Sept. 1.

The annual admissions and promotion plan affects kindergarten and first grade pupils as of Sept. 1. First graders must be at least six years of age on or before Dec. 31 of the school year to enter. It eliminates the February admissions.

Kindergarten pupils must be at least five years of age on or before Dec. 31. The plan as offered today would not affect the high school level for eight years.

In other action taken by the board in its Thursday meeting a permanently established school site was fixed for Fieser-Franklinton School, the area to be bounded by Skidmore, State, Grubb and Chapel-sts.

Approved also was action of Edward Kromer, school architect, giving the Scioto Engineering Co., until July 10, to start electrical work on West Broad, Dana and Heyl-av schools, which he said should have started June 7 and not later than June 12.

Beacon Light Course To Be Site of Seiller Handicap

Strange things are happening around Beacon Light Golf Course these days according to interested observers. Golfers have been counting all their strokes, playing them as they lie from the rough with no "gimme" puts, etc. being permitted.

There's a reason for this sudden attention to all strokes though, and a good one, too. The annual Seiller's Handicap gets underway next Sunday on the Beacon greens with the handsome Seiller trophy, now held by Barney McLain, as the prize to the winner. Various other lesser prizes will also go to the top golfers in the meet.

The trophies and club prestige, are a constant source of conversation as to who shoots what and why among the club members. At present the membership is jockeying about for handicap position in the forthcoming meet.

The following handicaps are based on 75 per cent of the difference between par (72) and the average of scores turned in by the contestants: Addison, 8; Baker, 13; Boyer, 16; Carper, 6; Case, 7; Clark, 14; Cockfield, 17; Dawson, 13; Friend, 6; Florio, 9; Fox, 13; Grady, 13; Grabill, 7; Hiatt, 7; Frazzine, 10; Hayes, 10; Huffman, 11; Hannish, 9; Jennings, 22; Keller, 13; Kanavel, 8; Leighninger, 7; Lilley, 21; Lynch, 15; Lewis, 13; Link, 10; McLain, 10; Miller, 13; Montague, 5; Moro, 10; Mulholland, 13; McDermott, 10; Mulholland, Ed, 27; Murray, 8; Browning, 7; Oddi, Toni, 5; Oddi, Leo, 4; Ravell, 13; Renolds, 23; Rhodes, 14; Richards, 4; Ruffing, 21; Schmelzer, 10; Kellner, 13; Theisen, 16; Tonti, 8; Taylor, 8; Ucker, 14; Wilcox, 16; Wenger, 8; Weisenberger, Don, 5; Weisenberger, Harry, 5; Wil-

Couple Wed on Graduation Day

Mr. and Mrs. Donald W. Hodgson

Monday, June 12, Miss Carolyn McAllister, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. L. H. McAllister, 144 S. Hu-con-av, was married in a double ring ceremony to Mr. Donald W. Hodgson, son of Mr. and Mrs. C. M. Hodgson, Long Island, N. Y. The ceremony was held at 2:30 p. m. following the couple's graduation from the College of Wooster.

They were married in the chapel on the College of Wooster campus by Rev. C. John L. Bates, dean of the chapel. Candelabra, palms and baskets of white chrysanthemums decorated the front of the chapel.

The bride, escorted to the altar and given in marriage by her father, wore a gown of white nylon marquisette over white taffeta. The fitted basque of her bodice was fashioned along princess lines with a Peter Pan collar. Her fingertip veil of imported illusion was held by a Juliet cap of net trimmed in seed pearls. She carried a small white Testament topped with a white orchid and satin flowers.

Gowns of the bridal attendants were fashioned similar to the bride's. Maid of honor, Miss Jean Preston, 206 S. Huron-av, wore white embroidered organdy over aqua taffeta. Her white picture hat was trimmed with maline and she carried white daisies.

The bridesmaids, Miss Patricia Hodgson, Miss Joyce Heath and Miss Helen Chacos, were dressed identically in white organdy over lilac.

Donald Shawver of Davenport, Iowa, was best man. Ushers were Richard Clark, David Dowd, Jack Nygaard and John Allen.

A reception for 200 guests was held in Galpin Hall. The bride's mother received her guests in a gown of aqua crepe with toast accessories. She wore a pink carnation corsage. The bridegroom's mother wore a burgundy silk dress with navy accessories and a white carnation corsage.

On her wedding trip the bride wore a white two-piece suit with navy accessories and her white orchid.

The couple is now at home at 1 Barberry-cd, Wooster, O.

Two more busy weeks have gone by with the pretty doll show and the noisy pet show well attended. Red ribbons and honorable mention for dolls in these events went to Roberta Ranney, Sharon Amore, Jean Castleman, Ruth Catlett, Linda McVay, Gloria Jean Dearwester, Carol Tiscus, Jody Jenkins, Mary Ann Dearwester, Jo Anne Burright, Carol Ann Tigver, Paula Van Meter, Sherry Clelland, Donna Street, Georgene Whitecraft, Cheryl Rowles and Kathleen Hartranft.

In the pet show, awards were made to Bob Milburn, Jimmy Graham, John Talmadge, Roberta Ranney, Marietta Morgan, Ruth Catlett, Calvin Lutz, Carol Tiscus, Joyce Moore, Maeda Lynn, Tommy Hartranft, Judy Kauderer, Rosemary Osman and Linda Winn. We appreciated so much the fine help given us in judging by Mrs. Robert Moore, Mrs. L. H. Tyffé and Mrs. Dan Boyd. We have enjoyed so much the cooperation and attendance of parents this year on the grounds, and if there are more things which should be done, or if there are things which should not be done, we would be glad to hear at any time.

All tournament entries should be with us these next few days, as entries will soon be made for the city-wide contests.

A Hearty Maindish

Something new and different to eat is always a welcomed change for the hungry family. This recipe for a hearty chowder stew, served with light-as-a-feather parsley dumplings will hit the spot and it is nutritious and filling, too.

The milk and Lima beans contribute the valuable protein needed to make it a substantial main dish, and with the corn and seasonings, no finer tasting food could be asked for. Here's a tempting way to include some of the milk each member of your family needs in his daily meals.

To make the parsley dumplings; use your own favorite dumpling recipe and add one-fourth cup of finely chopped parsley. Remember to have the stew simmering gently when you drop them on top and to keep the pan tightly covered while the dumplings are cooking.

Serve the chowder stew in a large bowl or soup tureen at the table. Crisp crackers, a tossed green salad and dessert plus milk will complete the menu.

Chowder Stew With Parsley Dumplings

1 cup diced salt pork or bacon
½ cup sliced onions
½ cup diced celery
3 cups cooked Lima beans
1½ cups whole kernel corn (12 ounce can)
4 cups milk, scalded
2 teaspoons salt
¼ teaspoon pepper
⅛ teaspoon paprika
1 teaspoon Worchestershire sauce
3 tablespoon flour

Fry salt pork cubes until lightly browned; add onions and celery and cook until light yellow in color. Add Lima beans, corn, scalded milk and seasonings. Simmer about 5 minutes. Blend 1 tablespoon flour in 2 tablespoons of water and stir into mixture. Meanwhile, make your favorite dumplings and add parsley. Drop from a spoon onto the top of the simmering chowder. Cover and cook for 12-15 minutes. Serve as a main dish. Serves 6.

Hilltop SPORT SHORTS

By Dave Miller

Probably the hottest softball pitcher on the Hilltop lately is Chris (Casey) Perdus, who hurls for Sta-Car in the Pennsylvania Railroad League and for Hilltop Nazarene in the Nazarene Church Softball League.

Chris has pitched all three wins for the local church team, and has hurled in every tilt for the once-beaten StaCar nine in the PRR league.

In addition to pitching great ball for the church team, he also is hitting at a neat .562 clip, including four home runs, while his highlight in the Railroad League was reached last week when he hurled a one-hitter, that on a bunt in the sixth inning.

The local Camp Chase American Legion post has gone all out in sponsoring Legion baseball teams, being well represented with three teams over the South-East and South-West League.

The teams are divided into squads in accordance mostly with the ratings of the teams. The three coaches are Homer Burke, Bob Welker and Bill Ferguson.

The first team is composed of next year's West High hopefuls. Homer Burke is the coach, and he has the following on his squad: infielders, Ed Gliebe, Russ Friend, Bing Reeves, Jimmy Vincent and Ellis Easterly; outfielders, Ron McElwee, Durwood Vincent, Al Shade and Mo Dobbs; pitchers, Bill South, Jim Smith and Ted Fladt; and catchers, Ron Farley and Kenny Garber.

The second team, under the direction of Welker, is composed mainly of boys who played for West Junior's pennant-winning baseball nine last season, and all will be making strong bids on the West baseball crew in the spring of '51.

On this team is Kenny Smothers or Bob Thornton as pitcher, with Bill Haire and Jimmy Hughes as receiver. The infield is composed of Joe Hutchison or Haire at first; John Morison at second; John Schultz at shortstop and Dick Hutchison at third. Herb Brown, Jim Kimball and Mark Langholz make up the outfield.

The No. 3 team, under the direction of Ted Collins and Bill Ferguson, have yet to win any league games. The main weakness that has prevented any wins thus far has just been the lack of good pitching, the other two teams soaking up all the good material on the mound, leaving No. 3 team with inexperienced moundsmen.

Joe DeMico has been handling first base for the team in addition to hitting near the .400 clip throughout the opening games of the season; Dave Morgan or Bill Popp switch off duties at second base while Larry Naizger, brother of West's 1950 catcher (Don), has handled shortstop all season with Jack Stokes holding out at third base.

The outfield includes Jim Coontz, Bill Spratley, Bob Linn and Terry Horne, with Danny Krebs as the No. 1 catcher and Joe Balthaser, Bill Popp and Dave Wahrer as pitchers.

Although none of the three Camp Chase teams is setting the world on fire, special tribute should be paid the local post for the time and money it is sacrificing in order to give the Hilltop a good representation of Legion ball teams.

Bill Howard, star outfielder for some of the local industrial teams, who recently moved from the Hilltop, is now well settled in his new home in Ashtabula, O. Bill is now employed by the Lake City Malleable Co. in that city.

Al Andrews, West stellar catcher in 1948, is now backstopping it and playing outfield for Glick's of the Saturday Afternoon League . . . Paul Schossler, West High grad and former football mentor at Hilliards, is outfielding for Woods Plumbing of the Sunday Afternoon League . . . Don Little, West outfielder-catcher of two seasons ago, is in his second consecutive year of catching for Grove City's unbeaten squad in the Grove City Night League . . . Russ Reckling, Hilltop resident, who attends Aquinas, is first string catcher for Linden Leaders' baseball entry in the Saturday Amateur League . . . Tommy Crosley, Phil Young and Carl Clapman compose the pitching staff for Ring's Florists in that same league. Crossley and Young are West alumni while Clapman was the stellar left-hander for Westerville three seasons ago . . . Paul Jones, who attended West Junior before transferring to North in senior high, was home for a few days resting up from his pitching chores with the Concord team of the North Carolina League. Paul's record at present is three wins in as many decisions.

The Central District Softball Tournament will start July 17, according to an announcement made by John Stith, the district commissioner . . . As in previous years, the tournament is open to men and women teams and classified into the two divisions (Class A or B), in accordance with the rank of their pitcher . . . The entries for the tournament, which will be held at the State Hospital Field, may be mailed to John S. Stith, at Columbus City Hall. The city recreation department will also accept entries. The entry fee per team is $15.

tion of their present government under Syngman Rhee, who is backed by the United States.

When asked why the Russians invaded Southern Korea, MacDonald said that the Russians have no open seaports, that Southern Korea has two and that probably was what Russia wanted now.

How far will the Russians go in the present crisis? MacDonald didn't know. He did say that, as in Germany, the Russians have shut off all electrical power for Southern Korea, and that but for the Army, there would be no electrical power for people living south of the 38th parallel.

While enjoying his leave, MacDonald is at home with his wife, Mildred, and sons, Jimmy and Larry, at 349 S. Chase-av.

Strawberry Butter Shortcake Supreme

It's strawberry shortcake time! This favorite of all desserts combines feathery light shortcake squares, in which butter is used for shortening, with luscious red strawberries. The berries are sliced or crushed, sweetened to taste, sandwiched between squares and piled generously on top with fluffy whipped cream.

These delicate shortcake squares, blended with the flavor of other fresh berries or any fruit in season, make a nutritious, melt-in-your-mouth dessert the whole family will enjoy.

Strawberry Butter Shortcake
2 cups sifted cake flour
2 teaspoons baking powder
¼ teaspoon salt
1 cup sugar
2 eggs, separated
½ cup milk
½ teaspoon vanilla
½ cup butter, melted
3 pints strawberries, washed
¾ to 1½ cups sugar
1 cup whipping cream

Measure sifted flour, baking powder, salt and ¾ cup sugar into sifter; sift three times, the third time into a mixing bowl. Beat egg whites until stiff and gradually beat in the remaining ¼ cup of sugar. In another bowl, beat egg yolks well; add milk, vanilla, and melted butter. Pour into a well in the center of the dry ingredients and beat until batter is smooth. Fold in the beaten egg whites, lightly but thoroughly. Turn into two 8-inch square layer cake pans which have been lined with wax paper. Bake in moderate oven, 350°F., for 20 to 25 minutes, or until done. Cool.

Meanwhile, slice or crush berries, adding sugar to suit taste; whip cream until stiff. Serve berries between layers and on top of cake, which may be left whole or cut in individual servings before combining. Garnish with whipped cream, and with whole berry on top of each serving, if desired. Serves 6 to 8.

August 1 Set As Date For Completion of W. Mound St. Improvement

West Mound-st, from Central-av to Whitethorne-av, will be completely open to traffic by Aug. 1, according to Mr. Robert F. Werner, city chief engineer.

The curbing and gutter have been eighty per cent finished and when this has had proper cooling and hardening the asphalt will be poured.

Forty feet wide, the street will have a concrete base with a subbase of crushed stone. There will be some grading between curbing and property line. Money for the project has been provided through the bond issue approved in 1945. Cost of the improvement was lower than formerly estimated so that the taxpayers will have a reduced assessment.

During all of the present construction by the A. W. Burns Construction Company of Columbus, half the width of the street has been open to traffic as shown in the above photo.

The Complete General Construction Company will begin construction of West Mound-st, from Wayne-av to Binns-blvd, in approximately 30 days.

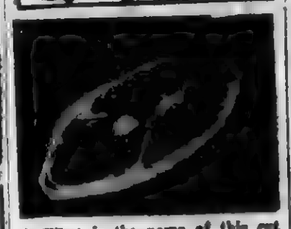
Wednesday morning at 9 o'clock the Junior High League plays at Westgate Park. Wednesday afternoon at 1:30, the Gra-Y Clubs will swim at the Central YMCA pool.



Thursday morning at 9 o'clock the Junior High Softball League plays two games at the Westgate Park diamonds and in the evening, 6 o'clock, the teams play their weekly league games at the Westgate diamond.

Friday morning, 10 o'clock, the week-end movies are shown at Westgate Park through the cooperation of the recreation department.

Saturday at 9 a. m. movies at Oakley Avenue Baptist Church, and at 10:45 movies at the Glenwood Recreation Center.

The monthly summer meeting of the Indian Guide Tribe will be held next Wednesday or Thursday evening. The program will include a picnic and other activities around a council campfire. Q. What is the name of this cut of meat?
A. Veal round steak or veal cutlet.
Q. Where does it come from and how is it identified?
A. It comes from the veal leg. It is round or oval in shape with a small round bone.
Q. How is it prepared?
A. By braising or panfrying. In braising the meat is browned on both sides, a small amount of water is added, the pan covered and the meat allowed to cook slowly until tender. In panfrying, the meat is slowly cooked, uncovered, in shallow fat. It is turned occasionally to insure even cooking.

Postcard Display Now Showing At Hilltop Library

Visitors to the Hilltop Library this week and next will be able to see a postcard display which features cards dating from the earliest type authorized by the United States government to modern Kodachromes.

The exhibit, which has been arranged in honor of National Post Card Week, July 9 to 15, includes samples of old greeting cards which are decorated with velvet, ribbon, beads, gold and other ornamentation. Among the cards are one made of leather, one of celluloid and one of aluminum. A novelty on display is a "mechanical" card which opens up into the form of a fan. Modern cards represent the different interests of the card collectors.

The display was arranged by Mrs. Paul Stilwell, 644 Williamsford, assisted by other Hilltop members of the Columbus branch of Postcard Collectors Club of America.

Local Man In First Elective Post After 13 Years Service

Earl Brownlee

Few people have held public office of responsible nature and still have held none of an elective capacity. Such is the story of Hilltopper Earl A. Brownlee, 53, of 524 Nashoba-av, who, until the recent election, held posts with the county government as a deputy sheriff and with the city, as an employee, neither of which is elective.

In last year's political scramble, however, Brownlee decided to test his spurs as a candidate for Tenth Ward Committeeman, a post vacated by Henry Koontz upon his elevation to president of Columbus City Council. And Brownlee in his very first attempt won the approval of voters to take on his first job in an elective capacity.

In the years prior to his becoming a candidate Brownlee as a public servant had worked in the Franklin County Sheriff's office as an execution deputy for a period of three years, an appointive post he now holds under Sheriff Ralph J. Paul.

Prior to service with the county as deputy sheriff he was allied with the engineering department of Columbus and served in various capacities in that important arm of the city government for a period of 10 years. In this respect he holds the unique distinction of having held appointive posts under three Columbus mayors, Myron T. Gessaman, Floyd Green and the current incumbent, James Rhodes.

The Hilltop, says Brownlee, is really the only section of the city in which he cares to live and that statement is borne out by the fact that for the past 23 years he has been a Hilltop resident. Residing with him at the Nashoba-av address is his wife, Josephine.

Questioned as to further political ambitions following this initial success as a candidate, Brownlee replied, "At present I cannot say. This was only my first try as a candidate."

The Rea-Bow Association News

By Dorothy Fowler

The association held its regular July meeting Wednesday, July 5. Mr. Van Ness, president of the High Ridge Civic Association, was a guest. The report on city water was that the plans are being drawn up by the county sanitary engineer's office, and a hearing will be held soon. A surprise birthday cake was presented to George W. Wolfe, association president, by Mrs. Laura Fowler. Plans are about ready for the association's big annual picnic at Maple Shades, Sunday, Aug. 6.

The Franklin County Social Club held its carnival night in Rea-Bow Hall Saturday, July 8. All those present were deeply shocked when news was brought to the hall that Gregory Fullenkamp of Dayton, brother of the secretary of the association, Alice Brokamp, lost his life in a drowning accident at Camp Perry, O. Our deepest sympathy to Alice and her family.

Marjorie Thompson of Columbus was guest soloist and William Morat was guest pianist. Miss Thompson's selections, among others, were beautiful "Ave Maria" and "The Lord's Prayer." Members of the social club showed their appreciation to Marjorie by presenting her with a bouquet of roses, along with other gifts, in celebration of her 26th birthday, July 6. She has been blind since birth.

It was "Happy Birthday" to Marjorie Thompson, Shirley Gallagher, Barbara Irvin, Mrs. John Worden and George W. Wolfe. The children sang "Happy Birthday" as each person dropped in a penny for each year of his or her age. This all goes into the Christmas fund.

A large basket of groceries was awarded Alice Warner, 496 Cypress-av. Many of the merrymakers wore overalls or slacks, as requested.

All enjoyed the spot and balloon dancing. Woodrow Irvin was master of ceremonies. Music was by Gallagher and Worden. Callers were George Wolfe and Jo Ann Kidd.

The club will hold another county social Saturday, July 15. Saturday, July 29, it will be Rea-Bow Jitney Supper and Lawrence Whitaker says he is going to give all a big surprise in the way of entertainment for that night.

New members of the club to register last Saturday were Mr. and Mrs. Roger Kline, Alberta Lois Jewell, Mrs. Reed, Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Thompson, Mr. and Mrs. W. T. Snyder, Mr. and Mrs. H. P. Thacker, Joretta Kline, Kay Sherlock, Richard Taylor and Robert Carroll.

OSU Entomologist Suggests Methods To Beat Chiggers

If you're bothered with chiggers—and most people have been this summer—T. H. Parks, extension entomologist at Ohio State University, has some suggestions that may make life more pleasant.

He says repellants containing dimethyl thallate are the most effective. This solution should be applied around the tops of stockings, or in a band around the ankles. He cautions against indiscriminate use because the chemical stains some fabrics.

Once the chigger's got you, Parks recommends treating the affected portions of the skin with a five to 10 per cent solution of benzocaine in alcohol.

There is no positive method yet devised for treating yards and lawns to eliminate chiggers, but Parks says many people have found dusting the lawn with powdered sulphur helps. He suggests using the cheapest grade of sulphur available, and applying it generously to the lawn with a dust gun.

One good reason for "coming in out of the rain" is to avoid being struck by lightning.

Scouts Make Ready For Camp

Many people have driven by an unpretentious sign on Route 23 reading "Boy Scout Reservation," but not many have driven back the shady lane to the miniature city of Camp Lazarus nestled snugly in the forest of oak and pine.

Lazarus, the official camp of the Central Ohio Council of the Boy Scouts of America, was originally given to the Scouts by the Lazarus family of Columbus in memory of their father and mother, Rose and Fred Lazarus, and the camp was first named Ro-Fre-La in their honor.

Since then, many other organizations and individuals have contributed to its growth and development until it has reached its present size of more than 300 acres encompassing over 50 buildings and a large, modern swimming pool.

The camp is organized into eight Troop villages, each having room for 32 Scouts and 10 leaders. Five villages have four wooden patrol cabins, each holding eight Scouts and an assembly building and leaders' quarters called a "long-house." Three villages have eight four-man wall tents on raised platforms and the "long-house."

The camp is in effect a small city with electric lights, its own water works, trading post, recreation hall, and movie theater.

The water works is an interesting part of the camp. Water is pumped from a deep well and then aerated by spraying it over trays of coke and then filtered. It is then pumped through miles of underground pipe to the swimming pool, the storage tanks, or to each of the eight villages where it is softened and heated to provide showers and running water in each village.

Another interesting building is the Exchange Lodge which is an enormous lodge made from old utility poles. The Exchange Lodge is used as a recreation center and movies are shown there on rainy evenings. It also houses the camp trading post where Scouts can buy refreshments and handicraft materials.

Much of the camp is still left in forest cover and small game abounds in the woods. The camp has been designated as a state game refuge, and Scouts have a chance to study wild-life and conservation in the field.

Meals are served in a central dining hall which can serve 253 people at one time. All food is prepared by a professional chef, and the dishes are washed and sterilized in an automatic dishwasher by the cooks. The only "KP" work that is done by the Scouts is the waiter service. Each table appoints a waiter for each meal and he is responsible for setting the table, the serving of the food and the cleanliness of his table. At each meal a trophy is awarded to the table having the best appearance.

A day in camp is a busy day for the Scouts. They arise at 7:30, clean up and breakfast at 8:00. After making their bunks and cleaning up their campsite, they take part in the Scoutcraft classes in hiking, camping, cooking, nature study, compass work, map-making, pioneering, swimming, life saving, canoeing, rowing, and other subjects. At 10:30 the entire camp swims at the pool.

After lunch, Scouts have their choice of boating, woodcarving, basketry, leathercraft, public health, and other activities. From 2:30 to 4:30 special classes in swimming and life saving are taught and at 4:30 the entire camp has a 45-minute period.

Following dinner, each group has its choice of baseball, volleyball, shuffleboard, and other Scout games or boating followed by evening activities which include campfires, Indian ceremonies, movies, song sessions, and stunt nights. Taps is sounded at 10 p. m. and a busy day is done. Thursday is visitor's day, and parents and the public is invited to inspect the camp and to watch the special activities in the form of track and swim meets, evening games, and the big visitors' campfire at 8:30.

The camp operates for eight weeks during the summer season.

Any Scout desiring to go, should either make his reservation through his Scoutmaster or the Boy Scout Headquarters at 26 N. Grant-av.

During the next camping period which begins July 16 and ends July 22 seven troops from the Hilltop are busy making last minute checks on their troop and personal equipment. Troops, scouts and leaders who will be in attendance are:

Troop 49, sponsored by Wilson School PTA, Jack Stamer, leader; Richard Schneider, Byron Goodrich, Roy Parker, Larry Wesner, Douglas Fluharty, Alfred Justus, William Justus and Fred Seeger.

"Planning Your Picnic"

Free Booklet Being Given By Recreation Department

Are you planning a big picnic this summer? Do you have a program planned or are you at a loss when it comes to organizing activities? If you have trouble keeping the youngsters amused and the old folks awake here's some good news for you.

The city recreation department has announced completion of its new booklet, "Planning Your Picnic." In it are helpful hints about organization, how to pick good picnic areas, and many other valuable tips on picnicking. A large part of this booklet is devoted to descriptions of various picnic activities. Everything from singing and quiet games to active stunts, games and square dances is included. The procedures, rules, words to songs, and everything else is right there in the booklet.

"Planning Your Picnic" was created because of the many requests from people who want big picnics but don't know how to organize them. It is hoped that the free copies of this booklet, which are available at the City Recreation Office, Room 124, City Hall, will help Columbus citizens have more fun on their picnics.

The recreation department also has a supply of picnic kits available, which contain softball bats, balls, horseshoes, a volleyball and net. These are available at Room 124, too.

Symptoms of Alcoholism Recognizable at Times

(This is the third of a series of six articles published by The Hilltop Record to inform the public of the seriousness of this problem, and to solicit aid and understanding for the victims of alcoholism. This series is written by an alcoholic, who from his experiences, contacts with hospitals, psychiatrists and other alcoholics, has been able to draw a well-rounded picture of a national problem.)

(By An Alcoholic)

By recognizing accepted symptoms of threatened alcoholism among drinkers, we can very often influence a person to do something about his drinking problem before the irresistible urge to drink has become a deep-seated obsession. From the histories of recovered alcoholics, there has been noted a striking similarity in the appearance of so-called trade-marks of alcoholic behavior. Early identification of these symptoms by family, friends or employer, and subsequent intelligent action may mean the prevention of alcoholism from one seriously threatened. If we are to single out among our population those who show pre-alcoholic tendencies in their drinking habits, we could do much to further the cause of prevention and, at the same time, relieve ourselves of untold miseries, should alcoholism result.

No two alcoholics are alike, though they may act alike. They are individual problems requiring individual attention and treatment. They arrive at the same alcoholic destination by different routes of varied lengths. Some are alcoholics after a very brief period of drinking, while others may require some 10 or 15 years of drinking before acquiring the alcoholic label. At first there may have been moderate drinking at least once a month without getting drunk. Then, one might have indulged a number of times during the month getting drunk on some of the occasions. As the frequency of drunkenness increases, the greater the danger of alcohol controlling the individual instead of the individual controlling alcohol.

Sometime during their drinking careers, many alcoholics started sneaking a few drinks to get themselves keyed up to a particular state of mind. By doing this, they were using alcohol for something other than the drink itself. They were trying to produce a state of mind that could not be had without the use of alcohol. This indicates a dangerous dependence on liquor and one which would inevitably mean loss of control over alcohol, if the dependence were not curbed.

When one does not know what he has said, done, or where he has been during periods of drunkenness, he has experienced a "black-out" and conclusively revealed his loss of control over alcohol on that particular occasion. Such "blackouts" are indeed red lights on the alcoholic route.

Extravagant behavior relating to money matters is another characteristic common to those in the process of losing control over their drinking. The drinker's sober feelings of inferiority generally give way to a riot of big-shot exhibitions when under the influence of alcohol. But, such a person invariably emerges from the binge regretfully poorer and heavily weighted down with remorse.

If a person becomes more or less intoxicated every time he takes a drink, he has certainly lost control over his drinking. If he intends to have but a "couple" of drinks and consistently winds up drunk, he has lost control over the drinking situation. If his drinking interferes with the conduct of his daily duties and responsibilities, he has lost control over the drinking occasion. When quantities of alcohol, time and place for drinking, and responsibilities cannot be regulated by the drinker, alcoholism is at hand and the individual in dire need of help with a serious drinking problem.

A man or woman who stays drunk for days without regard for family, work or other requirements, commits such a serious violation of all social and cultural standards that such action cannot be considered a matter of choice. Certainly, there must be some underlying defect or disorder causing such abnormal behavior. Unless there is evident some history of mental difficulties prior to one's drinking, men and women setting out on unpredictable benders must be considered as victims of alcoholism—persons suffering from a compulsion to drink in spite of the awareness that such will only bring disaster to them.

The need for a drink in the morning represents a very definite alcoholic symptom. At this stage of one's breakdown, the problem drinker has found that he cannot go through the routine motions of his daily tasks without being fortified with a drink to soothe his screaming nerves—and he usually ends up drunk again so that he can't perform any of the routine. Gradually there dawns the period when the drinker begins to protect his liquor supply—hiding it in every conceivable, as well as inconceivable nook and cranny. By this time, he has probably developed a feeling of being isolated—of not being wanted and not belonging. He solves this painful feeling by more and more drinking, and more and more by himself. This is the pitiful stage of solitary drinking. He cant be happy sober, yet he gets little relief when drinking. He shows a marked tendency to lie about his drinking and to bitterly resent criticism. Irritability, suspicion and unfound jealousy creep into his make-up and he generously lays all the blame for his condition everywhere other than upon himself.

The average alcoholic suffers from undernourishment, irregular routine, inadequate sleep, unrelieved tension and attitudes of hopelessness. His inner mental conflicts constantly demand relief which he can only find in increased drinking. Remorse gnaws at him until he hates himself for his helpless situation. There are swift changes of mood, crafty explanations, lofty ambitions with little or no effort expended to realize them, and frequent changes from place to place and job to job. He has few if any friends, shuns group activities and avoids any hobbies. The typical alcoholic does little other than drink.

Occasionally, the alcoholic may try to overhaul his drinking pattern by trying the water wagon for a spell. This may be an attempt to stop drinking entirely, but more likely a move to let time intervene with the hope that he will miraculously change and be able to resume drinking like other normal, controlled drinkers. Everyone knows that one cannot stay up on a "wagon" forever. Something else is the solution. Shakespeare wisely said: "The fault is not our stars, but in ourselves." The alcoholic's trouble is not so much the bottle as it is within himself. However, changing the pattern of drinking in any restricted manner simply represents a final, desperate effort to continue drinking in a harmless manner, in spite of all the past evidence to the contrary.

Resentments crowd the lives of all alcoholics. Anyone or anything in opposition to him produces violent resentment. If he does not get what he wants, when he wants it, it is usually a quick retreat for the bottle. Resentments are the direct cause of more benders than ony other contributing factor.

Possessed of terrifying fears, the result of endless pain associated with alcoholism, the alcoholic reaches the lowest ebb when his savage drinking no longer offers him any relief. Physically, morally and spiritually bankrupt, to say nothing of financial difficulties in most cases, his hope, ambition and energy may well be drained dry. At this point he may be ripe for the process of rehabilitation and recovery. Certainly, he should be helped and every effort made to guide him from his wilderness of despair and uselessness.

The following article will consider the recovery approach to an alcoholic.

'Think This Over'

By William "Doc" Campbell

NEW YORK—
THE CITY TERRIFIC!

When you get a contrast you get a thrill. That contrast is to me a veritable whipping of the senses.

From the PEACE OF THE MOUNTAINS to the stupendous flare of the GREAT WHITE WAY on Broadway is enough to make one (even I, who have seen it many times in 50 years) realize that we are here on earth for SOME purpose!

The CHEAP thrill of Broadway, with its intensity of "light advertising", is truly wonderful but not cultural. Of course it does not aim to "lift you" aesthetically — it merely aims at making you SORT OF HAPPY by intensity and variety. The youth who was with me did not say much (Are they deadened to great thrills? Not, I hope, because of Hollywood.). He merely looked, but I thrilled at the terrific onslaught of man trying to sell his products.

New York City is not a beautiful city. Paris is. Florence, Italy, is the most artistic city of the world. Rome was until she got to bathing and perfuming herself. Then—crash! all the empire was gone. Are WE heading that way?

Yet again I love New York City. I love its rancid discards of architecture, but it truly has its moments of loveliness—Fifth Avenue as contrasted with Broadway. Fifth Avenue is coordinated, its shops are beautiful. It is more beautiful than Paris, just because it is controlled to a degree It took Napoleon to RAZE Paris and again to RAISE it to a radiant plan that the cities of Washington and Indianapolis are copying. Then, again, Paris is so artistic in its entirety and there is a definite control to "freedom" of any individual to run a skyscraper above the great plan New York is ugly in that sense—conglomerate beauty—no balance, rhythm or harmony. Yet it does something to you, unless you think your town is the most beautiful in America. Let authorities decide that.

Well, I have just returned from sauntering (Sunday) on 34th-st and 5th-av — service in great St. Patrick's Cathedral — lovely beyond description — then went over to Radio City and here is truly a planned unity. I remember it "on paper" but today it is almost completely built and so tremendous in its quality and novelty too!

You cannot ever "do" New York in a week—let's say a year at the most. Its small foreign restaurants—its "out of the way" foreign shops — its remarkable compactness—yea, ole New York is new and fascinating to those who admire great upheavals—as against man's terrifying "skyscrapers." A little of both can be a grand tonic for your life voyage—but don't get "wild" and "gay" in New York or something can happen to you that cannot be eradicated!

NEW YORK—THE TERRIFIC TAINS is everlasting and glorious.

but the PEACE OF THE MOUN-

as a week's dose is stimulating

By One of Them

This week we again look into the future. I get out my crystal ball and predict again what our next door neighbors will be doing in 10 years. Who knows but you may find yourself today in this column doing the extreme opposite of what you'd ever think of doing.

For example in 1960 we see HARRY KLINE taking tickets and money in the circus. His clown friend and former neighbor KARL AUSENHEIMER and JOHN DENT got him the job soon after they took to the road themselves.

We see MRS. ESLA LIEF and EARL LEWRUE as a dance team in the side show.

OTTO EISENNECKER and RALPH WHITSTONE on the tight rope with umbrellas.

PATSY AND DEBBIE OYER in their dancing costumes are helping their daddy sneak in under the tent. BILL quotes "Well they ran out of tickets."

J. VINCENT and JACK FISHER are out selling balloons.

BOB O'SHAUGHNESSY furnishes the caskets for E. J. SNYDER'S act of sawing women in half. Snyder can't make the performance work right. He doesn't take it serious enough or something. Too much cutting up and he's out of women.

LEO MASTBAUM is the fire eater and his wife the fortune teller, but the latter gets her cards mixed and asks her clients to join her in a canasta game.

MARY MILLAN is one of the horse riders. She sits in her tent and awaits orders when to "go on." They never seem to have enough horses to go around so she dusts off her bridle every day and continues to read to the midgets.

NANZEL CLARK and WILLIAM GUE are dodging the monkey cage. They were locked in several times accidentally. They kept the audience well entertained and tried hard to explain they were only hired to feed the animals.

Hilltop Service Station Purchase Announced By "Bill" Edwards

Just being announced is the purchase of Jerry's Mobilgas Service Station at 3096 W. Broad-st, by W. G. "Bill" Edwards, 88 N. Hague-av, a long time resident of the Hilltop who has been acquainted with the service station business on the West Side for a number of years.

Edwards who also operates the Mound-st and Central-av service center at the southeast corner of that intersection, said that he planned to extend his complete automotive service business to the Hilltop by offering 24-hour service facilities including wrecker and road service.

The new service station at the W. Broad-st location is to be known as Broad-Westgate Service Center, offering a complete line of Mobilgas products. Edwards in his capacity as general manager of the two stations said that he expects to augment his staff of 11 employees with more personnel in the near future in order to maintain the 24-hour service that he is currently offering.

KEEP THE "Taproots" STRONG!

AMERICAN DOCTORS EXCEL because great effort is made by accredited Medical Schools to keep Medicine "strong at the taproots." Those accepted for entrance must have a high rating in academic and premedical preparation.

Earnest and searching inquiry is made into emotional stability, character, integrity and fitness for the practice of medicine, or medical research. Often as few as one out of six is acceptable.

For many years, the American Medical Association and the Association of American Medical Colleges have insisted on strict scrutiny of qualifications, in order to keep the "roots" of American Medicine strong and vital.

During the war, there was Governmental pressure to remove some of the strict requirements and speed up preparation, because of emergency need of more Doctors.

Your Doctor and his colleagues believe implicitly in "strength at the taproots" of Medicine. Keep supervision of medical schools in non-political medical hands.

WHERE'S Everybody?

Hello, there, MacTavish. Lonesome?

Can't get used to it, can you? This is the first time that new family of yours has ever left you alone for as long as a whole hour! Golly—what's a pup to think. . . .

But cheer up, Mac. Your new family isn't very far away. You see, it's Sunday morning, and they've all gone to church.

You mightn't like that idea very well. But look at it this way, Mac. You appreciate this new home of yours. Everyone in the family gets along well together. There's mutual love and respect for each other. Why, they even think you're pretty fine, and, frankly, you're still not much more than a bundle of fuzz with two black eyes and a mighty wet nose.

Yes, Mac, you're lucky to be with such a good group of people. You can look forward to a long, happy life in a family where there's so much harmony and good feeling that even a pup can notice it right away.

And their church helped put that harmony and love into your new home.

OK, MacTavish. That's all we have to say.

Now—prepare for some good news. Time for some real tail waggin'. Do you see who's turned the corner?

And this commandment have we from him, That he who loveth God love his brother also.
I John 4:21

Operations At Hilltop Airport From '29-33 Show Heavy, Accident Free Flying Traffic

Traffic was comparatively heavy in the early years at Hilltop Columbus Airport.

In 1929 a total of 7265 hours of flying started from the Columbus Airport, Sullivant-av, a summary report shows. Of this number, 600 hours were in instruction, 253 sight seeing, 100 hours private flying, 63 hours taxi service and 6249 scheduled transport, to the state border only.

There were 7670 flights from the airport and 15,340 departures and arrivals. There were 283 transient arrivals.

There were 110 scheduled transport service passengers from the field and 4,225 other passengers making a total of 4335 passengers.

During the year the minimum number of aircraft operated from the field was two and the maximum was six with an average of three. There were two pilots, two mechanics, no public employes and four employed miscellaneously.

A record of no accidents on or near the airport was established and no passengers killed or injured.

With Universal Air Lines complete service operating, that is both air mail express and passenger, the field had 240 scheduled arrivals and departures every 30 days, eight each day. Transient arrivals averaged well above one a day for 1930, the better flying months in 1929 showing better than two each day.

In the course of the 1929 season the airport played host to many nationally known figures in the aviation world, the register listing Colonel C. D. Chamberlain, Martin Jensen, Art Goebel, Anthony G. Fokker, General Smedley D. Butler, Walter Beech, Bert Ison, Blanche Noyes, M. G. Perry, Major R. H. Fleet, and William M McConnell, who was a regular visitor with his big Trimotored Ford in the service of the Firestone Tire and Rubber Company.

In 1931 it was proposed to change the Columbus Airport name to Rickenbacker Airport in honor of the Columbus ace.

About five ships were then being operated from the Hilltop field by the Melvin Flying Circus, headed by Grant C. Melvin, 64 Broadlawn-av. Melvin was raised on the Hilltop and attended Highland Avenue and West High Schools.

Joe Allen, later with the TWA lines, was head mechanic at the field here. He was stationed at Norton Field for seven years and later went to Port Columbus.

Three new students enrolled in the first week of May 1931. They were Staley Shanely, 96 Eldon-av, Dick Jenkins and Dr. A. S. Gray. A complete training school was conducted at the field. "This port is better for training students than is Port Columbus, say the managers, due to the fact that there are many large planes coming and going at all times at Port Columbus. The local airport will also be used by many planes coming from the west," said the Record of May 8, 1931.

Two years later (1933) operations at the Sullivant Avenue Airport, (this proved to be the name then) were resumed by Major Leslie G. Mulzer, pioneer pilot of Columbus.

Associated with Mulzer was a staff composed of Mel Swanson, formerly of Columbus; Dick Hunter, pilot; Virginia Whittlesey licensed transport pilot, and two mechanics, Frank Jackson and Lawrence Thompson. Hunter, who then held the world's record for consecutive parachute jumps, gave exhibitions along with Miss Whittlesey each Sunday afternoon.

Mulzer conducted a sight-seeing and air taxi service at the local port, using a Ford tri-motored plane, a Stinson Jr., Waco Speedwing and Autogiro.

The new operator, who resided at 261 N. Warren-av, served with the signal corps during World War I. He became interested in aviation upon his return to this country and was credited with more than 5000 flying hours.

Major Mulzer was the first aerial police officer of Columbus and was the first to operate a commercial plane from Norton Field. He left Columbus to continue his training in the U.S. Army Air Corps, later establishing the Mulzer Flying service in Wisconsin Rapids, Wis. He built the Nepco Tri-City airport. During his 5000 hours of flying time he never lost a ship or injured a a passenger. The Sullivant service was open day and night and sight seeing trips were feature events.

REAL HOME FREEZER BUILT IN!!

Also Available In Model NJ10 At

THE VERY LATEST . . . the very finest . . . of today's refrigerators offers you the advantage of having both a refrigerator and a home freezer in one cabinet.

But—when you decide on that type of refrigerator—you want to be sure that the freezer is a real home freezer . . . one that can maintain zero temperature at all times.

And you can be sure, when you buy the new, dependable General Electric Refrigerator-Home Freezer Combination.

This is what to look for. This is what you get.

Each compartment with individual cold control
Look for separate compartments, separate outside doors!

Top compartment is a real home freezer, because it's separately refrigerated, insulated all around, and has its own outside door.

A real home freezer, because it maintains zero temperature—for quick freezing foods and ice cubes and for storing up to 70 pounds of frozen foods (10-cu.-ft. model) or 53 pounds (eight cu.-ft. model).

A real home freezer, because its zero temperature keeps frozen foods in prime condition for as long as 12 months—four full seasons!

In lower compartment alone (either 8- or 10-cu. ft. model) there is fresh-food storage space equivalent to that in the conventional 8- or 10-cu. ft. refrigerator.

It is the last word in a spacious fresh-food refrigerator. Separately refrigerated, separately insulated, and with its own outside door!

It never needs defrosting! Dishes need not be covered! Cold is moisture-conditioned. Big, deep drawers keep fruits and vegetables just right! The butter conditioner, easily accessible in door, keeps butter at proper temperature for easy, wasteless spreading.

GENERAL ELECTRIC
A SEPARATE REFRIGERATOR
PLUS A SEPARATE HOME FREEZER

You'll never forget . . . never regret . . . the day you buy this General Electric Combination. For the name GENERAL ELECTRIC means dependability . . . dependability based on an unsurpassed record for year-after-year performance.

More than 2,200,000 General Electric Refrigerators have been in service 10 years or longer!

And the chief reason, of course, is the famous General Electric sealed-in refrigerating system. Airtight and oiltight, this dependable system has never been excelled for efficient, economical operation . . . year in, year out.

8- AND 10-CUBIC FOOT MODELS

The General Electric Combination is available at your retailer's in both 8- and 10-cubic-foot models—one of them just right for your household. We think you'll agree they provide the most that's offered in a home refrigerator today.

Country Style: More small game than we have seen for a long time is in evidence these days. Early one morn last week our dog King treed another baby coon and he has brought in three possums in nearly as many nights, the last one with a litter of 12 babies. And speaking of babies, the fields are full of baby bunnies. The hay is up and the young pheasants managed to stay out of reach of the cutter bar but a big blacksnake came dangerously close to getting shortened. The mulberries are ripe and the crows are regular early morning visitors to get their fruit for breakfast. Mid summer is ushered in in all its glory with the early transparent apples reaching that ideal apple sauce stage. More excitement than we have had for a long time resulted Saturday when our pony, Dolly, got into a field with two black angus cows with new baby calves and took a liking to one and tried to adopt it but mama cow snorted, kicked and butted and let it be known in no uncertain terms she would have no part of such goings on.

Short Notes and Nubbins: Figured I had better get back on the job after five days in the hospital, especially when I learned that Doc Wilson, our next door business neighbor and Zail Kemp, next door to him at Mechem Shoe Store, were also in the hospital . . . Looked for a little while as if something was "catchin" in our block . . . Rev. Kenneth Linton and wife, of Yreka, Calif., who preached his first sermon at the Hilltop Lutheran Church, were Hilltop visitors again last week . . . The J. P. Merrimans are vacationing this year and will miss the bean dinner but Jack got his fill of beans last year as chairman of the committee . . . Mose and Mildred Williams will leave Sattday for the annual Northwestern Mutual Life convention at Milwaukee . . . Shug Haines and Margaret Hulsey became Mr. and Mrs. last week at Bartlesville, Okla., where Shug plays professional baseball . . . Jerry and Gracebelle Spears are vacationing in Michigan . . . Joe and Dottie Hague are now Uppitty Arlingtonians, having purchased a home there . . . Cecil Suver is a whiz with hammer and nails but when it comes to putting on a set of auto seat covers he is ready to admit he has done less complicated work . . . Albert A. Ogden is in Mt. Carmel Hospital . . . Ray Gerhardt and William Graves landed a 30 pound catfish in Deer Creek near Mt. Sterling recently . . . Howard S. Bennett is a new member of the Columbus Real Estate Board . . . Dr. and Mrs. R. J. Miller report the fishing is fine up Canada way but they don't know how they are tempting us to throw this typewriter overboard and shove off for that country.

Dead End Street Signs

People who start out and don't know where they are going could save a lot of time and ease the nerves and dispositions of a lot of people who live in the community south of Sullivant-av where the streets abruptly come to a dead end if such streets could have "Dead End Street" signs properly placed.

A recent survey by the Record in this community reveals that this is an improvement that people down on Salisbury-rd and similar streets would much appreciate.

If the sign could be placed at Whitehead-rd many persons would refrain from driving on down and then using people's driveways as turn-tables at all hours of day and night.

The city should see that some action is taken on this matter at once.

The Lowly Bean Reigns Today and Tomorrow

Few communities in the United States can boast the sponsorship of such a unique event as a bean dinner.

But today and tomorrow the Hilltop will be host to some 35,000 or more people who will gather at Westgate Park for the primary purpose of just eating beans.

And the beans this year, as in many years past, except last, are to be just common white soup beans with none of the fancy frills or sauces that might be used to elevate the standing of the dish. But on bean dinner day the lowly bean needs no elevation. It will be tops on the menu.

But if you like beans, and who doesn't, you should be on hand at the park today or tomorrow and eat your fill. Just come on out with a healthy appetite, meet and mingle with your friends and neighbors and enjoy once again this biggest of all Columbus community parties, the annual Hilltop Bean Dinner.

Her son, Ray 11, with two pals and about "50 small birds" took off in pursuit of the owl. After a 10-minute chase the bird was captured when it crashed into a garage and lay stunned. Mrs. Horky said they might give the owl to the Columbus Zoo if the Zoo wants him.

All holders of Ohio vendor's licenses will be required to file their next sales tax returns before July 31, for the period Jan. 1 to June 30, 1950, according to announcement today by the Department of Taxation, Division of Sales and Excise Taxes.

To assist local vendors with these semi-annual reports, examiners will be stationed at Columbus Engine House, W. Broad and Wheatland from July 26 to July 31 at 8:30 a. m. to 5 p. m., and Saturday to 12 noon, and at Grove City, Broadway Restaurant, Wednesday afternoon, July 26.

Vendors desiring assistance must present to the examiner all records necessary to substantiate the figures to be reported, such as a copy of their last report; records of gross and exempt sales and a record of taxable sales of 41 cents or over.

Vendors will also be required to bring the pink copies of their purchase orders showing the amounts of stamps purchased during the first half of 1950, or have them listed on the reverse side of the sales tax form under Schedule C. Examiners will not be able to complete these reports without this information.

Reports must be filed not later than July 31, 1950, or be subject to the $1.00 a day charge for late filing.

Expect Thousands To Attend Opening Session At Westgate

All plans have been completed and weary committee chairmen are breathing sighs of relief as the Seventh Annual Bean Dinner gets underway today and crowds are expected to throng the midway as early as the noon hour in anticipation of the opening events of the festival.

Business was practically at a standstill throughout the Hilltop as stores closed for the usual Wednesday afternoon "day off" and other stores followed the same pattern by closing for the bean dinner.

Ed Witherspoon

Ed Witherspoon, president of the Hilltop Business Association, is scheduled to make the opening address of welcome to a huge throng at the Seventh Annual Hilltop Bean Dinner tonight at 8 o'clock.

Chairman Russell Carter, heading the Hilltop Business Association committee for this year's event said that he anticipated more visitors to Westgate Park for this seventh bean dinner than ever before. Carter based his opinion on the fact that for the first time, the bean dinner is being held for a two day period, today and tomorrow.

Many new features have been added to the bean dinner festival this year, Carter said, to make it an outstanding one in the history of the seven year affair. WLW-C television station is furnishing one of the highlight attractions by sending their $100,000 mobile unit to the bean dinner. Using a "jeep set-up" the mobile unit will televise directly to the many video sets which will be on display at various merchants' booths. Scenes to be televised will occur right on the bean dinner grounds giving onlookers an opportunity to see how they appear on the television screen.

Many prizes will be awarded during the course of the bean dinner with the first awards being made tonight immediately following the welcoming address by Ed. Witherspoon, president of the Hilltop Business Association.

This edition of the bean dinner also features a much improved and expanded merchants' fair, with more exhibitors than in previous years. In previous shows by merchants they were grouped in sectional tents. Today's bean dinner opening finds the merchants in individual displays over a 500-foot midway.

In addition to the $1,000 in prizes being given away by the Hilltop Business Association there are many individual prize awards being made by various of the merchants at the bean dinner. Typical of these prizes by individual merchants is an award of a Crosley Shelvador Refrigerator by Wolfe Electric and a new Hoover sweeper complete with accessories by Seiller's.

Gene Wolfe, proprietor of Wolfe Electric Service, today announced that the award of the Crosley Refrigerator by his firm is to be handled by a committee of prominent Hilltop business men, including Elmer Hegenberger, Harold Fox, Jack Sensenbrenner and Sam Alford. Wolfe said that the method of making the award is left entirely to the discretion of these men.

An innovation has also been added to the opening feature of the bean dinner with free open air wrestling on the bean dinner ground just north of the bean tent. Scheduled for this event is Big Jim Wright versus Mac McClarity in a 20-minute one fall event and Flash Clifford versus Duke Keomuka in another one fall, 20-minute match. Follwing these two matches a tag team affair will begin with all four contestants in the bout. Jack Hunter is to referee the events, which are expected to begin about 9 p. m.

In the open area of the park just north of the huge merchants' displays will be the rides and concessions brought especially to the bean dinner by Tim Nolan of South Zanesville. These rides will consist of a ferris wheel, octopus, merry-go-round, various rides for the kiddies.

Earlier in the afternoon at 2 the games programs will start just adjacent to the shelter house. Contests and games will

Greased Pole Contest To Be Top Feature Of Seventh Bean Dinner

Ever try to climb a greased pole?

If you've never tried, but have always had the desire to make the attempt, you can have that chance today at the Seventh Annual Hilltop Bean Dinner being staged at Westgate Park.

In making the attempt you will note that the first few feet are fairly easy, but then you suddenly notice that you are putting forth as much effort or even more than when you started but are not getting anywhere at all. Suddenly you are aware of a sudden downward sliding sensation and you meet with terra firma.

The greased pole is annually one of the main attractions at the bean dinner—for contestants and the spectators alike. The height of the pole is estimated at about 25 feet, and the pole is well greased with automobile grease.

After many attempts someone eventually reaches the top of the pole and carries off the top prize award. This feat, however, is usually not accomplished until after most of the grease on the pole has been transferred to the clothing and bodies of other contestants.

Part way up the pole will be a bag containing an undetermined sum of money and at the top will be another bag also containing a sum of money. The person to climb the pole and pluck the top bag away from the pole will also receive a wristwatch from Lou Klass of Hilltop Jewelers, 2421 W. Broad-st, and a surprise award from Bob Strope's Auto Service, 2432 W. Broad-st.

One rule of the contest is that contestants must pay their own laundry and dry cleaning bills.

If you still think that you can climb that greased pole, just hunt up the spot in Westgate Park today, where there is a lot of laughter and merriment, and you can take your chances.

Many of the productions will be take-offs on humorous situations occurring at the playgrounds while most will be adaptations of favorite stories and some will be original productions.

Fenner-Gusman Nuptials Held

A Nuptial High Mass read in St. Aloysius Church by Rev. Fr. John Simon at 9:30 a. m., June 24, united in a double ring ceremony Miss Mary Jane Fenner, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Howard N. Fenner of Hilliards, and Mr. Joseph Gusman, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Gusman, Sr., of Kewanee, Ill.

The altar was decorated with bouquets of pink and white gladioli.

The bride, escorted to the altar by her father, was attired in the frosty elegance of an imported white chantilly lace gown over duchess satin. It was fashioned along princess lines with a Peter Pan collar and fitted sleeves which came to points over the hands. The gown had a full skirt ending in a sweeping cathedral train.

Her bridal veil of illusion was held by a heavy lace tiara embroidered in pearls. She carried a white prayer book with a white orchid and a cascade of stephanotis. The bride wore a white zircon necklace and matching earrings which were a gift from the bridegroom.

Mrs. Mary Lopez, sister of the bridegroom, was the bride's only attendant. She wore a floor length pink gown of embroidered marquisette over pink satin. On her head she wore a pink tiara.

Mr. Herman Lopez, brother-in-law of the bridegroom, was the best man. The ushers were Mr. Wayne Six and Mr. Jack Herriott.

For her daughter's wedding Mrs. Fenner wore a dusty rose dress trimmed with matching lace and black accessories.

The bridegroom's mother wore a black crepe dress with black accessories. Both mothers wore gardenia corsages.

Following the nuptial mass a wedding breakfast was served at Schmelzer's Restaurant, 3178 W. Broad-st, at which the assistant hostesses were Miss Shirley Bolander and Miss Eleanor Williams.

For her honeymoon in Chicago the bride wore a beige gaberdine suit and brown accessories.

The bride was graduated from Hilliards High School last May. The bridegroom was graduated from Kawanee, Ill., High School. He is associated with the Falstaff Company.

The new Mr. and Mrs. Gusman will make their home in Dixon, Ill.

Washington officials predicted high employment and consumer income would keep people smoking more than ever; and we predict higher cigaret prices will keep 'em burning.

Success of the Seventh Annual Hilltop Bean Dinner can be attributed to the 15 persons shown above who comprise the Hilltop Business Association Bean Dinner Committee. The efforts and work of this group of civic leaders has made possible this annual festival which is enjoyed today by more than 20,000 persons.

be held for both children and adults with prizes being awarded to both classes.

Hilltop business men, sponsors of the bean dinner will be identified by badges as well as exhibitors at the event.

The Red Cross mobile disaster unit will be on hand to administer first aid if necessary, as well as a number of Hilltop physicians and ambulances.

Tents for the various displays and concessions are being furnished this year as in the past by the Buckeye Tent and Awning Co.

Aside from all the displays, rides, games and other attractions that are being offered at this year's bean dinner is one main attraction . . . BEANS. A new system is being tried this year with four lines being served at once from the bean tent in an effort to lessen the long lines. At this focal spot of the entire festival will be found beans cooked with ham . . . and all for the price of one thin dime.

Cutie: "I'm knitting something to make the boys happy."

Curious: "What is it, a sweater?"

Cutie—"Nope, a bathing suit—for myself."

Mat Show Is Bean Dinner Feature

Mac McClarity

Flash Clifford

Duke Keomuka

Jim Wright

Main feature of tonight's opening of the Hilltop Bean Dinner is the open air wrestling staged for the first time by planners of the annual affair and bringing together four popular mat men who are well known throughout central Ohio wrestling circles.

In the initial match of the evening which is to start promptly at 9 p. m. Big Jim Wright, weighing in at 250 pounds and Mac McClarity at 230 will tangle in a 20-minute limit match to one fall.

The second event of the wrestling show will pit Flash Clifford against the well known Hawaiian wrestler Duke Keomuka. This bout also is scheduled for a one fall 20-minute time limit route.

Final match of the evening is to be a tag team affair with Wright, McClarity, Clifford and Keomuka flipping a coin prior to the match to decide the team pairings. This match promises some wild action as all the wrestlers are known for rough and ready tactics in such matches.

Jack Hunter is to referee the three bouts which are staged through the cooperation of Al Haft Enterprises.

Is Too Wasteful and Not Cold Enough For Today's High Priced Perishable Foods

A Real Home Freezer

A DeLuxe Refrig-erator

Both For One Surprisingly Low Price

ONLY $359.75

Also Available In Model NJ10 At $399.75

THE VERY LATEST . . . the very finest . . . of today's refrigerators offers you the advantage of having both a refrigerator and a home freezer in one cabinet.

But—when you decide on that type of refrigerator—you want to be sure that the freezer is a real home freezer . . . one that can maintain zero temperature at all times.

And you can be sure, when you buy the new, dependable General Electric Refrigerator-Home Freezer Combination.

This is what to look for. This is what you get.

Each compartment with individual cold control
Look for separate compartments, separate outside doors!

Top compartment is a real home freezer, because it's separately refrigerated, insulated all around, and has its own outside door.

A real home freezer, because it maintains zero temperature—for quick freezing foods and ice cubes and for storing up to 70 pounds of frozen foods (10-cu.-ft. model) or 53 pounds (eight cu.-ft. model).

A real home freezer, because its zero temperature keeps frozen foods in prime condition for as long as 12 months—four full seasons!

In lower compartment alone (either 8- or 10-cu. ft. model) there is fresh-food storage space equivalent to that in the conventional 8- or 10-cu. ft. refrigerator.

It is the last word in a spacious fresh-food refrigerator. Separately refrigerated, separately insulated, and with its own outside door!

It never needs defrosting! Dishes need not be covered! Cold is moisture-conditioned. Big, deep drawers keep fruits and vegetables just right! The butter conditioner, easily accessible in door, keeps butter at proper temperature for easy, wasteless spreading.

GENERAL ELECTRIC
A SEPARATE REFRIGERATOR PLUS A SEPARATE HOME FREEZER

You'll never forget . . . never regret . . . the day you buy this General Electric Combination. For the name GENERAL ELECTRIC means dependability . . . dependability based on an unsurpassed record for year-after-year performance.

More than 2,200,000 General Electric Refrigerators have been in service 10 years or longer!

And the chief reason, of course, is the famous General Electric sealed-in refrigerating system. Airtight and oiltight, this dependable system has never been excelled for efficient, economical operation . . . year in, year out.

8- AND 10-CUBIC FOOT MODELS

The General Electric Combination is available at your retailer's in both 8- and 10-cubic-foot models—one of them just right for your household. We think you'll agree they provide the most that's offered in a home refrigerator today.

Six Hilltop Boys In Soap Box Derby

MAKING PLANS for the Citizen-Chevrolet Soap Box Derby is this large committee of workers. Every feature of the big event will be designed to protect the drivers and present a grand show for those in attendance. No admission will be charged. The race will be held on Grandview Hill July 22. Inspections are scheduled for July 21.

Final plans are being laid for the big Soap Box Derby held annually on Grandview Hill. The event sponsored by The Columbus Citizen and the local Chevrolet dealers will be run off on Saturday, July 22.

Scores of prizes will be awarded to the boys between 11 and 15 years of age who streak down the hill in their glorified orange crates.

Nearly every radio station in Central Ohio will broadcast from the scene of the event and television station WLW-C will show the finals.

It's a free show and it starts at 2 p. m.

Five Hilltoppers Complete Exams For OSU Entry

Five Hilltoppers were among the 40 students who have completed their admission requirements for entering the Ohio State University next fall. They were guests this week of the university, taking part in the fourth annual pre-college counseling program offered to new enrollees.

The students have completed requirements for admission to the university and plan to begin their studies there next fall. While on campus they attended conferences, took interest and aptitude tests, received counseling and attended a luncheon at the Ohio Union.

The pre-college program is offered by the university's occupational opportunities service, directed by Dr. Frank M. Fletcher, Jr., to aid students in developing their educational and vocational plans. Charles M. McClintock, director of counseling, is in charge of the program.

Those from the Hilltop taking part in the program were Don Russell Anderson, 3014 Olive-st, son of Russell Anderson; Franklin Edward Bahn, 253 S. Brinker-av, son of Mr. and Mrs. I. Bahn; Don Albert Casteel, 244 N. Harris-av, son of Mr. and Mrs. A. C. Casteel; Shirley Haigh, 702 Hague-av, daughter of Edgar S. Haigh; and Malcolm McCoy, 450 S. Oakley-av, son of Mrs. Geraldine McCoy.

Daniel Day Good Is Claimed Originator of Bean Dinner

Daniel Day Good did a good deed in his day when he invented the baked bean as we know it today. He popularized the lowly phaseolus vulgaris when he gathered his friends in Hainault Forest and regaled them on baked beans. But he had little thought for the future and the tremendous demand his creation would have for many Americans today.

Mr. Good, familiarly known as Good Day, was a maker of pumps and blocks at a place called Wapping Old Stairs, England. An eccentric old gentleman, he began one of the modern world's oldest traditions—the bean dinner.

Beans themselves have been cultivated by man since before recorded history. The ancient Greeks thought beans begot insomnia and nightmares and even caused ghosts. Pythagoras believed that certain souls became beans after death; Hippocrates thought they injured the sight; Cicero claimed they corrupted the blood.

Research shows that beans were cultivated in the western hemisphere long before the voyages of Columbus. Fifty species of beans have been found in Peruvian sepulchres dating back to the 12th century.

In the United States, Michigan produces 90 per cent of the beans consumed in America. Bostonians are reputed to be the largest consumers. At 10 inches per bean pot, the average Bostonian eats more than two and one-half times his height in beans each year.

The French beans may not be better than the Boston baked type, but they do have a greater variety of ways of preparing them. One Alsatian recipe calls for a dismembered goose, a calf's foot and a half-pound of veal knuckles among other things.

The average American consumes nine pounds of beans per year. The average Hilltopper should get most of his share at the Hilltop Bean Dinner today and tomorrow.

Those scientists in London who are psycho-analyzing the world have, we fear, let themselves in for a mess of trouble.

Alert Hilltop Police Officer Nabs 3 Burglary Suspects

Three armed burglarly suspects were lodged in city prison Thursday morning as a result of the alertness of a Hilltop special merchant policeman and his companion who occasionally rides with him for excitement. All three of the suspects were taken into custody at Phillips Coney Island Drive-In, 3479 W. Broad-st.

Special Merchant Officer Russ Alter and William Manus, 22, son of Phil Manus, proprietor of Phillips Coney Island, were driving about checking other Hilltop business establishments after the younger Manus had closed the restaurant at about 3 a. m. They returned to the restaurant after a turn about the area and saw a car parked in front and a man walking around the back of the establishment.

As they stopped near the parked car Alter drew his gun and he and Manus approached the car and ordered two men outside. When the third member of the trio returned from the rear of the building Alter held the group against the side of the car while Manus called for police help.

Cruiser Patrolmen Larry Sears and Ray McClain searched the suspects after arriving on the scene and found in the car a loaded .38 revolver, a screwdriver, "jimmie" bar, flashlight and canvas gloves. The three denied knowledge of the weapon's existence in the car.

Police identified the suspects as Leslie Deener, 26, Cleveland, under bond there for possession of narcotics; Ned Sims, 27, 166 Garfield-av, a numbers pick-up man, and Ethan L. Bridge, 41, of Cleveland. All were arrested and are being held on suspicion of burglary.

The theory was advanced by police that Alter and Manus interrupted the trio just as they were about to burglarize the restaurant.

FIRE IN PASTOR'S HOME

'Think This Over'

By William "Doc" Campbell

AMERICAN TRAINS—WONDER OF WONDERS

Coming home from a month of peace and tranquility in the glorious Adirondack Mountains, I rushed into New York City with its teeming millions and fabulous wealth—and war-scare tabloids—and boarded one of our ultra-modern trains. And what a train! But let's go back a bit, say 45 years, to my early traveling experience in the then beautiful Pullman cars. I can vividly remember the interiors, all in Oriental design and inlaid woods of course carpeted and luxurious. Competition was rife even then. Two companies had deluxe cars, Wagner and Pullman, but Wagner disappeared. Now, today, the Pennsylvania Railroad has broken up its famous Jeffersonian so I had a real treat to return via coach that was even more luxurious than my old Pullmans. These great coaches, about 75 feet in length, with only about 24 seats, upholstered in dull red with fluorescent lights over them (so brilliant for reading) and splendid mirrors at each end of the cars, are a revelation in American railroad design. Why, even the men's smoking room was truly resplendent, with three wash bowls (Old Pullmans had two, and in nickel), fluorescent lights above, then a round curved leather divan (not dark leather, but of a gray-green color. Mirrors everywhere.

Well, that's that. Now comes another grand thrill. You see, the coaches are at the head of the long train, with the new Pullmans in the rear, with a club car or two in between. At 11:30 p. m. I drifted — yes drifted — toward the club car (Pullman club car, too) and ran smack into the undressed diner, tables not set but the chairs, four to a table, in brilliant gorgeous yellow leather with tufted backs, and the walls of the car a sweet and delectable gray tone. Cannot you imagine it full of gay Americans eating, laughing and wineing? But, ah, now comes my vivid and memorable joy! As I opened the self-adjusting metal door between the cars and diner, I gasped. It was so beautiful, like a symphony. It was the most lovely club car I have ever seen and I have seen a few—so thrilling in modern color tones, with its sumptuous modern furniture.

To describe it ably I ought to have a true color photograph. It was so ravishing in the use of the "color wheel" as taught high school students, but let me TRY to describe it to you, dear reader, in more detail so that you may enjoy (though only from description) what I actually saw. The club car was full length and about 10 feet wide, a gently curved ceiling with six landscape windows, three to a side, doors (in and out) not in the center of car. The ceiling curved down about two feet and was flat painted a delicious pale lemon yellow, no design. The windows had Venetian blinds of small gray slats and the tapes were light blue. The carpet (all over) was a dark green-black in blue dotted four inch squares of design, each square edged in a pale gold thread.

The walls of this exquisite car were in several tones, all grayed colors (no stained modern stuff). Gray tones made from pure color stock, let's say. For instance, at my left, the end wall was a lovely deep gray-red, deeper than apricot, while the other end wall was a pale, delicate sea green. Between each window was a rectangle of light yellow leather squares, each square centered with a brilliant brass round ornament! Opposite one wall was a dear little writing desk with etched mirror above. Very coy! The drapes at the ends of each window were box pleated in pale silver dust gray with two-inch bands of copper color material across each drape. Three lamps graced this beautiful ensemble, with parchment shades, drum shaped, in spatter design. The pieces de resistance at each end of the car, almost identical in design, were two oblong wood plaques about two by two and a half feet, with plain, flat three-inch dull gold frames. The decorations in each frame were Oriental in effect, like old Italian Gesso work, fantastic decorative birds in gold relief against a dull black lacquer; extremely exciting and elegant and just the thing to catch your eye as you were leaving the car.

The ceiling lights were strips of pale blue and lavender fluorescent lights, throwing a dream tone over the men and women in chic summer sport clothes. The chairs, etc., were modern, in silver lacquer. The tables that held the lamps had shelves for magazines, books, etc, then four oblong tables (two at each end of the car) for light refreshments, each with a settee; two of them in pale aquamarine in tufted material, and the four chairs to complete this arrangement were in gray-rose, truly a lovely harmony to behold.

No wonder I gasped when I beheld this delicious color feast for my tired eyes. Such was my wonder train—two Diesel engines at its head for mountain upgrades, easy riding coaches. In fact I slept four and a half hours in a reclining chair, a thing I never could do, even in the old Pullmans. Yes, to me, America is certainly progressing in artistic car travel, especially on our great railroad systems. So why not treat yourself to a trip on a super-super train and be enthralled, entranced, and proud of America!

THINK THIS OVER.

The Rea-Bow Association News

By Dorothy Fowler

A capacity crowd attended the social given by the Franklin County Social Club, Saturday night in Rea-Bow Hall. These socials are opened with all present singing 'Pack Up Your Troubles In Your Old Kit Bag and Smile, Smile, Smile," after which, as the first dance of the evening, the dancers "fill up the floor" for the old favorite, "The Virginia Reel." At 10 o'clock it is game time, when contestants chosen from those present take part in some kind of game. Mrs. Alice Brokamp and Jo Ann Kidd entertained with songs as did Johnny Worden and Everett Gallagher. Mrs. Leslie Graham entertained with selections on the harmonica. It was "Happy Birthday" to Mrs. Thomas Taylor, Johnny Worden and Mrs. Garless Chapman. Norman Brokamp was master of ceremonies.

This Saturday, July 22, is "bargain night", when all members are being asked to bring anything they wish to dispose of at a bargain, and place it on the bargain counter. Nothing under 50c, and nothing more than $8 will be offered.

The association has arranged for 21 children of the community to attend Camp Mary Orton from July 14 to 25. A group of parents visited the camp last Sunday. This Sunday all the parents who have children at the camp will have a picnic lunch on the campgrounds and stay for the children's big festivities, which will be held at 8 o'clock. The children will return Tuesday, July 25. Wednesday, Aug. 16, the children will be taken to the Columbus Zoo for an all day outing, with free rides at the zoo park. It is planned to visit Sally Flowers Television Show late in August. Some free movies and a wiener roast will be sandwiched in, to give the children a real summer vacation. All these activities are under the direction of George W. Wolfe, director of juvenile activities at Rea-Bow Center.

Hilltop SPORT SHORTS

By Dave Miller

Top sports rhubarb of the recent week whether it involves Hilltop sports followers or not is the question of which player has done the Columbus Red Birds more good—Glenn (Rocky) Nelson or Solly Hemus, the latter being sent to the Red Birds in exchange for Nelson, who went up to the parent Cardinals.

Nelson, who burned up American Association thrilling at a .419 pace (his average when leaving here), proved to the Card organization that he could hit left-hand pitching, and thus was sent back up to the Cards who are battling for the pennant.

Hemus, as of the beginning of the St. Paul series was hitting a .367 mark and had hit in 18 of his 19 frays with the Birds, a highly remarkable record thus far.

Many Columbus fans have been criticizing the Cardinal organization because of Nelson's loss, but as Fred Saigh, Cardinal president, stated at a recent banquet here: "If you had a boy hitting .420 in the minors, would you rather have him stay in the lower classification or be shifted to the majors where he could have a chance to redeem himself with Cardinal fans that he disappointed a few years ago?"

When one looks at it from that angle, it changes things considerably. But while Nelson was with Columbus, the Birds only won 19 of 27 games, while since Hemus joined the Birds, they have hopped to near the .500 mark in the league. In fact, sources near the Birds disclose that Columbus, as a team plays better with Hemus than Nelson. It's too early to tell yet, but the addition of Hemus has made the Birds .057 percentage points better.

John Cheser, a member of West Junior's basketball and baseball teams a few years ago, who moved to Logan, O., through his freshman and sophomore years, is back on the Hilltop, and will be eligible for sports at West this coming season. At Logan, Cheser played guard in football, guard in basketball and was on the baseball team there. Cheser is a small fry, though, standing only five feet seven inches and weighing 145.

West High's 1949 football captain, Jim Rudolph, an end, is now a working man. Jim is employed at Timken. . . Oakley Baptist and Highland Friends meet tonight in the Hilltop "Y" League feature game at Westgate Diamond No. 4. Ed Lantz will pitch for Highland while either Keith Burton or Jack Redman will hurl for Oakley . . . How's this for an oddity? During Robinson Post-Cohagen Hardware's third-inning spree against Scioto Post last week, third baseman Charlie Robeson was put out three times in that same inning. The score? Cohagen, 23; Robinson, 0, with Cohagen's George Treneff hurling a one-hitter.

Selections of the Columbus Knot Hole Gang All-Stars which will visit Louisville for the July 27-28 games between teams of the two cities will be made by the coaches of the local Knot Hole aggregation. Candidates will be chosen upon recommendation of various coaches, assisted by Lowell Wrigley of OSU, and Charlie Goodrich of the City Recreation Department, who is in charge of Knot Hole Baseball. Practice to determine the Columbus team will be held at OSU Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday at 8 p. m. Last year's team had two Hilltop residents on it: Shortston Jack Pickens and Outfielder Dick Kirk.

The Columbus Nazarene Softball League will hold its between-the-round meeting at the annual church district meeting this week. Representatives to the meeting include Dale Frieshling from Morse-rd; Jim Whalen from First; Beryl Jenkins of Westerville; Keith Williams representing Hilltop; Don McDaniels at Shepard and Paul Hayman from Parsons.

The third annual Junior Softball Tournament, under the sponsorship of the City Recreation Department, will be held from July 24 to Aug. 8. It's open to all boys who have not reached their 17th birthday prior to Jan. 1, 1950 . . . The winner of the local tournament will qualify to represent Columbus in the State Junior tournament in Columbus Aug. 12-13 at State Hospital field. . . . Entries may be made at the Recreation Dept., Room 124, City Hall, but not later than Friday noon.

West Park Methodist, member of Hilltop Church League, will participate in the Central District Men's Softball tournament tonight at State Hospital field at 7:30 p. m., meeting BUC . . . According to latest dope, West High athletic director George Williams and Ralph Webster, secretary of OHSAA, have been working up to late hours trying to make more districts in Ohio and enable the district tournaments throughout the state to be easier run . . . According to the Sporting News, Cleveland's newest idea in midget baseball has been to have a man as director of each team and the squad elects the name of their team through the names of Cleveland Indian players such as the Dobys, Easters, Hegans, Lemons, etc. Well, in the city eliminations last week, all four teams in the Western District were all named Rosens, thanks to the homer spree of the Indian third-sacker as of late. Pretty popular guy, huh?

use new DEAN & BARRY HOUSE PAINT with poly-lin*

*Poly-lin is the Dean & Barry trade name for 100% pure polymerized linseed oil.

New Dean & Barry house paint with Poly-Lin looks smoother, looks glossier, looks better longer! And this means the most beautiful paint job you've ever seen, the most durable paint job your dollars can buy.

Here's why: Poly-Lin is the 100% pure polymerized linseed oil that gives Dean & Barry house paint extra smoothness, extra gloss, extra strength and toughness all the way through. No thinned-out places to prematurely weather and wear. No unsightly brush marks to spoil appearance. Dust and dirt wash off easily from the smooth, higher gloss finish. Paint jobs look better, last much longer to save important dollars for you.

No extra cost—meaning you benefit, too, because you pay nothing extra for the superior beauty and durability the new Poly-Lin blend gives. So why pay more—why take less? See us today, or have your painter-decorator come in.

The Low Down On High Ridgers

By One of Them

Did you know . . .

. . . that E. J. SNYDER over here on Belvidere won a free ticket to the Westmont Theater? This street seems to be pretty lucky in those want ad columns.

. . . that MAE SCHAEFER just returned from another week-end at her good old home town in Indiana? Did you ever hear her solo "Indiana"? Ask her to sing it sometime.

. . . that TOM BAIR'S son TOMMY is going to give up his freedom in a few days? His marriage to JOAN SCHWENDENMAN isn't far off. Wonder if they'll settle in the Hi Ridge section? Have to bring it up at the next meetin' of the Civic Association. Do you suppose we could find them a honeymoon lodging around here?

. . . that it's been overheard that we Hi Ridgers might be able to hold a street dance for the neighbors' fun? No profit—just fun. Let's bring it up at our next meeting. Be there if you want to make arrangements before cold weather. Something like this should bring us closer together.

. . . that DONNA HADDEN has what you call an expensive piece of glitter on her thing finger, left hand?—and it isn't cut glass either.

. . . that IRMA HYMAN met PETE SNIDER at the first Hilltop bean dinner—they got married and now they are one of us Hi Ridgers with children in school already?

. . . that SAM WITHERS' tree he just planted last fall has withered to nothing? WITHERS says he'll wait until Arbor Day this year, and if it doesn't PERK up, he'll PULL it up.

. . . that there are more television sets on Butler-av than there are on Belvidere or Wrexham? However, the latter two streets have more pianos. If the surveyor hasn't been to your door, he probably has seen through your window. He sees all—knows all.

. . . that MARYANN NEWELL bought a new fur coat for next winter. She purchased it on one of our hottest days last month. She's one of our Hi-Ridgers who looks forward with pleasure to the future. Her husband, no doubt, won't be smiling when he has to make the payments.

. . . that our tomatoes are getting ripe and if I don't quit snooping around and telling news on people, I'll get some thrown at me? So I'll stop for the present. See you next week, folks!

To Demonstrate Appliances At Bean Dinner

Housewives in the Hilltop area are being extended an invitation to visit the Better Home Center display at the Hilltop Bean Dinner at Westgate Park today and tomorrow and meet with Miss Mary Ellen DeWine, nationally known authority on homemakers' problems and to witness a demonstration of the new Hamilton automatic clothes dryer.

Every woman attending the demonstration will be presented with a bound copy of a Homemakers' Manual.

Miss DeWine came to Columbus two months ago to assume the position of home service director of Luehrl and Welch, Inc., local distributors of household appliances. She has traveled throughout the United States and Canada, lecturing and consulting on homemakers problems on radio and television.

She has written a number of articles for leading women's magazines, and is well known for sales promotion work.

Briggsdale And Brown Road

By Mrs. Harry Downing

Mrs. Francis McCarley, 3499 Clima-pk, who was injured in an auto accident June 16, is recovering nicely at her home and is able to be up and around some.

Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Ely, 1977 Harrisburg-pk, returned last week from a six weeks' tour of the south and west.

Mrs. John R. Briggs, Sarasota, Fla., is spending several months with relatives here. At present she is the guest of her daughter, Mrs. Kathryn Wasson, 1503½ Harrisburg-pk.

Mr. and Mrs. Harley O'Day, 2066 Eakin-rd, were guests at the York Lodge picnic, Saturday evening.

The marriage of Rosemary Daines and James Edward Anderson took place June 24 in Holy Rosary Church. Mrs. Anderson, a former resident of Briggsdale, is the daughter of Mrs. James A. Nolan, 166 Sheffield-rd. The newly married couple will reside in Rochester, N. Y.

A professor says that nine out of ten American girls go to college to find a husband. Then, how come somebody hasn't written a song titled, "I Hooked Your Pater at the Old Alma Mater."

time for Decision

Our scientists give us about ten more years. By then, they assure us, the Atomic Bomb will be so highly developed that nations can blow each other to bits without a boundary line being crossed.

Ten more years on borrowed time. That's all. . . .

Of course, we can wait out those years just to "see what happens." But check the headlines these days.

Do you still think we can afford to wait. Or do you agree that the time for decision is now!

Some people, searching for a sure pathway to peace, claim that religion is "too theoretical." Yet these same people are quite willing to put faith in power politics which have—throughout history—drawn nations swiftly and relentlessly into war.

Perhaps they are the theorists. Perhaps it's time we all realized that the words of the Bible shape up into a workable doctrine that can make for peace in our time—and forever.

Take your choice. There's man's way. And there's God's way. No one will press you for a decision. . . .

But the time for decision is now.

Blessed is the nation whose God is the Lord.—PSALMS 33:12.

Wrestling Bouts Highlight Bean Dinner Opening

Beans Rate Top Priority On Bean Day

Beans, beans, beans, and more beans . . .

Such will be the story beginning at 4 o'clock Wednesday afternoon in Westgate Park when the bean becomes "King of the Day", and the bean tent begins to serve beans of the boiled variety to the many thousands expected to attend the annual festival.

Beans, cooked with ham! What could be a more savory dish to still that tired hungry feeling of those in attendance at the seventh edition of the Hilltop Business Association sponsored bean dinner.

An example of the number of beans to be used in the promotion of the annual affair can be gained by the size of an order placed last week by HBA Secretary Jack Morris. He reports that his initial order for foods to be dispensed from the bean dinner tent amounts to 1,000 pounds of beans (navy beans, that is), 500 pounds of wieners, 500 dozen buns, 500 gallons of coffee and 15,000 cubes of sugar. "And," says Jack, "that is just a starter because Hilltoppers like our beans."

As to the serving of the beans from the bean dinner tent, a new system is to be put into effect with lines being served from all four sides of the tent. This method of serving, it is felt, will eliminate the long lines that have built up at the bean tent in past [illegible]

"Best of all, though," Bean Dinner Chairman Russell Carter, "is the fact that the price is still the same as in former years, despite higher costs of supplies needed. It's still to be only a dime for a plate of beans."

A National Conference on Higher Education speaker said thousands of students have no business in college rooms. A lot of them realize it and stay away as often as possible.

"United Neighbors" Plan Gains Interest

The plan for "United Neighbors," a two-way exchange of educational and cultural ideas, was originally the idea of Mrs. J. G. Bowser, 35 N. Hague-av. It was her plan that the Hilltop adopt a village somewhere in Europe and give them material help as well as just getting acquainted.

It was at the suggestion of Helen Haldy Kitzmiller, Hudson, O., that a group of Hilltop women formed a committee to adopt the village of Ritthem, Holland, in 1948. Members of that committee were Mrs. Icy Scott, 146 S. Ogden-av, Mrs. John P. Jones, 75 N. Ogden-av, Mrs. A. R. Fox, 247 S. Roys-av, Mrs. William Boothe, 58 Haldy-av, Mrs. J. G. Bowser, 35 N. Hague-av, and their honorary chairman, C. C. Hartley.

Since that time various Hilltop groups and individuals have been corresponding with, sending packages to, people in Ritthem. A group of students at West Broad Street School made a special project of corresponding adopt in addition to Ritthem.

It was recently decided, however, that the Hilltop could increase the happiness of a larger village than Ritthem. Many college students expressed the desire to make friends of their own age in Holland so the committee began seeking a college town to adopt in addition to Ritthem.

Professor Ir W. de Jong, professor at the University of Wageningen, Holland, heard of this desire on the part of the local group and made a special trip to Columbus while visiting the United States on a 10-week tour. Professor de Jong is attached to the agricultural school at Wageningen and is attending the American Jersey Association Conference.

While the professor was on the Hilltop Mrs. Bowser honored him with a tea at her home. Several women of the Hilltop who had shown their interest in the [illegible]

Ninety-Year-Old Martha Beggs Is Honored On Birthday

Mrs. Martha Beggs, formerly of 56 Haldy-av, celebrated her 90th birthday, June 27, at Rickly Hospital, Masonic Home, Springfield, O.

Mrs. Beggs was presented with the traditional white cake of the home's Nonagenarian Club. The cake was cut into 100 pieces and distributed to her friends at the home.

Many cards and gifts were also received by Mrs. Beggs.

Mrs. Beggs spent the day with her family, Mrs. Ethel Burton, a daughter, 481 Townsend-av; Wilda Leonard, a granddaughter, 2010 Harwich-rd, and two great-granddaughters, Betty Schmitt of Grove City and Barbara Wheaton, 103 Demorest-av.

Popular Mat Stars Matched For Event

For the first time in its seven years of life, the Hilltop Bean Dinner will feature outdoor wrestling matches at Westgate Park, according to Russell Carter, Hilltop Business Association chairman of the bean dinner committee.

Four top notch stars are scheduled to pair off in the ring at Westgate Park on Wednesday night at 9 o'clock immediately following the awarding of merchandise prizes from the bandstand area. According to matchmaker Al Haft, three bouts will be staged, with two of them a one fall joust each with a 20 minute time limit. The third contest will see all four contestants engaged in a tag team affair that promises plenty of action for the occasion.

Chairman Carter pointed out that everyone on the bean dinner grounds will have good opportunity to witness the wrestling matches. He said, that, even though the many thousands expected for the gala affair may not be able to be right at the ringside, they will be able to see the match on the various television screens situated about the area. This is to be made possible by the WLW-C mobile television unit right on the grounds televising to just the immediate area of the park.

Carter said, too, that he had been assured that the contestants in the bouts to be staged would be those quite familiar to all followers of wrestling in this area.

It was also asserted that should the wrestling show prove as popular as the bean dinner committee expects, it would be adopted on a larger scale for future bean dinner affairs.

One chiropodist says toes have long since lost their usefulness and will, by some strange metamorphosis, be done away with—the little toe being the first to go. By the way, have you counted your toes lately?

Merchants Fair Again Featured At Bean Dinner

For the second consecutive year a feature of the Hilltop Bean Dinner is the merchants' fair, which last year in its initial appearance brought much favorable comment from the visiting populace. Seventeen Hilltop merchants have tents and displays set up at Westgate Park, exhibiting the merchandise of their particular business.

In addition to the various displays by merchants of the locality there is a display by the Boy Scout troops of the Hilltop and another by the various Girl Scout groups. Five soft drink stands are scattered throughout the midway area as well as two ice cream stands and a potato chip stand.

Merchants represented at the bean dinner in the order of their various tent numbers are: 1, Darden Bronze Tablet Co., 291 N. Hague-av; 2, West Hill Furniture Co., 2364 W. Broad-st; 3, Westgate Roofing Co., 2331 Sullivant-av; 4, Wolfe's Electric Service, 2427 W. Broad-st; 5, Seiller's Department Store, 2404 W. Broad-st; 6, Westgate Electric Shop, 2555 W. Visit The Record Display For Best Hilltop Bargain

The biggest bargain on the Hilltop at the seventh annual bean dinner is a subscription to The Hilltop Record. This bargain brings you news about people you know as well as ads to tell you what is going on in our local stores.

You will find very little in the Record about the troubles the world is having, you will read little about the tragedies of life as they appear other than on the Hilltop itself, but when it comes to the Hilltop we say:

For national and international news read the large daily newspapers but when interested in your own community (and who isn't, if he is a real Hilltopper?) then your bargain is THE HILLTOP RECORD.

At The Hilltop Record booth we are going to have some bargains for you. For example: Need some ALL PURPOSE GREETING CARDS? Well we will give you a box with your annual subscription.

Stop and visit us and pick up one of those handy little books which tell you where to get anything done or buy any certain thing on the Hilltop. These books are free as long as they last.

Anything can and probably will happen at the Record booth as well as other display places at the BEAN DINNER.

A thief in Memphis, Tenn., stole a minister's brief case containing a three-year collection of sermons. He must have been in dire need of good advice.

President Truman planned only a short three-minute talk at one stop on his 9000-mile western trip, but spoke over 20 minutes. Must have been speaking off the French cuff, unfolded.

The picture of an orangutan smoking a cigar may soon replace the out-dated, old-fashioned pink elephant.

The Census Bureau had better make itself scarce. It just announced that "a housewife is not a working woman."

A couple of Chicago psychiatrists have learned that social climbers tend to develop ulcers. It seems social climbers can't even stomach themselves.

A California dental surgeon found out how to transplant wisdom teeth. So instead of high prices for bridgework, maybe the day of the buck tooth is not far off.

Wrestling Show Mentor

Veteran sports promoter in Columbus and central Ohio, Al Haft is bringing for the first time to the Hilltop Bean Dinner four top-notch wrestling stars from his extensive fight stable to stage three matches on the opening night of the annual Hilltop festival. The promotion of wrestling at the bean dinner marks the first venture of the local bean dinner committee in the staging of such an event. According to Haft, there will be two 20-minute matches of one fall each while the main event is to be a tag team affair.

The Bean

The bean is a legume of infinite variety,
Well known and made welcome in every society.
The lima, the kidney, the string, pea and pinto,
The soy that adds zest to the dish it goes into,
The navy, the wax bean, the butter some savor,
The Mexican jumping, the jelly (what flavor).
In color they're brown, black, white, red or speckled,
In fact, there are some that appear to be freckled.
You bake 'em, you boil 'em, you stew 'em with meat,
You find that in soup they're delicious to eat.
(As far as we know, none has yet tried,
To serve up a portion of beans that were fried.)

But THE BEAN, the ONE BEAN, that this week takes the prize,
That the folks that like good things praise to the skies,
Is the HBA BEAN! July nineteen and twenty,
Come get your plateful — there're sure to be plenty.
And see all the merchants displaying their wares,
Take in the rides to shake off all your cares.
It's a neighborly, hand-shaking, heart-warming show,
So mark up those dates and be sure that YOU GO!
So mark up those dates and be sure that YOU GO!

Hilltop Housewives Offer Favorite Bean Recipes To Aid Bean Dinner Committee

The beans you'll be eating at Westgate Park today and tomorrow may not taste just like "mom's favorite recipe," but they should approach many mothers' recipes if the suggestions offered by many of the women of the Hilltop are used in the final preparation by men of the Bean Dinner Committee.

In this, the Seventh Annual Hilltop Bean Dinner, the menu will consist of boiled beans and ham. But for those of you who prefer the home-made variety of baked and boiled bean dishes, here are a few offered by the Hilltop housewife.

Without too much regard for measurement, Mrs. N. E. Ansel, 3000 W. Broad-st, uses her own recipe in the preparation of boiling beans. She suggests that you take a pint of beans to two quarts of water and together with a ham shank let it boil for at least three hours, then salt and pepper to taste. The results are invariably delicious.

Mr. C. W. Schofield, 2742 Vidapl, says to cook the beans for a short time in soda water, then drain in cold water, add salt and bacon and cook until tender. Then place the beans in a baking dish, add brown sugar and ketchup, about a teaspoonful of prepared mustard. She sometimes adds a cut onion. Salt and pepper to taste and add bacon strips across the top. Place in a slow oven and let bake 'til a good soft brown crust is formed. Leave in oven until ready to serve.

Mrs. Joseph Hardy, 124 S. Algonquin-av, is a little more precise in her specifications for preparing a favorite bean meal. She says add one half bottle of chili sauce to one and one-half pounds of beans. Add one half bottle of ketchup, sprinkle with brown sugar, place an onion in the center (which can be removed for those who don't like onion) and salt. Cover the top with strips of bacon and place in oven for an hour. This will serve five or six people.

Mrs. Ruby Nelson, 233 S. Wayne-av, prefers the white navy bean and uses one pound in her meal. Before the beans are done, she says to add one-half cup of brown sugar, one tablespoon of salt and three tablespoons of bacon fryings. Add to this a can of cream of tomato juice, a few sprinklings of red pepper and one small sliced onion. Place three strips of bacon across the top and bake about one-half hour or until it has dried out a bit. Before the bacon is laid across the top, the entire preparation is well mixed and the resultant dish serves about six people.

Mrs. Clyde Rumfield, 630 Butler-av, readies enough beans for two servings and offers two different dishes when preparing a bean menu. The first day she cooks the beans and when three-quarters done adds seasoning, salt and pepper. When cooking with ham, however, she seasons to taste from the start. Whatever beans are left are served the following day and are baked. Thus three-quarters of a pound of beans are sufficient to feed a family of three for two days.

Mrs. James Grant, 309 S. Wayne-av, recommends as her favorite recipe, the following: Take five pounds of beans and when the beans have come to a good boil add one teaspoon of baking soda and let it boil for two minutes. Then drain in cold water. Mix this with ham broth and ham (usually a boneless smoked roll), add a medium size cut onion, one-half cup of chili sauce, a little brown sugar, place in a casserole and bake.

So take your pick!

Hilltop Children Escape Bear

Orin and Anna Woodward, son and daughter of Rev. and Mrs. George P. Woodward, 201 N. Warren-av, met with a harrowing experience, July 6, while with their parents at an Interdenominational Holiness Camp Meeting at the foot of Whiteface Mountain in the Adirondacks, near Wilmington, N. Y.

Orin, age 11, Anna, age 10, and a playmate, Esther Hazelton, went for a walk into the nearby woods. They stopped near a fenced clearing while Orin fixed the girls' "walking sticks".

They all heard a sudden noise and imagine their surprise at seeing a cub bear looking at them over the rocks.

Their pleasure ceased when the big mother bear appeared and started after them.

Orin saved the day when he yelled, "Go for the fence, girls!" Mrs. Woodward said that if they had tried to come back through the woods it might have been fatal.

The children scrambled over the fence to an adjoining farm where the farmer welcomed them into safety.

Rev. Woodward previously had spent several days and walked many miles in pursuit of local bears which had killed two calves in the community, but his efforts were fruitless.

Whenever Hollywood gets a bright, new personality, they always say how they're "grooming her (or him) for stardom." The only personality they ever really groomed for stardom was Trigger.

Visit The Record Display For Best Hilltop Bargain

The biggest bargain on the Hilltop at the seventh annual bean dinner is a subscription to The Hilltop Record. This bargain brings you news about people you know as well as ads to tell you what is going on in our local stores.

You will find very little in the Record about the troubles the world is having, you will read little about the tragedies of life as they appear other than on the Hilltop itself, but when it comes to the Hilltop we say:

For national and international news read the large daily newspapers but when interested in your own, community (and who isn't, if he is a real Hilltopper?) then your bargain is THE HILLTOP RECORD.

At The Hilltop Record booth we are going to have some bargains for you. For example: Need some ALL PURPOSE GREETING CARDS? Well, we will give you a box with your annual subscription.

Stop and visit us and pick up one of those handy little books which tell you where to get anything done or buy any certain thing on the Hilltop. These books are free as long as they last.

Anything can and probably will happen at the Record booth as well as other display places at the BEAN DINNER.

Mrs. Clyde Rumfield, 630 Butler-av, readies enough beans for two servings and offers two different dishes when preparing a bean menu. The first day she cooks the beans and when three-quarters done adds seasoning, salt and pepper. When cooking with ham, however, she seasons to taste from the start. Whatever beans are left are served the following day and are baked. Thus three-quarters of a pound of beans are sufficient to feed a family of three for two days.

Mrs. James Grant, 309 S. Wayne-av, recommends as her favorite recipe, the following: Take five pounds of beans and when the beans have come to a good boil add one teaspoon of baking soda and let it boil for two minutes. Then drain in cold water. Mix this with ham broth and ham (usually a boneless smoked roll), add a medium size cut onion, one-half cup of chili sauce, a little brown sugar, place in a casserole and bake.

So take your pick!

Hilltop Children Escape Bear

Orin and Anna Woodward, son and daughter of Rev. and Mrs. George P. Woodward, 301 N. Warren-av, met with a harrowing experience, July 6, while with their parents at an interdenominational Holiness Camp Meeting at the foot of Whiteface Mountain in the Adirondacks, near Wilmington, N. Y.

Orin, age 11, Anna, age 10, and a playmate, Esther Hazelton, went for a walk into the nearby woods. They stopped near a fenced clearing while Orin fixed the girls' "walking sticks".

They all heard a sudden noise and imagine their surprise at seeing a cub bear looking at them over the rocks.

Their pleasure ceased when the big mother bear appeared and started after them.

Orin saved the day when he yelled, "Go for the fence, girls!" Mrs. Woodward said that if they had tried to come back through the woods it might have been fatal.

The children scrambled over the fence to an adjoining farm where the farmer welcomed them into safety.

Rev. Woodward previously had spent several days and walked many miles in pursuit of local bears which had killed two calves in the community, but his efforts were fruitless.

Whenever Hollywood gets a bright, new personality, they always say how they're "grooming her (or him) for stardom." The only personality they ever really groomed for stardom was Trigger.

Last Rites Are Held For Emmett Nowell Retired U. S. Soldier

Funeral services for Emmett J. Roy Nowell, 54, formerly of Columbus, who died Sunday in his home in Hallandale, Fla., were held Saturday in the Jerry Spears Funeral Home.

Retired two years ago after 29 years in three branches of the armed forces, Mr. Nowell was a veteran of both World Wars. During World War I he served in the army's 42nd Rainbow Division and then enlisted in the navy shortly after the war. He later served in the U. S. Coast Guard but transferred back to the navy during World War II.

Surviving are his wife, Mrs. Laura Nowell; a son, Frederick Nowell of Toledo; a brother, Christian Nowell, 147 N. Warren-av; two sisters, Mrs. B. E. Baker, 43 E. Tulane-rd, and Mrs. Clarence Reynolds, 427 S. Hague-av; three stepsons and two stepdaughters.

Burial was made in Sunset Cemetery.

Americans have gone into debt faster since the war than in any other period in history, the Federal Reserve Board reports. And believe us, gentlemen, it hasn't been in the least bit difficult.

Hilltop Family Returns From Japan

BACK FROM JAPAN is the family of Capt. Thomas Paskell, 45 N. Roys-av. Capt. Paskell is pictured above with his wife, Dorothy, and four-year-old son, Roger. The family recently returned from two years in Japan, where Capt. Paskell was on occupation duty with the air forces.

Housekeeping is a novelty to Mrs. Paskell, who had a Japanese housekeeper to take care of the five-room house the family occupied in Japan. She found plenty to do, however, as a Girl Scout leader and head of two bowling teams. She also helped produce a musical comedy written by the wives of two air force chaplains. The show toured the Tokyo and Yokahama areas.

YOUNG ROGER PASKELL brought back a doll from Japan, a gift from a Japanese woman who worked for the family. The doll had been a treasure in the family for many years. Roger gave his tricycle and other toys to young Japanese friends he made. (Columbus Citizen Photos).

17-Year-Old Pilot Lands Here On Cross-Country Trip

Youthful Richard James on his 3000-mile trip (circa 1930) landed here and was the subject of much discussion in that early day of aviation.

A small blue Travelair biplane bearing the name "Spirit of American Youth" gracefully circled to earth at Sullivant Avenue Airport.

Richard D. James, a 17-year-old schoolboy of Flushing, N. Y., was the solitary youthful pilot, enroute to New York from the Pacific coast, and was completing the last lap of a transcontinental flight sponsored by the American Society for the Promotion of Aviation.

Flying officials predicted that James would succeed where others had failed in this competition for a prize of $1,000, to have been awarded the first boy or girl younger than 18 years, for spanning the continent.

The youthful flyer's parents joined him here, traveling in the "Aloha," monoplane piloted by Martin Jensen, who took second place in the Dole flight from Los Angeles to Honolulu.

At daybreak Mr. and Mrs. Forest James, the lad's parents departed in the "Aloha" to accompany him on the dangerous flight over the Allegheny Mountains.

Shortly after leaving Columbus our youthful flier lost his way due to dense fogs and was compelled to return here twice before getting started on his last lap. Upon leaving Columbus young James stated that the trip from here to New York should not be difficult.

Trying To Aid Alcoholic Requires Great Patience

(This is the fourth of a series of six articles published by The Hilltop Record to inform the public of the seriousness of this problem, and to solicit aid and understanding for the victims of alcoholism. This series is written by an alcoholic, who from his experience, contacts with hospitals, psychiatrists and other alcoholics, has been able to draw a well-rounded picture of a national problem.)

(By An Alcoholic)

What is one to do when trying to help the alcoholic? What is the objective of the helping person and what are the difficulties to be anticipated in making any recovery effort? Any effective, enlightened approach to a person suffering from a serious drinking problem requires consideration of these questions.

Unless the alcoholic is willing to cooperate and is able to, neither you, the physician, the psychiatrist, the community welfare agency, nor a tolerant court can do anything for or with the victim. In most illnesses, the patient displays a will to recover and is cooperative, but the alcoholic traditionally offers stubborn resistance to all help extended him. This may be reasonably explained in part as being due to the victim's ignorance of his condition and his resultant refusal to accept the competent diagnosis of others.

For the most part, the wife or the family of an alcoholic can do little toward convincing a man that he is an alcoholic, or that he is becoming one. This is due to the close emotional relationship existing and it accounts for the failure of most of the pleadings, threats and promises that come in vain from those close within the family circle. Very often, someone outside the family will prove more effective in convincing the problem drinker of his serious condition and his need for help. If any one can counsel the drinker to recognize his plight, he may be responsive to helpful measures. The family doctor, a psychiatrist, the church pastor, or a member of Alcoholics Anonymous may prove influential in arousing the drinker's concern over his drinking problem.

The alcoholic's usual defiant attitude is very apt to exhaust the patience of those wanting to help him. Out of sheer desperation they may turn loose a stream of criticism hoping to stir the alcoholic into constructive thinking about his condtion. However, such an attack is of little, if any avail. It merely produces resentment and usually prods the alcoholic on to the point where he gets drunk or drunker because of the hostile invasion on what he unfortunately considers his private life. The alcoholic's private drinking career as well as his life sooner or later is most likely to become one of public concern.

The first step in the proposed recovery effort is to calmly and intelligently assist the alcoholic to realize that he has a very definite drinking problem, in spite of his own personal opinion on the contrary. The second step involves guiding him to a realization that his own efforts to solve the problem will not succeed. The third and most significant phase comes when the drinker is convinced that his role as a useful human being is fast nearing a painful end through his uncontrolled drinking. With the arrival of this realization, he is most apt to recognize his powerlessness over alcohol and be ready to desire and accept assistance from those willing and able to help him.

Anyone trying to help an alcoholic should cultivate a spirit of tolerance, yet adopt a rather casual attitude in all contacts with him. It is certainly best not to anticipate any immediate recovery, but rather to be prepared for some resistance and possible "slips." No one can undo over night that which has taken years to develop. Family, friends and employer should be enlisted in any recovery program, and they should be acquainted with the underlying factors of alcoholism, for their intelligent cooperation is essential.

Past experience with recovered alcoholics has revealed the wisdom of trying to influence the drinker to view his problem as being very serious, or that it threaten to become so. Once he is faced with these possibilities, he must decide that either he has a problem, or will have one, and must do something about it, or he has none and can therefore continue his drinking. The former decision would open the door to recovery efforts, while the latter would close it, at least until he has suffered longer and becomes self-convinced of his helplessness.

The alcoholic can enjoy recovery as long as he never takes another drink. However, it would seem unwise for anyone to dictate complete abstinence to the victim at the very outset of a recovery approach, particularly if he is just emerging from a prolonged drinking bout. This might prove as disastrous as the waving of a red flag before a bull's eyes. Any attempt to convince him that he must not drink again because of his drinking calamities of the past will ordinarily be ignored. He must realize from his own personal experiences that his drinking record is sufficient evidence to prove that he cannot handle alcohol in any form or quantity. One should try to convince the alcoholic that he is headed for greater disaster unless something is done to stop the drinking. Suggestion may be made that he consult a physician or psychiatrist interested in the medical problem of alcoholism. Then again, contact with some recovered alcoholic may well have more influence with the victim than any other source because of mutual understanding existent among alcoholics.

It is well to remember that the alcoholic is a die-hard. He will undoubtedly feel that he can solve his own problem and may come up with any number of ingenious ideas for controlling his drinking. Pledges, physical exercises, hobbies, change of scenery or job, and new associations may be his answer. In some instances, rare as they are, successful results have been realized by self-designed efforts. However, for the majority of alcoholics, outside help is the only answer. When the alcoholic fails to maintain recovery by his own plans, he may suddenly realize that he cannot cope with the problem by himself and be ready to accept help from others without any further reservations as to his own abilities along this line. Still, it is well to bear in mind that the feeling of helplessness which today prompts him to surrender completely, may not be so helpless tomorrow. He may not feel so dependent on outside help. Nevertheless, progress can be charted, for his defense has obviously weakened and much of the influence directed to him has found its mark. At least, concern has been generated within him and this is something.

Pampering the alcoholic has no place in any recovery program. The helping person can be tolerant and understanding without going overboard with over-indulgence. The alcoholic is usually the product of over-indulgence and the sooner he realizes that he must give in order to get, the quicker will he acquire a sense of needed selfreliance. He should be persuaded logically that there is help available, if he will accept it, and cooperate with those wanting to help.

The alcoholic must be assured that recovery can be attained and that it is worthwhile. The history of other alcoholics who have recovered is the conclusive proof that it can be done and is worth doing. The following article presents the various kinds of alcoholic treatment.

Seventh Annual Bean Dinner Crowd Estimated At 35,000

Despite rain and the constant threat of more precipitation, last week saw the staging of a successful bean dinner at Westgate Park by the Hilltop Business Association. Conservative estimates of the crowds which thronged the Hilltop park placed the figure near the 35,000 mark for the duration of the two day affair.

With the attendance in excess of the past bean dinner events, Hilltop Business Association officers expressed their approval of a continuation of the plan to hold the annual community festival for a two-day period in the future.

Inclement weather postponed the wrestling feature of the bean dinner this year until Thursday evening when it brought together Ruffy Silverstein and Jim Lewis in the first match of the evening, a 20-minute one fall affair which was captured by Silverstein. A second match saw Flash Clifford and Dennis Clary in a match of the same duration, with Clary taking the honors. Clary and Silverstein then combined forces in a tag team match for the main event of the evening and took honors for that event.

George McCoy, 238 N. Burgess-av, carried off the wrist watch and cash prizes offered by Hilltop Jeweler Lou Klass and Gargeman Bop Strope for the greased pole climb. After numerous tries by many other contestants, McCoy finally scaled the 25 foot pole to take top honors for the event and the prizes offered.

Of the many other events and contests held as features of the annual bean dinner no record was kept of winners except in the case of the watermelon eating contest which was won by Alan Coon, 348 N. Warren-av.

One of the highlighted features of the seventh annual bean dinner was the appearance of the WLW-C Mobile Television Unit on the grounds of Westgate Park during the festivities. This unit which was secured through the efforts of co-chairman Don Rice of Westgate Electric drew many interested spectators and directed their attention to the many video sets on the grounds at local appliance dealers booths.

Interesting, too, was the booth operated by C&S Dime Stores and the Economy Variety store in which free dart tosses were given to adults of the visiting throng

Kiwanis Club Hears Toledo 'Gang-Buster'

Richard Phatt, an associate of the Toledo Blade and instructor of journalism at the University of Toledo, is scheduled as the principal speaker at today's noonday luncheon meeting of the Hilltop Kiwanis Club. Tom Boyer is to be chairman and preside over the meeting.

Phatt's address to local Kiwanians will be on "Gambling and Racketeering," a subject in which he is well informed due to his activities of a few years ago in cleaning up Toledo of these undesirable elements. He was one of the principal figures who planned and executed the annihilation of racketeers in the northern city.

Chairman Boyer urges that all Kiwanians attend today's meeting to hear the "Racket-Busting" Toledoan.

New Street Lights Installed

Draft Board Revival Stirs Memories For Hilltop Woman Board Member

Mrs. C. W. Wagner, clerk, Draft Board 42.

A scant five years ago "GI Joe", after leaving the various separation centers about the country and returning home, paid his draft board a visit to notify them that he had been separated from the service and received from them a new registration card bearing the classification of 1C. Upon receiving that small white card and tucking it away into his billfold, he invariably gave a sigh of relief and muttered to himself, "Well that's the end of it now. No more draft boards. No more greetings. I'm free at last."

Even as does the road, the book or the song have an ending, so did the dream of the exGI, who thought and hoped that there would never again be a need for a draft board. The end has come and the draft boards have returned.

And the return of the draft board has brought back many memories, of heartache and sadness to one Hilltop woman who has been, and still is, closer to the machinations of that group than any other person in this community. Mrs. C. W. Wagner, 867 Wiltshire-rd, is that woman, the clerk of Draft Board 42, with offices located on the second floor of 209 S. High-st.

"It's a serious business," said Mrs. Wagner, as tears rimmed her eyes, "this calling up of our young men for service in the armed forces. Here in Board 42 we handle the draft assignments which take from us our friends and neighbors. It is not a pleasant task, and don't think for an instant that it doesn't hurt deep down in your heart whenever a casualty list is published and you see names there that you recognize as belonging to your neighborhood. It's almost like losing someone from your own family."

"Despite its unpleasantries, though," she continued, "it is a job that must be done if we are to safeguard our democratic way of life from destruction. This

Opposition Voiced Against Rezoning

Hilltop residents, with community and civic organizations were today marshalling their combined forces to prevent a rezoning of a tract of land on the north side of Sullivant-av just opposite the Sullivant-av Airport from its present zoning for light industrial property to that of heavy industrial property. The combining of forces to prevent this rezoning came about following reports last week that an independent fertilizer company is interested in erecting a plant in that area.

Although the name of the fertilizer firm nor the status of its building plans have not as yet been disclosed, the response of the Hilltop community in being opposed to the establishment of such an industry in this locality, was immediate.

Ernest Stock, a member of the Regional Planning Commission, said that his office had received information that an application may be filed to change the zoning requirements on the tract of land. Earlier this week, Stock said, he had been contacted by a realtor asking the status of present zoning requirements in that area. He said, that although the realtor had mentioned in the conversation that a fertilizer plant was involved in the transaction he (the realtor) would not divulge the name of his client.

Stock said, in a statement to the Record this week, that he had advised the realtor that zoning changes are made by the County Zoning Commission, following a public hearing on the question. Fertilizer plants, he said, are considered heavy industrial property because of the dirt, smoke and odor.

Grover Clements at the Franklin County Zoning Commission, said that he had heard reports of the proposed filing for rezoning of the Sullivant-av area but that as of this date no action had been taken through his commission to obtain such a change of status. Clements said that a railroad representative had inquired at his office as to the procedure for filing an application to change the Sullivant-av zoning from light industrial to heavy industrial.

This tract is believed to be the same property sought by the fertilizer company.

The railroad representative (New York Central) when contacted by the Record early Monday, said that he had asked the information purely as a routine measure at the request of a company he did not name. He said, the railroad is frequently asked to check up on zoning regulations by various interested parties and that he was but following a set procedure in making the query. He requested that his name not be used and reiterated that neither himself nor his firm had any interest in the matter.

After the initial published reports of the proposal were made Hilltop businessmen and organizations lost no time in preparing to battle the issue and demand that the present zoning in that area be kept intact.

Ed Witherspoon, president of the Hilltop Business Association, said, "A plant of this type is a definite detriment to any community. Everything possible should be done to keep it out. The dirt, odor and smoke that go with a fertilizer plant would have a far-reaching effect on Hilltop and Westgate property values. We do not feel that a residential community should be selected for the site of such a plant."

Said Russell Carter, 2516 W. Broad-st, president of The Hilltop Community Council, "The Hilltop Community Council will fight this project with every facility at its disposal. This type of industry has no place in our community, as it is detrimental to the health, welfare and valuation of our people and property."

George W. Schaaf, president of the Hilltop Lions Club said, "The Hilltop Lions Club is definitely opposed to the lowering of our present business standards and property valuations which would surely be created by the introduction of this type business into the community."

Fertilizer--Not Wanted

(An Editorial)

It has always been the policy of The Hilltop Record to encourage the growth of the Hilltop and the establishment of new business in this community. For a period of 34 years the Record has rendered service to the community by advocating at various times the creation of new enterprises by the individual merchants, fully well realizing that the very heart and core of community betterment and growth is centered in these individual enterprises.

There comes a time however when, despite the desires for an expansion of business activity on the Hilltop, the Record must take an adverse stand and discourage the establishment of a business in this locality. That time has now arrived.

In the past week reports have been circulated in reliable circles of the proposed establishment of an independent fertilizer company plant on the north side of Sullivant-av, just west of the Columbus corporation line. The identity of the firm has not been revealed, but from these same reliable sources, it is known that this firm which is hiding its identity is planning to seek a change in the zoning requirements in that area from light industrial to heavy industrial. Feelers have been made to zoning authorities inquiring as to procedures to be followed in order to accomplish this move.

A fertilizer plant in this community is certainly not desired. It is not in keeping with the type of community Hilltoppers have built, nurtured and perpetuated. Fertilizer plans under the zoning ordinances are considered as heavy industrial business because of the smoke, dirt and odor. This community has been kept free of those three elements as much as is possible and now is not the time to permit them to gain entrance into this community.

Soon we will have here on the Hilltop the Mum Festival which is sponsored by the Kiwanis Club. Can you imagine the intermingling of the fragrance of mums and the stench from a fertilizer plant?

Plans are currently under way, also, to beautify and improve Westgate Park. With such an odorous plant in the close proximity can you imagine how well that park would be attended by picnickers and other civic functions?

With smoke, dirt and the odor that would emanate from such a plant what will happen to the property values in that immediate area? Can you as a Hilltopper conceive building a home within any area so close to such a plant?

This plant must not come to the Hilltop. It can easily be established further in the countryside or in a locality in the city of Columbus where such types of business already exist.

The Record takes a determined stand of opposition to such a business in the community and urges that business men of the Hilltop, the various community and civic organizations, home owners and residents take such steps as are necessary to prevent rezoning of that area affected and insure the blockading of this enterprise from our community.

A red-letter date in the Tri-Gate Masonic calendar, a goodly number of Masonic brethren are expected to attend the exercises planned by the three bodies in honor of the Masonic luminary, Most Worshipful Master Pringle.

Refreshments and fellowship will be much in evidence, and all Blue Lodge Masons in good standing are expected to attend the Tri-Gate reunion.

Local Man Believed Killed In Accident

A man, tentatively identified as Warren W. Hutcheson, 42, of 64 N. Westmoor-av, died Monday in Wayne General Hospital, Detroit, shortly after his auto careened off Industrial Expressway near Detroit.

The Wayne County Coroner's office said he died apparently of internal and head injuries, but withheld an official verdict pending further investigation today. Michigan police said a brother in New York was en route there to make a positive identification.

Local K of C Sends Thirty Boys To Camp

Thirty boys from the city of Columbus are spending a week at Camp St. Joseph this summer as guests of the Knights of Columbus, Council 2898, of 2596 ½ W. Broad-st.

With the cooperation of Monsignor George Mason, Diocesan camp director, and Rev. Walter J. Rees, council chaplain, the youth committee of the council has selected deserving boys from all over the city to attend the camp. Camp fees, transportation and sundry expenses are arranged for by the council.

This activity is a continuation of the council's previous policy of giving opportunity to boys to attend camp, who would otherwise not have the chance.

Plan Freezer Party At Wolfe Electric

A freezer party will be held at Wolfe's Electric Service, 2427 W. Broad-st, Wednesday, Aug. 2, beginning at 2 p. m. in which Jean Voorhis, home economist, will package fruits, vegetables, meats and tasty desserts for storage in the Crosley home freezer.

Door prizes will be awarded and refreshments will be served, according to Eugene Wolfe, proprietor, who said that the entire Hilltop is invited.

Little Susan Wade Is Winning Home Front Battle For Her Recovery

Little Susan Wade and Mrs. Mildred Sensenbrenner

While the battles for land and prestige go on in the far reaches of the Pacific and men wage war against one another with guns, tanks and planes there are battles also being waged here at home, right here on the Hilltop—battles for health, battles to conquer the ravages of illness.

Typical of these home front battles is the one being waged by a nine-year-old girl on N. Ogden-av, and her resistance and fight against the onslaughts to her health as a result of brain operations. It is a battle that has been just as heroic as the stand of the front line soldier.

Little Susan Wade, stricken last November with a brain tumor and subjected to three brain operations in an effort to save her life, came home from the hospital completely helpless, unable to move arms or legs, unable to talk because of the operations which had sapped her strength and vitality. Mother, daddy, a brother and a sister, all of them aligned their spirit, hearts and hands in the fight with her to regain health as she had known it before.

And Susan has proved herself a good little soldier in fighting this long battle over the months to regain health. Today she's winning . . . the color is beginning to return to her cheeks, she

Local Man Narrowly Escapes Tie Race With Pennsy Train

Robert Coleman, 25, 2376 Valleyview-dr, has reached the conclusion that trains can't be beat to the crossing and especially at the Harper-rd crossing of the Pennsylvania Railroad near his home. Coleman decided that fact Monday night after he had narrowly avoided a tie race with a train at that location.

According to Franklin County Sheriff's deputies, Coleman was driving south in Harper-rd and thought he could beat an approaching train to the crossing, although 15 other autos had stopped, awaiting the fast moving train.

Coleman, deputies said, raced past the 15 waiting autos only to discover when he was almost at the tracks that he couldn't win.

He spun his auto around at a 90-degree angle and jolted down the right of way alongside the tracks, with the fast train narrowly missing him. The bumpy ride along the right of way, according to the deputies, knocked Coleman and his wife, Betty, 25, against the car's windshield.

Both were treated at a local hospital, Coleman for head lacerations and his wife for lacerations of the face.

Death Writes Finis To Career Of Officer Glenn C. Hoffman

Captain Glenn C. Hoffman, 54, a policeman for 30 years and life long resident of the West Side, died at Grant Hospital Saturday, four days after he suffered a heart attack at his home, 1940 W. Mound-st. At the time of his death, Hoffman was head of the Police Social and Juvenile Bureau.

He was ousted from the job of detective chief in a personnel shuffle July 1. He marked off ill that day. He had been detective chief since Feb. 24, 1945.

Capt. Hoffman returned from World War I, an athletic young man of 24, and assumed his old job as railroad brakeman.

But he was restless. A friend suggested he join the Police Department. He thought it a good idea.

He loved horses and motorcycles and the Police Department had both. After he took the policeman's oath, May 8, 1920, he worked as a mounted policeman and motorcycleman.

At the time, he didn't intend to remain a policeman. He was "just at a loose end and thought I might like police work."

His thought was correct and he came to love police work. A month before he marked off ill July 1, Capt. Hoffman told a reporter "detective work is my life blood."

He entered the Detective Bureau in 1925. Except for the term of Mayor Floyd Green, 1940-43, Capt. Hoffman remained a plain clothes officef.

As a member of the Detective Bureau, Capt. Hoffman became one of the Midwest's most widely known police officers. He personally knew detective heads and police chiefs in and around Ohio.

Captain Hoffman, who would have been 55 years old Tuesday,

14-Month Old Child Is Struck By Auto

Carolyn Ann Jackson, 14-month-old daughter of Mrs. Mary Jackson, 530 Mix-av, escaped with minor bruises when she was run over by an auto in the driveway at her home Sunday evening.

The auto was driven by her uncle, Orville Lee Jackson who told sheriff's deputies he did not see the child playing in the driveway. The youngster was treated at Mt. Carmel Hospital.

HBA Sponsors Bloodmobile Visit Aug. 11

Under the auspices of the Hilltop Business Association, the Red Cross Bloodmobile will be on the Hilltop at the Hillcrest Baptist Church from 10 a. m. to 4 p. m. the date of Aug. 11, according to Ed Witherspoon, president of the HBA. The business group is enlisting the aid of other Hilltop civic organizations to provide at least 140 donors for that day.

As a prelude to the arrival of the bloodmobile on the Hilltop and the assurance of their goal of 140 donors on Aug. 11, a meeting of representatives from the Lions Club, Community Council, Camp Chase Post 98, Hilltop Business Association and other organizations both service and church affiliated is scheduled for July 27 at the new Hilltop Business Association offices at 3183 W. Broad-st.

The Red Cross reports that in Franklin County the hospitals are using 500 pints of blood a week. Of this the center is drawing between 250 and 300 pints. Since Columbus has been selected as a distribution center, orders have been received to start stockpiling plasma so that within the next two months it will be ready for any emergency. Not only must 500 pints of blood be on hand, but 1,000 units of plasma as well.

Anyone between the ages of 18 and 60 may donate blood. Those from 18 to 21 years of age, however, must have the consent of the parents. Bloodmobile is prepared to take six donors every 15 minutes. The whole procedure will take only 30 to 45 minutes of a donor's time.

Participating members are protected through a donor card which Red Cross presents. This card entitles donor or any member of his immediate family to receive free Red Cross blood when and if it is needed. The card also shows your blood type and Rh factor which is valuable information to have in case of accident.

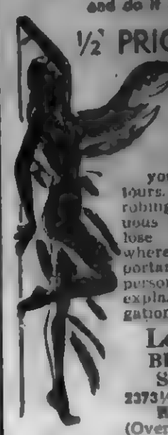
Guest From England Enjoying Columbus

Mrs. Winifred Godfrey, Bristol, England, has been visiting her sister, Mrs. E. Bailey, 260 Belvidere-av. This is Mrs. Godfrey's first visit to the United States. She arrived Mar. 29 and by Aug. 2 expects to be on her way home.

Mrs. Godfrey says American people are wonderful and that she has enjoyed her visit. She was a guest of the International Club on a T-V Pantry Party and won a prize by correctly giving the title of a song.

Because of the threat of war, Mrs. Godfrey is anxious to be home with her husband and two married daughters. Her husband is employed by the Brabacon Co., manufacturer of airplanes.



Her friends wish Mrs. Godfrey a safe journey home and hope that she may be able to return to America soon.

Fertilizer Plant

Schaaf then continued and speaking as an individual representing the Hilltop-Westgate Realty firm of which he is the head said, "The permitting of such a business as that in this community would definitely ruin all property values on the Hilltop. As a real estate man I would have nothing to do with such shenanigans and strongly urge that this business be kept out of this community."

Henry A. Koontz, 485 Hilltonia-av, president of Columbus City Council, when queried concerning the establishment of a fertilizer plant on the Hilltop, said, "Although it doesn't come under city jurisdiction, I want to personally help in any way possible to prevent this plant being located in that vicinity. I feel it would be a decided detriment to the entire Hilltop.

John W. Eshelman, representing Eshelman Grain, Inc., in a statement to the Record Wednesday, said, "Our firm owns 18 acres of land in that area and we do not know of any lands available for such a plant. We are planning erection of a grain and feed elevator there in the future, but our plans call for nothing in the nature of a fertilizer plant."

Chubby Distelhorst, chairman of the Bean Tent at the annual bean dinner, ladies out the beans and ham to Columbus Mayor James Rhodes, who took time off from a busy schedule at City Hall to bring his daughters, Saundra, age 5, and Susanne, age 7, to the Hilltop Bean Dinner.

Draft Board

mobilization of our manpower must be done and I feel that in my serving as clerk to this board I'm doing my little bit toward maintaining that way of life so many of our soldiers have died for and striven to maintain."

Mrs. Wagner is no novice at this service with the draft board. In 1941 through 1947 she served in the capacity of clerk for Board 13, and then again was recalled to duty in August of 1948 to serve with Boards 41 and 42 until November, 1949. On July 17 of this year she was again called back as clerk of the current Board 42 which embraces the whole of the West Side and Hilltop.

Four members comprise the present draft board for this area. They are Larry G. Scales, 603 S. Eureka-av, chairman; E. D. Graham, 372 Crestview-rd, secretary; Arthur DeVinnish, Briggsdale, vice chairman; and Mrs. Wagner as clerk.

Mrs. Wagner said that the quota established for the present draft call for Board 42 is 47 men. These will be called by Aug. 10 for physical examinations and screening and will be drawn from the 19 through 25 age brackets with age being the determining factor and the older men being called first. Classification 1-A, which consists principally of single holdovers from the last war, are the group from which the initial 47 will be drawn.

At the present time, said Mrs. Wagner, there are six principal classifications. These are 1-A, available for service; 1-D, registered and certified of reserve status; 2-A, industrial deferments; 3-A, dependency; 4-A, veterans and 5-A, men over 26 years of age. Of these various classifications it is pointed out that men listed in the category of 4-A are exempt from further duty and that the board can open this classification for call only by an act of congress.

Of particular interest was the interpretation of those numbers which are being placed on the present calls for physical assignment. Mrs. Wagner explains them in this manner: Take for example a number like 334225304. The first two digits represent the state as in this case the number is 33, which indicates the state of Ohio. The next two numbers are 42 which designate the draft board number. The next two are 25 which indicate the age of the man called and the balance indicate his order in relation to his age in his particular classification.

Under the 1948 Selective Service Act, Mrs. Wagner points out another fact in that there is no provision within this act for a man to volunteer for induction ahead of his regular order number. If a man requests such action of the board he is referred to the recruiting service. She also emphasized the fact that no one is ever called by the board out of his proper order. Age in the classification in which a registrant is placed is the sole determining factor.

"That's the story," said Mrs. Wagner. "I hope sincerely that this will be over soon and that we do not have to call too many of our young men to fight again. I repeat to you, it's a serious business."

And this slight woman, who is a past president of Camp Chase 98 Auxiliary, when asked what hobbies she enjoyed, merely said, "My work with my church, Glenwood Methodist, my work with the auxiliary and my home. Those are my hobbies. I have no time left for others."

Of the many attractions which drew much interest at the Hilltop Bean Dinner held last Wednesday and Thursday the WLW-C Mobile Television unit was the one which commanded the attention of most visitors to the annual event. The man principally responsible for the introduction of this innovation to the bean dinner was Don Rice (pictured above) of Westgate Electric Co., 2855 W. Broad-st, who served as co-chairman of the 1950 Hilltop Bean Dinner Committee.

and prizes awarded for those skilled enough in bursting the balloons. Said Jack Alkire, "Of the men who tossed those darts you could tell at once those who were former veterans of the war stationed in England. They know how to direct those darts. Women were good at it too, they just closed their eyes and threw."

Said one HBA official in summing up the results of the 1950 edition of the bean dinner, "The weather didn't help us any, but I believe this year's bean dinner was still one of the most successful we have ever staged. There were, of course, flaws in our plans for a two-day affair but now that we know what they are, we'll be able to plan a better one for next year. Merchandise prizes offered by the association totaled 125 with a valuation of $1,000."

Prize awards by individual merchants of the Hilltop also drew their share of the spotlight Thursday evening as the seventh annual bean dinner drew to a close. Wolfe Electric Service 4247 W. Broad-st, awarded a 1950 Crosley Shelvador Refrigerator to Mrs. Eloise Leppert, 215 Olentangy-st, and a table model radio to Mrs. C. L. Toy of Hilliards.

Seiller's Department Store, 2404 W. Broad-st, awarded a new Hoover Sweeper complete with all attachments to Mrs. M. C. Lane, 117 Eldon-av.

Little Susan Wade

has regained the faculty of speech to an extent, the once drawn and wan face is beginning to round out and resume its natural contour and the little shut-in is happy in the knowledge that so many of the good Hilltop folk have aided her in the fight.

Susan, in her own little private war, has had re-enforcements to aid her in the long struggle back to health and chief action along this line has been made by the Kiwanikwe Club, auxiliary to the local Kiwanis.

The Kiwanikwe members when first made aware of the little girl's plight adopted her as one of their projects in aiding others and rendering a service to the community. First step was to provide the little shut-in with a record player for her enjoyment. The next step was "Operation Wheel Chair," and this too has been recently accomplished. Little Susan now has that child-size wheel chair given her by the good ladies of the Kiwanikwe for as long a period as she has need or use for it.

With her new wheel chair, purchased by the Kiwanikwe, Susan is much more comfortable and, according to her mother, Mrs. Curtis Wade, she now sits up at longer intervals than ever before. The added comfort of the small wheel chair in the opinion of Mrs. Wade has aided greatly in enabling Susan to show the progress she now is evidencing.

Although Susan has not the strength to move her limbs, it is apparent that this "little soldier" who lives at 185 N. Ogden-av, is winning a battle that would sorely test the mettle of the majority of grown persons. Her patience and will to win back good health have been encouraging to her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Curtis Wade. Her eventual winning of this "big battle" of her life will also bring to the hearts of the many Kiwanikwe members the satisfaction of having aided in that victory.

Attendance at South Side Day Nursery, a Red Feather agency averaged 34 children a day during the past year. Children are from homes where necessity demands the mother have outside employment.

Veteran Officer

was born and raised on the West Side. His parents, Nicholas and Johanna Hoffman, were German and settled in old Franklinton.

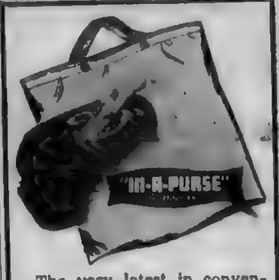
He is survived by his wife, Adena; two brothers and two sisters. One brother, Eitel Hoffman, is a lieutenant in the Detective Bureau. His other brother, Fred, and two sisters, Mrs. Charles Taylor and Mrs. Amada Dumm, all live in Columbus.

Young Hoffman went to Franklinton and West High Schools where he earned for himself a name as an athlete. Later, he played professional and semi-professional baseball and basketball.

But most of his associates today know Capt. Hoffman for his love of music. He and former Detective Chief Leo Phillips formed the "Singing Coppers," and performed for years.

His singing also brought him a place in the Chanters of Aladdin Temple Shrine. He was commander of the group for several years.

Capt. Hoffman earned his greatest reputation as a specialist in robbery work. But he also served on burglary and homicide squads.



He was appointed assistant detective chief in 1925. His promotions were sergeant, April 16, 1935; lieutenant, Sept. 2, 1938, and captain May 3, 1943.

Since World War II, detectives under Capt. Hoffman have kept the Franklin County Grand Jury busy. The past two years, they sent more criminal suspects to the grand jury than ever before.

His top case happened on the West Side, a territory he knew well. It was the "Hilltop Bank Case," in which one detective was killed and another wounded when the robbery gang was captured.

Funeral services were held at 1:30 p. m. Tuesday in the Masonic Temple, 34 N. Fourth-st, and burial was made in Sunset Cemetery under the direction of the Jerry Spears Funeral Home.

Fire Fighters Sponsor Boat Races Sunday

The Franklin County Firefighter's Association and the Scioto Boat Club are sponsoring boat races to be held July 30, at Griggs Dam.

This event featuring over thirty of the nation's top professional drivers is sanctioned by the American Power Boat Association.

A full schedule features one of the nation's top water skiers, Earl Quidort of Fort Lauderdale, Fla., formerly of Columbus, who will start his added attraction at 1 p. m. This will feature his almost unheard of feat of skiing on his bare feet.

The races (nine events) will start promptly at 2 p. m. featuring racing boats which attain a speed of 100 miles per hour when given full throttle and which often leave the water completely except for the propeller. This event will be held rain or shine.

This fund raising campaign of the firefighters, one of the annual events which in previous years has provided extra equipment including two day radios for all departments, is their endeavor this year to bolster their treasury.

JOE BRIGGS Says:

Every question has two sides so long as it doesn't concern us personally.

Just ask yourself this one question: "Will the insurance on my property cover today's increased values and replacement costs?" Even though your insurance may have seemed to be adequate a few years ago, you'll do well to review it again in the light of today's changed values. Delay may prove costly. Through our complete insurance service you can arrange for full, up-to-date protection.

Playground Activities

Holton Park

Characters in the Holton Park play, "Mother Goose", in the festival of light held at Sunshine Park were Mother Goose, Judy Brokaw; Jack - Jean Pospichal, Jill, Sharon Washburn; Little Bo-Peep, Joyce Henry; Red Riding Hood, Vera Dixon; Little Jack Horner, Barbara Harlor; dancers, Barbara Dolder, Mardell Dixon, and pianist, Ronnie Dixon.

Burroughs Playground

Tournament play has begun quite successfully. The Midget softball team won its first round at Dana last week with a score of 5-2, in a 10 hit, 6 inning game. Paul Williams did the pitching for Burroughs and gave up only five hits. Larry Steece got a homer in the third.

The junior softball team took its first round from W. Broad 12-9 in a hotly contested, but not too tightly played game.

Walks were common, but Walt Meredith gave up only three hits and with errorless support the last three innings, held W. Broad scoreless the last two innings while being given 6 runs by his teammates.

The Midgets go to W. Broad and the Juniors play their quarter final with Dana this week.

Rana't Midget checker player was defeated July 24 by Eunice Werling, and Wilbert Werling and Dave Bropy won the senior and junior first round checkers from W. Broad.

First round junior horseshoes was won by Dave Seagraves, two straight 21-15 and 21-8, over the W. Broad pitcher.

While the tournament plays are exciting, the every-day play stories and handcraft by Mrs. Mecartney are attracting larger groups each week. They had lovely modeled plaster paris dogs the last few days and the garden exhibit is this week's feature.

Rome's Remarkable Reporter

By Mrs. James W. Whalen

Mrs. Belle Boucher

"Any news today" asks Mrs. Belle Boucher, 37 Pasadena-av, as she sits in her favorite chair and ferrets out the news via telephone. Her observing eyes and quick wit cover her "news beat" which embraces New Rome, Grove City and vicinity.

Mrs. Boucher has been the "Rome Reporter" for the Grove City Record and the Columbus Citizen for over 20 years. Other newspapers she has served are The Hilltop Record, West Jefferson Star and Madison Press. This remarkable reporter, 82 years young, was born on Nov. 27, 1867, in Franklin Township near Salem Church.

Mrs. Boucher has lived through many changes in American life . . . changes in economics, transportation, communication, politics and social customs. The change in the status of women has been of great interest to her, especially with her background of hard work in the days when women did not have the modern labor saving devices available today. She attributes her source of youth to her active life spent on a farm in Pleasant Township, where she went as a bride of George Boucher, March 31, 1885.

Mr. and Mrs. Boucher were the parents of two daughters. Mr. Boucher passed away in January, 1947. Mrs. Boucher has five grandchildren, and nine great-grandchildren, the eldest of whom, Gerald Smith, is 19 years old.

A long and busy life has not left Mrs. Boucher much time to develop hobbies but she has always had a great interest in people and their activities. She has always liked poetry, an interest she has shared with her brother, Alon Newton Bodle, 88, who is known as "The Bard of Darby." Mr. Bodle is still contributing poems to the Columbus Citizen and the Grove City Record. One of her brother's poems and a favorite of Mrs. Boucher is "Evening on Darby":

Lone I stand beneath the willows
When the weary day is done
And the clouds in golden billows
Roll above the sinking sun.

Wind waved branches rustling o'er me
Deepening shades of night unfold
And the river spreads before me
Trembling sheets of misty gold.

Breezes fold their fragrant pinions
Drifting through the waning day
From the woodland's dim dominions
Where the drowsy roses sway.

Now the sunset's fires grow dimmer
Softening over hills and fells
And the fireflies flash and glimmer
Darting through the Hazel dells.

Mystic luster fragrant shadows
Sacred silence hovering o'er
Leafy vales and flowery meadows—
Eventime on Darby's shore.

As an illustration of Mrs. Boucher's progressiveness and interest in the present and future, she was recently an honored guest on a WTVN television program, "Pantry Party." She was presented with a corsage for being the eldest lady present. Mrs. Boucher kept the other ladies on their toes by admonishing them to be sure and watch their television angles and get their best profiles towards the camera—SHE did and looked grand!

Druggists To Picnic Next Wednesday

C. H. Campbell, 2766 W. Broad-st, secretary of the Central Ohio Academy of Pharmacy, today announced that next Wednesday, Aug. 2, has been set as the annual picnic date for all druggists of Columbus at the York Country Club. The affair which is sponsored by the academy will be held during the afternoon and evening.

Campbell said that all drug stores in the city both individual and chain, will be closed Wednesday afternoon in order that druggists and their families may attend the annual affair.
